MIDDY FROCK FOR THE SCHOOL GIRL

What Happened to Jane

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

CHAPTER XX.
(Copyright, 1915, Star Company.)

In after years Jane tried to forget the scene that followed her entrance into the sitting-room that beautiful September day on which she had received her first love letter. She told herself that her father had been beside himself or he never would have spoken to her as cruelly as he did then.

The thought lent bitterness to his upbraiding of the offender. She was ungrateful, unfeeling, she was ruining her life by "leading on" a man who could not support her.

When he reached this point Jane managed to stem the torrent of her father's words long enough to exclaim—

"He will support me! He could marry me at once—but he will not do so until he is making a little more than he is now. Even so he is probably as well off as you were when you married mother!"

She had not meant this as a sneer, but her temper was quick. She caught her breath as she noted the effect of her words. Her father's pale blue eyes snapped, his retreating chin quivered as a child's does in anger or grief.

Her father in a Rage Over Ned Sanderson

"That's it!" he burst forth. "Taunt me with the fact that I never was able to lay aside a cent. When you were little you couldn't see that but for your making butter and selling it, tending the chickens and selling them and the eggs, pinching and screwing here and there, we'd never have made both ends meet. Now, you must see that we can't even do that any more, and you ought to know that the house is mortgaged up to the chimneys; that we owe for this, that and the other thing—that if we don't get money we'll have to go the Lord knows where and sell the very roof over our heads. If you've got any sense you must know that. Yet you go right on and bring all this down on us by taking up with that man when you might save your father as well as yourself from ruin!"

He paused, panting. Mrs. Hardy had crept silently into the room at the beginning of this tirade, and now tried to quiet her husband, although her own face was pale and her voice trembled.

"Pa! Pa!" she protested. "Don't talk so! Jane don't mean any harm, she didn't know!"

"Didn't know!" Ezra repeated. "Didn't know, eh—when I told her last night to be good to Gus Reeves! And what did she do—oh? She told him she wouldn't marry him—that's what she did! Didn't I see him this morning—and don't I know what she's done? He said he'd give her another chance if I thought she was only waiting because she wasn't sure of her own mind. He asked me if there wasn't something between her and this Sanderson—and I told him no, there wasn't. And now—now—here's this letter sayin' that the young upstart wants to marry her!"

"Stop!" White and shaken though Jane was, her voice rang out in a tone of authority that brought the angry man's reproaches to an abrupt pause. "You shall not speak in that way of the man I love," she went on. "I am willing to listen to anything you have to say against me—but you must leave

Contrasting Materials For Collar and Cuffs Are Quite Stylish

By MAY MANTON

8812 (With Basting Line and Added Seam Allowance) Girl's Middy Dress, 8 to 14 years.

Middy frocks are always desirable for the school girls and this season they seem to be in exceptional demand. This one is made with an applied yoke and with the dropped sleeves that are becoming and at the same time, simplify labor. The skirt is cut in five pieces and the front and back portions are plaited, while the sides are plain and are joined to the yoke. In the illustration, the material is blue serge, with collar and cuffs of taffeta, but white serge is liked for the more dressy effect and a great many mothers will make the blouse of one material and the skirt of another, and just now, there is a fancy for using crepe de chine for blouses to wear with serge or whatever material may be preferred. The pattern gives both the seams and the basting line.

For the 12 year size will be needed, 6 yds. of material 27 in. wide, 5 yds. 36, 3 3/4 yds. 44, with 3/4 yd. 27 in. wide for the collar and cuffs and 6 yds. of braid.

The pattern No. 8812 is cut in sizes from 8 to 14 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents.

900-POUND HOG

Special to The Telegraph

Marietta, Pa., Dec. 15.—Barton Leed and Daniel Kessler, of Denver, have perhaps the largest hog ever raised in Lancaster county. It is on exhibition at the Denver House stables, and tips the scales at 900 pounds. If it keeps gaining, the 1,000 mark may be reached shortly after Christmas.

DON'T SUFFER—LAUGH AT STOMACH MISERY

Your Own Druggist Will Return Your Money If Mi-o-na Does Not Relieve Dyspepsia

Among all the hundreds of remedies in every well stocked drug store, there are few that the druggist is able to sell on a guarantee to refund the money if they do not cure.

