

Women AND THEIR INTERESTS

What Happened to Jane

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

CHAPTER XXV. (Copyright, 1915, Star Company.) As Reeves asked his question Mary Baird recoiled as if he had struck her. She did not reply, and he repeated his query in a different form. "And how do you know I am not engaged?" he insisted. "Because—because," she faltered, "I never thought that you would—that you would—ever care!" She stopped, arrested by the look on his face. "Well—you see how mistaken you were," he returned. "You mean—you mean," she stammered, "that it's really true?" "Of course it is!" he asserted. "And why not? Just because a man's forty-five and been lonely for years doesn't mean that he's never to have things the way he wants them, does it? I am going to marry Miss Hardy," he added, majestically. The woman drew a step nearer, her eyes flashing, and she reminded him. "What about her?" "Oh, you can go on living here," he said easily, as he walked into the dining room. But she followed him, closing the door behind her so that any one coming to the kitchen porch would not overhear what she had to say. "Wait a minute," she commanded. "Do you mean that I'm to stay here as housekeeper—just like I have always?" "The man flushed. "Well, yes," he said awkwardly. "You can stay on and make yourself useful. You've always had an easy time here, Mary. On some farms the size of this there'd be the men to feed. But any man that works here go home nights and bring their dinner pails with them mornings. So there's been only me to work for. At housecleaning time I always let you hire extra help. Then there's always a woman every week to do the washing and ironing. I've treated you well, Mary." "And when there'll be another person to work for," she demanded, "what about that?" "Mary Baird Defines Her Intentions" "So you're afraid of the work of one other person, are you?" he sneered. "It's not the work I'm afraid of, Gustus. It's the man you know it," she declared. "But you're not going to put a mistress over me to boss me—do you hear? I'm not going to have a girl rule me after all these years! And I'll tell her so, too! Understand?" "Augustus Reeves came close to her face crimson with rage, his lower lip thrust forward. He drew down his brows until they projected above his small gray eyes. His red hair seemed to bristle. "You'll do as I tell you," he exclaimed. "Remember that! You'll stay right here, just where you are and you'll work like you've always done—or I'll know the reason why." She clenched her fists. And if I won't—what then?" she asked, defiantly. He showed his teeth in an ugly snarl. "Then," he threatened, "you'll starve—that's all! If I tell folks what you are, who'll take you in—you and your idiot brat?" "God!" the exclamation was so shrill that even the angry man was startled. "You wouldn't do that!" she burst forth. "You wouldn't stop sup-

WARM OVERCOAT FOR A SMALL BOY

Stylish and Comfortable to Ward Off Attacks of Jack Frost

By MAY MANTON

8885 (With Basting Line and Added Seam Allowance) Boy's Overcoat, 4, 6 and 8 years. The simple coat is always the best one for the small boy. Here, is a model that can be worn with open neck or buttoned up closely and as just a plain coat or a belted one. In fact, there are three quite different ways of treating it. On the figure, it is just a simple coat with generous pockets. In one small view, it is shown with round neck and high collar and with a belt that is passed all around. In the back view, the coats are loose and the back only is confined by a belt. All three styles are smart. For the making of such coats, there are a variety of materials. On the figure, chinchilla cloth is shown and that material is much liked this season, and it is always warm and always comfortable. The little belted coat with high neck is made of beaver cloth with velvet collar and cuffs. For the 6 year size will be needed, 2 1/2 yds. of material 36 in. wide, 2 yds. 44, 1 1/2 yds. 54 in. wide.

The pattern No. 8885 is cut in sizes from 4 to 8 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents.

The Home Doctor

How to Cure Rheumatism Here is a prescription for rheumatism (easily mixed at home) used all over the world for many years and is the surest remedy; neutralizes the acid in the blood and gives results after first dose. It is the best medicine in the world for rheumatism. It is a half ounce of GLOBE PINE COMPOUND and one ounce of Syrup of Sarsaparilla. Put these two ingredients in half pint of whiskey. Use a teaspoonful frequently as required. (Smaller doses to children). Be sure to get the genuine Globe Pine Compound (Concentrated Pine), put up only in half ounce bottles, each enclosed in a screw-top case. Frost Bites, Corns and Sore Feet Don't endure foot agony. Here is a remedy for quick results. It works through the remaining cause. Two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in warm foot bath. Gives instant relief for chapping and sweating feet; corns and callouses can be peeled right off. Specially effective for sore thimbles, chilblains, athlete's foot, Gelsin, Calocide in twenty-five cent packages at any drug store. This mixture is published by the Medical Formula Laboratories, Dayton, O.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea. Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair. A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen your comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.—Adv.

