TO SET UP PERMANENT PEACE PARTY AT HAGUE

body will choose three delegates from each country. It is stated that William J. Bryan will be among the Americans if he accepts the invitation. Twenty-one delegates would be empowered to sit indefinitely. They will have a two-fold mission:

First, to suggest possible means of peace; second, to receive overtures for peace directly from the belligerents.

Mr. Ford, it was publicly announced, would place unlimited funds back of the permanent peace delegation at The Hague.

Augmented by the Norwegian delegation, the peace party will leave Wednesday for Stockholm.

Claim 'Quarrelsome' Peace Pilgrims Realize They Are on a Foolish Errand

Special to The Telegraph

London, Dec. 20. — The correspondents of the Daily Mail and the Daily Express at Christiania make a great play of the alleged differences on the Ford Peace ship. The Express says that when the newspapermen at Christiania went aboard, Mr. Ford's manager made vigorous efforts to prevent them from meeting the American newspapermen, but was unable to prevent the story of the voyage from being told and that after the Norwegians had gone ashore with lively details of all the happenings there was "a regular cat and dog fight" to oust the American journalists from the ship, the main allegation against them being that they tried to wreck the mission.

The correspondent describes Mr. Ford and his "quarrelsome" peace pilgrims as surprised and disconcerted at the lack of even a semblance of official welcome to Norway and says that there is no disguising the fact that the major of the pilgrims realize that they have embarked on a foolish errand. The correspondent says that at least a dozen delegates intend to desert before they make themselves more ridiculous.

Out of Trenches Before Winter Is Over—Nervy Cry

Christiania, Norway, Dec. 20. — "Every nation in the world will soon look upon the American peace pilgrims as taking the initiative in stopping history's worst war. The landing of a peace expedition in Europe will be accorded as one of the most benevolent things the American republic ever did," said Henry Ford to-day on stepping ashore on Norwegian soil.

The steamship Oscar II, carrying the Ford party peace expedition, arrived at this port on Saturday after a fourteen days' voyage from New York. The delegates expressed much displeasure because the vessel was delayed three days by the British authorities at Kirkwall, Scotland.

Mr. Ford said he was confident the expedition would result in getting the men out of the trenches before the winter was over.

CHURCHES BACK CANDLE LIGHTING

Zion Lutheran Church, who writes as follows in the Zion Church calendar:

Lighted Candles

This year an appropriate custom for celebrating "The Coming of the King" on Christmas Eve has been promoted by the Harrisburg Telegraph. The idea of burning candles in the front windows of the home is one that dates back centuries for its origin, and likewise one which was early observed in Europe. The custom has not only something of a sentimental side, but holds a religious phase as well. Light has always been the symbol of Christ, and at Christmas-time the burning candle in the window holds a double meaning to all who observe the custom. It is particularly appropriate that a lighted candle should send forth a silent Christmas greeting to your neighbors, and as well within the family observe a most charming Christmas custom. It is hoped that the members of this church will co-operate, in so far as they find possible, with this most lately revived idea.

The Market Square Presbyterian Church bulletin, the Rev. Dr. George Edward Hawes, pastor, has this to say:

Have you thought about lighting the candles in your houses on Christmas Eve? There is a pretty sentiment about it; and it will help to cheer the night so full of meaning and blessing. "How far that little candle throws his beams! So shines a good deed in a naughty world." Just a practical hint. It will be well to safeguard against fires by keeping curtains and other inflammable materials away from the Christmas candle.

Church News, the Messiah Lutheran Church publication, the Rev. Henry W. A. Hanson, pastor, endorses the plan, as follows:

This year an appropriate custom for celebrating "The Coming of the King" and Christmas Eve has been promoted by one of the evening papers of this city. The idea of burning candles in the front windows of the home is one that dates back centuries for its origin and is widely observed in Europe. The custom has not only something of a sentimental side, but holds a religious phase as well. Light has always been the symbol of Christ, and at Christmas-time the burning candle in the window holds a double meaning to all who observe the custom. It is particularly appropriate that a lighted candle should send forth a silent Christmas greeting. It is hoped that the members of this church will co-operate in so far as they find possible with this most lately beautiful custom.

Seven Arrested in Raid Which Discloses $14,500 in Jewels; Pint of Diamonds

By Associated Press

Pittsburgh, Dec. 20.—Seven persons are under arrest here to-day following a raid by the police on an apartment in the East End during which $14,500 worth of jewelry and silver plate was seized.

More than a pint of diamonds, emeralds and other stones which had been removed from their settings were found in the apartment, according to the police, who charge that the loot was stolen in more than a hundred robberies which have occurred in that section of the city during the past three months. Persons whose homes have been entered by thieves recently will be called in to-morrow by the police to attempt to identify their property.

PROPOSE ROTARY TRAVEL IN SQUARE

changed and the route of the cars either in Third or Fourth streets should be reversed so that they run in the opposite direction. This for the purpose of making these streets one-way streets and requiring vehicular traffic to move in the same direction as the cars.

Would Widen Subway
Regarding the Market street subway the investigators say that from a traffic standpoint "this tunnel appears to be totally unfit for the purpose for which it is used." They suggest that the retaining walls be removed and the structure be supported on pillars at the curb line. This would permit two lines of vehicles to proceed on either side of the car rails and an increase of at least fifty per cent. of vehicular traffic at this point.

Urge Heavy Bond For Jitneys
As to the jitneys the investigators say that they seem to be operated without any control except a license and that they travel at a dangerous rate of speed. They recommend that the owners should be bonded in the sum of $5,000 for the vehicles so operated—this for the purpose of placing the business in the hands of responsible people and careful operators.

The experts advise additional regulations regarding the parking of machines along Market and other streets so as to limit the congestion. It is suggested that the western curb line in North Front street is too low for the protection of vehicles and should be raised to a height of two feet. This would mean a coping in effect.

The report is strong in its recommendations for rotary travel in Market Square.
Other Reports
Last June Blon J. Arnold, a consulting engineer of national reputation, came here under the auspices of the Municipal League and made a study of Harrisburg traffic conditions. His report is remarkably analytical and comprehensive. It emphasizes the importance of traffic regulation and improvement to the exclusion of every other consideration. It is believed Mr. Arnold's report will greatly aid in the final solution of the Harrisburg problem.

Albert Kelsey, a famous architect several years ago made a study of the problems here and his idea was that there should be an isle of safety of an esthetic character so as to divert travel around the center of the square instead of through it. Mr. Arnold dis- agrees with this plan. Otherwise two gentlemen seem to agree upon the solution of the traffic problems.
