Suffragists Plan to Win by

Washington, E. C., Dec. 18.—A proposal that the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage be permitted to renew its affiliation with the National American Woman Suffrage Association was defeated after a spirited debate at yesterday's session of the association's annual convention. Authority was voted, however, for frequent conferences between the legislative committees of the two bodies in their fight before Congress for a federal suffrage amendment.

Earlier in the session the association held its annual election, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, of New York, being chosen president without opposition to succeed Dr. Anna Howard Shaw.

In addition to the president the association elected the following officers: First vice-president, Mrs. Frank M. Roessing, Pennsylvania; second vice-president, Mrs. Stanley McCormick, New York; third vice-president, Miss Eisher Ogden, New Jersey; treasurer, Mrs. Henry Wade Rogers, Connecticut; corresponding secretary, Miss Hannah Patterson, Pennsylvania; recording secretary, Mrs. James Morrison, Illinois; first auditor, Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, Missouri; second auditor, Mrs. Patty Ruffner Jacobs, Alabama.

The final business session was held to-day.

New York, Dec. 18 .- Detectives folowing the trail of plotters seeking to Schleindl, a clerk in the National City Bank, who they charge with larceny of documents, cablegrams and messages which, it is alleged, he turned over to representatives of the German gov-stated authoritatively, are nearing the breaking point and their continuance will depend entirely upon the reply Austria will be asked to make immediately to the note being framed to day.

While the word ultimatu:n was not used by officials in dicussing the note, it was indicated that the reply will state clearly the alternative which will follow if Austria's reply is unsatisfactory.

The gravity of the situation will scheduled the state of the German government.

The gravity of the situation will not however, cause President Wilson to postpone his departure to-night for the South on his wedding tour.

Demand Disavowal

Secretary Lansing sent to the White House early in the day a memorandum outlining his views as to what the second American note would contain. The President immediately began work on drafting the note and wilconfer with Secretary Lansing later. The note will go to Vienna within the next few days.

Close study of Austria's reply to the American demands that there should be a disavowal of the act for the submarine commander in sinking the Ancona his punishment, reparation for American lives lost and assurances that the incident would not be repeated did not reduce the gravity with the Chofficials viewed the situation.

Fresident Wilson while on his wedding tour will keep in constant touch with the White House and, if necessary, Secretary Lansing will go to seehim to discuss the situation.

Seven Killed, Ten Hurt When Bridge Falls Into

By Associated Press

Spokane, Wash., Dec. 18.—Seven persons were killed and ten injured to-day when a street car went through the Division street bridge over the Spokane river. The killed were in the car more than an hour after it went into the river. The injured were removed to a hospital.

Two street cars were on the bridge when the whole structure collapsed. One end of the car fell to the water and the other end rested on the abutment. The car erew and two passengers were rescued uninjured.

The other car, inbound and carrying about twenty passengers, fell into the river and a heavy steel beam crashed down lengthwise upon it, crushing passengers on one side of the car.

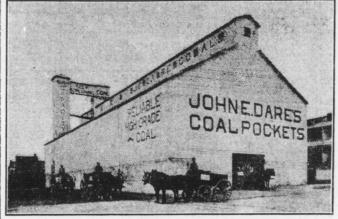

Strong Northwest Winds to Bring Another Cold Snap

To-night will see the finish of the murky, rainy weather conditions that have prevailed during the last few days, to the despair of Christmas shoppers and merchants alike. The prospects, according to E. R. Demain, Indicate clear, cold weather to-morrow, with a slight possibility of snow flurries. It is snowing out in Pittsburgh now, but the chances are very slim that the storm will get over the mountains and reach this section. The rain is over, however, and strong northwest winds will prevail to-night and to-morrow.

winds will prevail to-night and to-morrow.

The river is rising and the ice broke at Clearfield this morning, moving out quietly on a stage of 4.5 feet. The ice will probably gorge above Wil-liamsport and colder weather will un-doubtedly prevent a general break. Up to 8 o'clock this morning the pre-cipitation was 1.63 feet and little has fallen since that time. The coming cold snap ought to brace up the late shoppers and there will be a big rush during the last few days before Christ-mas.

DARE COAL ELEVATOR BURNED LAST NIGHT

Dare Pockets at Seventeenth and Chestnut Streets Go Up in Smoke in Spectacular Midnight Blaze; Building Enveloped by Flames When Firemen Arrive; Horses and Automobiles Saved; Loss Near $70,000

Fire which started shortly before midnight hast night destroyed the large coal elevator, sheds and stables and burned between 4,000 and 5,000 tons of coal at the plant of John E. Dare, Seventeenth and Chestnut streets.

