played excellent accompaniments for Miss Lemer.

Mr. Kelker, the director of the club, deserves the highest praise for the fine proficiency of the club. He had his men well in hand in every number, and secured clean attacks and artistic phrasing throughout the program, which evidenced careful rehearsal. The entire concert was in time with the Christmas spirit, of helping and giving, and was a distinct musical success.

refreshments after an unusual entertainment.

The speakers of the evening were the teacher of the class, E. N. Lebo, the incoming president, Mr. Burnam, and Glenn Fickes. Mr. Lebo chose for his subject "The Means of Upbuilding the Class Membership," which was most heartily approved. The incoming president's subject was that of gratification. Glenn Fickes spoke on the interest of each member in the workings of the class and what cooperation of interest means toward the rising of the class as a body.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Neuton Burnam; vice-president, George Pensinger; secretary, Raymond Sheesley; assistant secretaries, A. L. Michener and Joseph Scott; treasurer, George Whitmer; chorister, Leroy Hartman; planist, Margaret Coover; assistant planist, Esther Stouffer: reporter, J. D. Wells, Jr.; librarians, Guy Sprout, M.
