FLOOD OF GOOD THINGS PROVIDED

Folks in City's Charitable Institutions Will Be Well Cared For This Year

The destitute and the needy, the poor and the afflicted, all will be flooded with the material good things this Christmas because of the generosity and warm-heartedness of the erosity and warm-neartedness of the people of Harrisburg. Organizations and individuals without number have given unstitutedly of their substance in order to lighten the burden of those who are too weak or ill to help them-selves.

who are too weak or ill to help themselves.

The Flower Guild of the Harrisburg Hospital has been indefatigable in its efforts to make this the best Christmas that the inmates of the hospital have enjoyed for years. The various wards will be decorated and Christmas trees will soothe the eyes of the sick on Friday morning. Moreover, a new innovation in the way of a victrola has been provided and will play classical and operatic music for the benefit of the patients in the different parts of the hospital. Some of the churches will send singers to brighten the day for the unfortunates and an especially big Christmas dinner will be served for those who are allowed to eat to their normal capacity. The Polyclinic Hospital has been taken care of by the Ladies' Auxiliary, which has presented a handsome rug as a Christmas present for the reception room. The wards will be festooned by the Junior Auxiliary, a big Christmas tree will make the reception room attractive and a turkey dinner will be served on Christmas Day.

To Make Youngsters Happy
The happiest children in the city will be those at the Children's Industrial Home, where Santa Claus will present gifts which the merchants of the city have kindly donated, and afterward the boys and girls will make merry around a festive board upon which will be set for their delectation eight or ten enormous turkeys, with stuffing and mashed potatoes and cranberries and corn and all the other extras that go to make up a real Christmas feast. The dining-room will be festooned in true hollday fashion, and the teachers are arranging a wonderful Christmas program that will feature the afternoon before Christmas and will be given unaided by the children of the home. The friends and parents are privileged to come and see them on Christmas afternoon, the officials announce.

Scarcely an institution or orphanage parents are privileged to come and see them on Christmas afternoon, the officials announce.

Scarcely an institution or orphanage in the city but will be enriched by the inspiration of the Christmas spirit on Friday, and practically all will have trees and special dinners. Not even the inmates of the county prison will be forgotten. They will be served with a sauerkraut dinner and all accessories. Sylvan Heights Orphanage will have its annual Christmas tree and special distribution of gifts. The Free Kindergarten will be given a treat by the students of Central high school, who have already collected more than $100 to pay for the celebration on Thursday at the high school. A real Santa Claus will distribute presents to over fifty happy youngsters, each one of whom will be given a stocking full of good things, a toy and some clothing. The Children's Aid Society has on its list 200 children who will receive gifts, and the intermediate department of Market Square Presbyterian Church will have a meeting tomorrow evening when each class will bring offerings for needy families. Many of the other churches of the city are doing likewise and it looks as though everybody is going to be provided for and there will be a good reason for universal rejoicing in the city over the thought of "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

Unique Attraction at the Kaufman Store

One corner of the Kaufman Underselling Stores that is of much interest to the Christmas shopping crowds, is that in which there was installed this week an automatic photographing machine.

The machine is located by the elevator on the main floor and is operated by the insertion of a coin. The subject, after seating himself or herself before the machine, inserts the coin, an electric are lamp is flashed on for a few seconds, goes out and after a brief wait of a minute, out comes a finished photograph in a circular metal frame.

One of visitors are daily attracted to the form of the seconds of visitors are daily attracted to the form of the seconds.