Early arrivals at the fire saved thirty automobiles, including a number of large trucks and wagons, and fourteen.

The fire was discovered about 11.35.

Early arrivals at the fire saved thirty automobiles, including a number of large trucks and wagons, and fourteen head of horses.

Mr. Dare estimates his loss at between $60,000 and $70,000. This is partially covered by insurance. It is the belief of John Kindler, fire chief, that the blaze started from crossed wires in the elevator shaft.

The blaze was exceedingly spectacular, the flames shooting into the Well, this is so sudden!

But anyway here I am, and here i am going to stay for a little fun, frolic and amusement, and until some-body walks up, says a little phrase and then walks away with the $25.
To be honest about it I am tickled to death with your town. Your stores compare favorably with towns twice the size, your homes are a credit to your city and your girls—but my modesty prompts me to hush.
When did I arrive? What do I look like and where am I stopping?

Christening of Wilson's Only Granddaughter

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18 .- Every thing was ready to-day for the wed-ding of President Wilson and Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt, guests had arrived Edith Bolling Gait, guests had arrived and decorations in Mrs. Gait's home, in which the ceremony will be performed to-night were completed.

Members of the President's family attended at noon the christening of Ellen Wilson McAdoo, daughter of Secretary and Mrs. McAdoo and the President's only granddaughter. The christening was in the blue room of the White House. The President was godfather and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, the baby's aunt, and Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, cousin of the President, were godmothers. The Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, rector of St. John's Protestant Episcopal Church here, christened the baby who was born last May. The President's other grandchild, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sayre, was christened at Williamstown, Mass. The President acted as his godfather, too.

Goes to Bank

The President paid an early morning call to-day on Mrs. Galt.

After a brief visit the President went to his bank where he spent half an hour looking through his safe deposit box and going over some accounts.

One room at Mrs. Galt's home has been reserved for wedding presents. Many gifts have been received from strangers in spite of the efforts of the President and Mrs. Galt to discourage giving of presents outside of the circle of friends and relatives. Gifts continued to arrive at the White House to-day. One was a small bale of cotton sent by a Texas admirer of the President.

The President planned to devote the afternoon to-day to work and clearing up much official business before departing on his honeymoon trip. He will dine with members of his family at the White House about 7 p. m. and leave soon afterward for Mrs. Galt's home for the wedding ceremony.

Overcast skies and heavy rain driven through the streets by a forty-mile an hour wind, marked the early hours of the wedding day. But the weather man held out the promise that by 8:30 this evening, the time fixed for the commencement of the ceremony, the rain will have passed off and clear, cold weather, which should continue for the major part of the honeymoon, could be expected.

home the old family servants who have worked for the last week almost night and day getting things ready were nervously wiping here and there with dust cloths, or putting about the richly decorated rooms in an endeavor to keep busy. Mrs. Galt, however, chatted tranquilly with her mother and sister and other members of the immediate family who are on hand for the ceremony. A goodly part of the morning and afternoon had been set aside for a visit from the President and for a final consultation regarding the details of the wedding journey. The President was declared by those closest to him in his White House family to be as "happy as a boy" today. He arose very early and it was stated that his morning routine was unvaried. He shaved as usual, glanced over the morning papers and then breakfasted with his daughters. Afterward he planned a brief conference with Secretary Lansing to go over with him the outline of the new note that is to go forward to Austria dealing with the Ancona sinking. But this conference was a mere detail as the President yesterday had authorized his premier to settle the matter himself.

A special delivery messenger reached the White House early to-day.

December Eighteenth! Yes? Yes? Oh, This Is Mrs. Galt's Wedding Day

The voice on the other end of the telephone wire which begged Deputy Recorder Nissley Mumma this morning to "be sure and reserve" a place on to-day's marriage license docket wasn't a bit less alluring because it was a triffe hesitating. The wedding isn't to be until Monday the voice explained, but "of course the recorder would understand why the license is to be dated to-day?" Frankly Mr. Mumma didn't; but he sparred for time. "Oh, yes," he laughed genially, "only..."

Mumma didn't; but he sparred for time. "Oh, yes," he laughed genially, "only—"

"Oh, mercy, why," the voice thrilled with the excitement of it, "this is the eighteenth! Mrs. Galt's getting married to-day!"

That was shortly after the office was opened this morning. At noon Mr. Mumma turned more or less wearily away from the phone. "Mark another one 'taken," he called to the license clerk. "That's the fifth," he observed.

Incidentally five licenses were issued to-day. That's a record for Saturday.
