MUMMERS READY FOR BIG PARADE

Lewisburg Residents Will Celebrate Entry of New Year

Special to the Telegraph
Lewisburg, Pa., Dec. 31.—The boosters for the mummers' parade here on New Year's Day have completed all plans for the big celebration. The parade will form at 1 o'clock and move off promptly at 2 p. m. Four bands, upward of fifty floats, a hundred or more automobiles, several secret societies and fire departments, Troop M, First Cavalry, and hundreds of mummers will be in line.

Captain Samuel B. Wolfe, chief marshal, has selected Colonel William B. Folmer, Lieutenant W. Ralph Bechtel and Lieutenant A. Paul Kline as his aids.

Numerous cash prizes are offered for the various features in the parade and as this celebration will mark the opening of Lewisburg's first paved street and the lighting of the Great White Way it is expected that it will be one of the biggest days this town has had since the centennial twenty-five years ago.

War Veteran With Record Is Dead in Adams County

Special to the Telegraph
Mount Joy, Pa., Dec. 31.—Word has just reached Mount Joy of the death of John H. Freed, of Abbottstown, Adams county, the father of J. Willis Freed, of Mount Joy, stenographer at the Grey Iron Works. Mr. Freed was 75 years old and for twenty-five years taught school in Adams and York counties. He was a veteran of the Civil War, having served as a member of the First Brigade band in the Army of the Potomac, under General Meade. He witnessed the shelling of Petersburg, Va., by General Grant, which, he claims, was one of the most beautiful spectacles to behold, as it occurred at night and resembled a profuse display of fireworks. Mr. Freed was in Lancaster county the day before the Columbia bridge was burned and reached Columbia that evening and crossed the bridge on the last train over it.

TAKES POISON BY MISTAKE
Special to the Telegraph
Lewistown, Pa., Dec. 31.—Word has been received here of the death of J. Albert Romig in a Columbus, O., hospital from the effects of swallowing a bichloride of mercury tablet in mistake for a headache tablet. Mr. Romig, who was a son of Simon Romig, of Reedsville, this county, arose during the night and got what he supposed was a tablet for the cure of headache, but it proved to be poison.

Simple Home Treatment For Swollen Veins

If you or any relative or friend is worried because of varicose veins, or bunions, the best advice that anyone in this world can give is to get a prescription that many physicians are now prescribing.

Ask your druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and apply night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Soon you will notice that they are getting smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are of normal size. Moore's Emerald Oil is powerful, yet harmless, and results are guaranteed. Any druggist will supply you.—Advertisement.

City Pays County More Than $1,900 to Keep Prisoners
Harrisburg officially paid to the County Treasurer yesterday $1,912.82 for maintenance of prisoners sentenced to the Dauphin county jail during the year just closed on violations of municipal ordinances. Assistant City Clerk R. R. Seaman compiled the list. The city pays for maintenance by the day just about $1.00 per prisoner. The county authorities will now prepare a list and the two sets of figures are compared.

The city authorities consider any prisoner who is confined for twenty-four hours should be charged for a day's keep; the county officials hold that if a prisoner is committed before the evening meal hour of one day and is not discharged until after noon of the next day, he is charged with two days' keep.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION
Irritability, oversensitiveness, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, dizziness—these are symptoms of nervous exhaustion, or neurasthenia. Very often the patient feels best and brightest at night. Rest seems to bring no refreshment, the nervous system fails to recuperate. This distressing condition is caused by worry most often, but by any other one thing. Overwork and worry invite the disorder.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic directly on the blood. The treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or the bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail at just 75 cents per box; six boxes $2.50. Begin the treatment at once before your condition becomes chronic.

Two useful books, "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Mrs. Rebecca Hogentogler Is Nearing Century Mark

Special to the Telegraph
Columbia, Pa., Dec. 31.—Mrs. Rebecca Hogentogler, who resides at Klinesville, a short distance above Columbia, is perhaps the most interesting of the many residents in this or any other section of the county, because she is the oldest person in this part of Lancaster county, and by one of her years is exceptionally well preserved. Mrs. Hogentogler will be 98 years old in February next, and has lived in the section where she now resides, all her life. Her ancestors were the owners of nearly all the land lying south of the Chickies creek, and eastward from the Susquehanna river, and as far as the present boundaries of Columbia.

One of the most remarkable traits of this aged woman is the condition of her memory, which seems not to have been in the last impaired. She can relate events that happened before most of the people now living were born, and this she does with such accuracy that she astonishes those who are now well advanced in years themselves. One of her neighbors, who is a man about 75 years old, has stated that she has told him of incidents that happened in his childhood, of which he has some recollection, but not nearly so comprehensive as that related by his aged neighbor. Mrs. Hogentogler's sight is good and the only defect in her senses is deafness, which, however, is not serious, as she can easily understand anyone who speaks to her should they raise the voice just above the natural tone.

Once grapefruit were scarce and high-priced—a breakfast dish fit for kings which only the well-to-do could afford. Now there are thousands of bearing groves in Florida, where grapefruit come nearest reaching perfection, and the fruit is plentiful and reasonable in price. Florida is the natural home of the grapefruit and in the long growing season of the State, nature seals up in the golden globes her life-giving sunshine to be opened and made use of months later in the heart of winter's kingdom.

Ask your dealer for Sealdsweet grapefruit, instead of just grapefruit.

Almost every modern grocery or fruit store carries Sealdsweet fruits in season.

Sealdsweet oranges are just as superior as the grapefruit—try them this year.

Sealdsweet is the appropriate trade-mark of the fruit of growers of the choicest oranges and grapefruit in the world. They are banded together in a co-operative organization, the Florida Citrus Exchange, to see that consumers get Florida's famous fruits in prime condition, just as nature leaves them on the trees at the end of the season. Sealdsweet oranges and grapefruit can be depended upon.

Use Sealdsweet Grapefruit and Oranges For Cookery and Confections

The Sealdsweet mark is only on boxes which contain fruit that will give you your money's worth, no matter at what price you buy it.

Sometimes a Florida grapefruit is rough and uninviting in looks—but cut it open and you will realize the truth of the old adage that beauty is only skin deep. If they have been allowed to ripen on the tree, as are all Sealdsweet grapefruit, you will find Florida grapefruit filled with delicious, invigorating juice—food, drink and tonic. Every member of the family will enjoy them.

Sealdsweet oranges and grapefruit are useful in cookery and confections. Recipe booklet mailed free upon application.
