TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens Gray Hair So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.—Advertisement.

WORK ON FEDERAL BLDG. PROGRESSES

"Into Post Office by Christmas 1916" Is Slogan of Contractor on Job

Under the efficient methods employed by James J. Molloy, contractor in charge of the remodeling of the Post Office and additions in Federal Square, the work is going along smoothly, and the prospects are that the new annex will be ready for occupation well before the time limit mentioned in the contract. Instead of "Out of the trenches by Christmas," the slogan of the men in charge of this work may well be "Into the Post Office by Christmas, 1916."

AMUSEMENTS

ORPHEUM To-night—Winthrop Ames Presents the Little Theater New York Success, "A Pair of Silk Stockings," Thursday, matinee and night, December 23—"Hello Girls," Saturday (Christmas), matinee and night, December 25—"At the Old Cross Roads."

"A PAIR OF SILK STOCKINGS" Direct from an all season's engagement at Winthrop Ames' Little Theater in New York City, "A Pair of Silk Stockings," Cyril Harcourt's delightful comedy of English society life comes to the Orpheum to-night. Hector Turnbull, dramatic critic of the New York Tribune, in reviewing the play on the opening night of its all season's run at the Little Theater in that city last year, gave an excellent idea of the impression created by the play in the following: "Not only has the playwright drawn a faithful and engaging picture of that much maligned type, English gentilefolk, but he has handled a delicate situation with such a brave show of disarming British wholesomeness that our familiar Frenchy, bedridden farces appears dead stuff in comparison. Articles of woman's attire, generally completely concealed in comedy and vulgarly flaunted in farce, are disclosed to a delighted audience, fulfilling a purpose both utilitarian and artistic.—Advertisement."

WOULDN'T YOU LIKE TO BUY YOUR RED CROSS STAMPS FROM "THE BETTING BETTYS"?

After you have seen "The Betting Bettys," the dandy girlie musical comedy that is heading the vaudeville bill at the Majestic this week, wouldn't you like to dig down deep in your pocket-book and buy some Red Cross stamps from these pretty damsel as they saunter up and down the aisles? This is a little added stunt to their daily routine, and yesterday the pretty girls of the attraction did remarkably well in their sales. All during the rest of the week "The Betting Bettys" will continue their little stunt and according to the start they have had, they will likely vie for honors with the "Honey Girls," who sold lots of them at the Orpheum last Christmas. A comedy gem of this offering is the scenic line of jest and song handed out by Rockwell and Wood. These clever funsters are original from the get-go, and they are scoring the laughing hit of the bill. Other splendid Keith turns of the bill include Gwynne and Gosselle, Billy Elwood and Helene and Emilion. Interesting moving picture features are included in the program also.—Advertisement.

"MARTYRS OF THE ALAMO" AND "SAVED BY WIRELESS" ON ONE BILL

The pretentiousness of the Colonial's current "Triangle" program, together with the genuine merit of both features, is certainly proving to be several orders of the best entertainment theatergoers can possibly find anywhere in town. The excellent drama, another Griffith triumph, "The Martyrs of the Alamo," is historical and romantic, dealing with incidents based on actual history in the early days of Mexico. The second feature of the same offering is entitled, "Saved by Wireless," a Mack Sennett thriller that stars Mack Swain and Chester Conklin, and is as exciting in some places as it is amusing in others. The oldest religionists, hair-breadth escapes, an automobile and motorcycle race and a blown up yacht all figure in this exciting production.—Advertisement.

GERALDINE FARRAR IN "CARMEN" RETURNS TO THE REGENT TODAY AND TOMORROW

An event that has been anxiously awaited for by the photography fans is the return to-day and to-morrow of Geraldine Farrar, the world's greatest prima donna, in the original picturization of "Carmen," at the Regent. "Carmen" is one of the greatest characterizations of Miss Farrar, the prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and the production stands in a class by itself as a remarkable interpretation of one of the most famous roles in operatic literature. The film possesses photo-dramatic possibilities such as held by few operas. Miss Farrar declared that through the medium of the screen she is reaching an audience of uncouped thousands and hundreds of thousands who, perhaps, have heard of her, but who, because of the limitations of opera and concert have never heard her sing or saw her act. "The Lady Comedienne" Miss Farrar at the rate of $2.00 a minute for the time she actually was engaged in making the picture. The "Carmen" music will be played on our four-manual pipe organ by Professor Wallace and Miss Merchant, and this will be a big treat in itself.—Advertisement.

BEATRICE MICHELENA IN "SALVATION NELL" AT THE VICTORIA TODAY ONLY

The photo-play, "Salvation Nell," is based on Edward Sheldon's successful drama of the same name and clearly traces its source of inspiration to "All Sorts and Conditions of Men" written by the late Walter Besant on the topic of early days of the Salvation Army in London, where it was founded in the 60's by the late General Booth.

Booth set out to rescue the submerged tenth in London's vast East End—cesspool of crime, poverty, disease, all things caused by drink. "Salvation Nell," the modern play, illustrates conditions in New York which Besant's drama stands to compare with in the Old World, long before Mr. Sheldon produced his play. Still every credit is due Mr. Sheldon. For long Salvationism was jeered at. Its professors were cuffed and stoned. The oldest religionaries hated it. That's what they all do when anything new and progressive comes along. Don't blame them; it's human nature.

how it takes thirty photographs during a flight of six miles. "Last of all," says the writer, "in the revival of methods and instruments used in the warfare of medieval times and even of antiquity comes word that pigeons, the carriers of intelligence in times of stress in remote eras, are used as photographers of the positions of the enemy. It is a strange medley, the airship, the last and most daring invention of man's brain, rising in the early dawn to search out and photograph the foe's movements, and the graceful pigeon, so frequently mentioned in the stories of early days, soaring, perhaps at the same moment, to act as an aerial scout. "But modern ingenuity has added something to the older roles of the carrier pigeon—and has turned him into a photographer. The only use for this purpose have been of a German invention, some of the pigeons having been brought down behind the allied lines. Whether the allies have tried the same means of getting photographs of German entrenchments and troops is a matter of conjecture."

MONUMENT BUILT TO AN APPLE TREE

Perhaps one of the most curious monuments in existence has recently been built in Ontario by Canadians. The farmers have just erected a marble pillar to mark the spot on which grew a famous apple tree. More than a century ago a settler in Canada named McIntosh, when clearing a space in make a home in the wilderness, discovered among a number of wild apple trees one which bore fruit so well that he cultivated it and named it McIntosh red.

The apple became famous; seeds and cuttings were distributed to all parts of Canada, so that now the McIntosh red flourishes wherever apples grow in the great Dominion. In 1896, the original tree from which this enormous family arrange was injured by fire; but it continued to bear fruit until five years ago. Then, after fifteen years, it died, and the grateful farmers have raised a marble pillar in honor of the tree which has done so much for the fruit growing industry of their land.

The story of this apple tree illustrates the African proverb that though you can count the apples on one tree, you can never count the trees in one apple.—January Popular Science Monthly.