Mi-o-na, the famous dyspepsia remedy, however, has helped so many stomach sufferers that every druggist who sells it is able to say, "If this remedy does not relieve your misery, come back to my store and I will cheerfully return your money."

Anyone who has dyspepsia, indigestion, headache, dizzy feelings, or liver troubles, should take advantage of this chance to be made well without any risk of spending their money to no purpose. Mi-o-na will relieve you, will regulate the digestion, will enable you to eat what you want. If it does not do all this it will not cost you a cent.

Many druggists who have sold hundreds of boxes of Mi-o-na say they have yet to receive the first complaint from any customer. Such a record is simply marvelous and speaks volumes for the merit of the remedy.

It is easy enough to fill a column with the symptoms afflicting those who have dyspepsia, but there is no need of describing their condition. What they want is relief and they can get it most certainly get it in Mi-o-na. Do not suffer a day longer with indigestion. If Mi-o-na relieves you, it costs you 50 cents a box, if it does not the druggist will return your money. Sold by H. C. Kennedy and other leading dealers.—Advertisement.

"FATTENING" PUT TO BAN BY STATE

Oysters Not to Be "Bloomed" or "Swollen" Before Being Put Out For Trade

Oysters must be sold to the people of Pennsylvania as they come from the salt seas and the practice of adding water or "fattening" them to give an appearance that will appeal to some is to stop or agents of the dairy and food commission will cause arrests. The State Department of Agriculture today issued notice that its reports showed that the public was being deceived by oysters which had been bloated by allowing them to remain in water. Under the law they must be sold "solid" and without any added water or any substance. As in the case of vinegar if the buyer likes to add water to them it may be done, but until they reach the consumer they must not be "watered" and must be kept in edible condition.

Other agents of the Department of Agriculture, which is very much on the map these days, as they say at the Capitol, have rounded up the pest which has caused destructions of thousands of rose bushes in the State and the reports received from Bloomingburg, where there was an extensive visitation, indicate that the rose midge, as the pest was known, has been exterminated. Numerous greenhouses inspected lately are reported free from the pest.

WAX FIGURES AUCTIONED

Eden Musee in New York Ends Its Career of 34 Years

New York, Dec. 15.—The wax figures of world-famous persons in the Eden Musee, in Twenty-third street, which for 34 years has been one of the points of interest in New York, were sold at auction recently. The museum has been closed to make way for a new office building.

The Eden Musee contained perhaps the largest collection of wax figures and historical groups in the United States.

WHAT CAUSES COLDS?

This question is asked every day. A cold is really a fever, not always caused by the weather but often due to disordered blood or lack of important food-elements. In changing seasons fat-foods are essential because they distribute heat by enriching the blood and so render the system better able to withstand the varying elements. This is the important reason why Scott's Emulsion should always be taken for colds, and it does more—builds strength to prevent sickness. Scott's Emulsion contains Nature's rare strength-building fats, so skillfully blended that the blood profits from every drop. It is free from harmful drugs or alcohol. Sold at drug stores—always get the genuine.

No Haircut or Shave Until Ford Gets Peace

Boulder, Col., Dec. 15.—Carrying the weight of 63 years, but as sturdy and vigorous as a man of 40, Judge James E. Bemus, who regard for the interests of humanity is known to virtually every man, woman and child in Boulder, has announced that he will not submit to a shave or haircut until Henry Ford and his peace advocates have accomplished the supreme task of restoring Europe to sanity and bringing "the boys out of the trenches."

Judge Bemus, who has been actively engaged in promoting the welfare of mankind for many years, came west when this country was hailed as a mecca for young men seeking their fortunes. He settled in Boulder when it was a struggling village of less than 500 persons and has resided here continuously since.

"Henry Ford and his party, I am positive, will accomplish the task they have undertaken," said Judge Bemus. "If they do not, then my whiskers can grow until kingdom come."

WANT DATA ON IMMIGRATION

Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce will assist the National Chamber of Commerce in the canvass to ascertain the probable amount of immigration after the war is ended. The National body is sending inquiries to all subordinate organizations, asking co-operation. One of the plans is to arrange for a systematic distribution of foreigners who may come here.

HOUSES IN DEMAND

Duncannon, Pa., Dec. 15.—Tenant houses are in demand here and the prospective outlook for a building boom next Spring is very favorable.
