HAVE YOU SPOTTED SHERLOCK, 100?

Have heard so many descriptions of myself that I am beginning to get to know just what I do look like. Some of them would make you think I was a cross between a nutmeg and a sausage pepper.

I had another talk with Mr. Raker, principal of the School of Commerce yesterday. He was too busy to give me much time but he promised that never a better time for the student to enter this business college as the demand for graduates of the School of Commerce was increasing. The supply, however, is not increasing in the country and they were receiving calls for their students at this school. It is wisely known for the efficiency of their graduates. If you can't attend this college in the day they offer you a night course.

They were at the fountain yesterday afternoon in Forney's Drug Store at 21 corner Second street. Again brunettes and in a hurry as I heard one of them say to the boy at the fountain: "I am in a hurry." One dropped her purse and I picked it up for her.

Unless all signs fail I am going to make a noise at the Majestic Theater to-night about 8:30 that will make a sugar resorting to reverberation that will listen good. I will appear on the stage and make a short talk and let you all see me without disguises. Tomorrow I will appear in the street just as I appeared at the Majestic Theater. Somebody must get that 25c and if you want to be in the running for the money come down and take a good look at me and note how I will give away the 25c.

I am told a lady here has dreamed a complete description of me and that she will annex that $25 this afternoon. Just to be on the safe side my heart is on the right side I am going to make her a present of an extra prize of $25 — when dreams come true.

From the way they are taking orders at The Bouquet Shop for cut flowers, plants and Christmas wreaths you would think the entire population had decided to revert to the home a bower of flowers and evergreen for the Yuletide season. I don't care what you want in cut flowers this shop can supply you. Get your order in now and the delivery will be made when you desire.

To-day will be the last day you will have to get a line on the duplicate of the scarf. I am going to have the duplicate is now on display in Diener's jewelry store window. If you want to know what I think would please any man, give him a handsome scarf pin for Xmas. Diener's rings for men is another line I would suggest you look over before you make a selection. Anybody that knows chess from chess knows that when a thing comes from Diener's it is of the highest quality.

A fellow sold me a rotten cigar yesterday and then told me how to capture Sherlock. He didn't name him then, but do not let a thrower of cigar away and went around to Forney's Drug Store and bought a good one. You know this store only sells good cigars. Oh, yes, my name is Forney that Forney handles that I am going to put you next to is Bryn Mawr candies. This line is made for the class that wants the best that money can buy. If you are going to buy candy for Christmas you should see the stacks of it in attractive Christmas packages at this store. I don't believe there is anything you could want in toilet requisites that Forney could not show you.

Two ladies stopped me yesterday afternoon at the corner of Walnut and Fourth streets and asked me if I had seen a little boy with a wig. About that time they spied the little fellow on the Capitol grounds.

I trust Santa Claus will be liberal this Christmas and bank books for the children's stockings. It is a splendid object lesson and will do more to encourage thrift and promote happiness than anything they could receive. Let the child become disciplined in the true uses of money and the habit will grow. The Mechanics Trust Company offers splendid inducements to those who wish to save by paying 3 per cent interest compounded every four months on all savings accounts.

The fellow who was held up by two girls yesterday afternoon in front of the Commonwealth Hotel had a hard time convincing the would-be captors of Sherlock, that he was not the man. I saw the fun.

I am not making any promises, but I expect to take a ride around the business section to-morrow in my favorite automobile, the Cadillac. I will see Mr. Crispin of the Crispin Motor Car Company and try to arrange to get a new Eight Cylinder Cadillac. You know this is the car that is sold to those people who want an automobile that will give years of service and comfort. The Cadillac is built up to the price and not down to the price like the average car. When you put your money in this car you get dependable service and superb luxury.

"W. E. R."—No, I am not a local man and when you see me to-night at the Majestic you will see I am a total stranger in Harrisburg.

I never played with Solomon's little dog and consequently I do not claim to be the wisest man on earth, but when I run into a plant like the City Star I know why they get the business of those who want good work. If there is anything in up-to-date laundry machinery they don't have I want to see it. Their collar and shirt machines are the very latest. These machines prolong the life of the linens as they do not cause wear as by the old friction process—a shirt is pressed and not ruined. The collar comes back without rough edges. They have a new machine for underwear and bath towels that makes the garment or towel soft and fluffy when finished.

I simply must tell you about it. It was too cute for words. I was coming out of Forney's when I ran into two big husky men behind a baby carriage containing a little baby. I remarked to my companion that the baby was certainly pretty and I hoped they would not stop some place and leave it as I have known men to do when entrusted with a valuable package like that.

Talking about babies reminds me that healthy babies make healthy grownups. There is nothing so important to the health of a baby as the kind and quality of milk they get. The Pennsylvania Milk Products Company has the honor of keeping the babies of Harrisburg healthy by furnishing a pure product. It don't pay to take chances with your health and when you drink milk that has harmful germs by the millions you certainly take a big chance.

Here is one for some of you old stingy husbands, that poor little wife is trying so hard to make home a heaven for. Be fair and drop in the Harrisburg Light & Power Company and take her one or more of the many electrical devices they are showing that save labor in the home. You will never miss the money and she will remember this Christmas as never before.

Remember the hours to-day, for my capture will be from 4 to 6 p.m. only. Be sure to read my story to-morrow as I will then give you full details as to the way I will wind up this feature.

Wanted—Everybody to come to the Majestic Theater to-night and get a line on the man who is trying hard to give somebody a handsome Christmas present offered by this paper—Advertisement.

GEORGIA WOMEN WEAR OVERALLS

But Only Housekeeping Purposes; Skirts Are Such a Bother

Savannah, Ga., Dec. 20.—All the shops in Georgia are buying now boys' size overalls for housewives. Georgia housekeepers have learned the discomfort and danger of sweeping and cleaning windows with flappy skirts at their ankles. Dresses gather dust and the germs "get in the way." Overalls are the ideal of comfort in housekeeping. And if they are soiled, what matter? They are easy to wash or replaced at small cost.

Many women are taking to the innovation, which made its first appearance in Chicago. Young women particularly are no longer willing to risk their gowns and their lives by washing windows and hanging pictures in unwieldy skirts.

And Georgia women have not outgrown the fashion of doing their own work. There are young wives in Savannah and other Georgia cities who even scrub their own floors. But many of them are now openly wearing overalls instead of dresses for their housework.

"I have been keeping house for five years," said Mrs. E. W. Davidson, "so you see I am not at all a beginner. I'm a practical housewife, and I find that undoubtedly the proper dress for sweeping floors and cleaning windows and the like are overalls. They can be neat and white instead of a stiff blue and they don't need to be 'unlovely.'"