GASOLINE WILL HIT HIGH SPOTS Price of Tires Will Be Increased 20 Per Cent. by First of the Year

There comes from York a wail of protest at the increase in the cost of gasoline and the threatened famine that is facing consumers down there. All indications point to the probability that Harrisburg will shortly be in the same predicament. Gas is selling today at 20 cents a gallon, although some dealers go as low as 19 cents. At this time of year, when the demand for gasoline is at its height, it is reported by several local dealers that refined oil went up a cent a gallon this morning. The question of when Charles Ellet Groniger's heart began to fail him insofar as the time may affect his insurance beneficiary will be threshed out in the Dauphin county courts in the near future through the action of Mrs. Anna V. Groniger, executrix of Groniger's estate. Mrs. Groniger has instituted suit against the American Assurance company, the beneficiary company to recover $57.71 for weekly "rent" to which she claims she was entitled throughout the period of Groniger's illness. Groniger was a Pennsylvania railroad employe. March 14, 1914, he became seriously ill with a heart affection and he died the following Christmas Day. During all this time the company, according to Mrs. Groniger, has paid him $15 weekly in sick benefits but not a cent was paid because the company declared Groniger was suffering from a weak heart at the time he was insured. Mrs. Groniger contends that he became ill after he went into the company and that the company's physicians, etc., had examined him and that he had passed the physical tests. Bridge Not Ready Before Spring.—The new concrete bridge that will span the Philadelphia and Reading railroad at Nineteenth street "cut," will probably not be thrown open for travel before early Spring. The structure which is being built by the Dauphin county commissioners, cost in the neighborhood of $17,000. The Harrisburg Railways company will assume a third of this obligation. At the Register's Office.—The wills of Horace S. Stees and Michael H. Smith were probated yesterday and letters on the estates were granted to Emma F. Stees and Lewis W. Smith, respectively. Mr. Stees was a resident of Susquehanna township, and Mrs. Smith is a former Harrisburger. Register of Wills R. C. Danner is confined to his home with an attack of "grip."

DIES OF HEART TROUBLE Columbia, Pa., Dec. 29.—While his wife was lying ill in an adjacent room, Samuel Myers, a well-known resident of this place, succumbed to an attack of heart trouble. Both had been taken to the hospital, his wife having sustained a stroke, aggravated by an attack of grip. Her husband's death was sudden and unexpected and her own condition is serious.

EX-GOVERNOR STONE MOVES Pittsburgh, Dec. 29.—William A. Stone, ex-Governor of Pennsylvania, ex-Congressman and noted lawyer, will remove to Philadelphia next Thursday, where he will reside in future and take up his duties as Prothonotary of the Supreme Court, to which place he was recently appointed.

ROOSEVELT ALLOWED $1442 AGAINST BARNES Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 29.—Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt yesterday was allowed $1442.52 against William Barnes, Republican leader, as costs and disbursements in the recent trial in this city, when the jury dismissed the $50,000 libel suit brought by Barnes. It was agreed by attorneys that Roosevelt could have exacted $2000 more, because of the extraordinary length of the trial, but he asked only the actual court costs incurred. Justice Andrews, who tried the case also signed a new order, refusing to set aside the jury verdict and denying a new trial.

DIE TOGETHER AT EIGHTY Abington, Pa., Dec. 29.—Joseph and Cecelia Bordo, well-known octogenarians of Roslyn, were taken violently ill of grip at the home of their son, Lambert J. Bordo, on Thursday last, and each case speedily developed into pneumonia. Each was almost 81 years old, and the venerable husband died Monday and the wife yesterday.
