promptly, together with Prof. Decevee, the accompanist.

The society will study for its Spring featival, Mr. Coleridge-Taylor's "The Atonement," which Dr. Wolle says, is a highly dramatic, modern work, of tremendous virility, abounding in moments of rare beauty, with a rich, highly colored orchestration.

The books have arrived and are now in charge of William H. Koutz, the librarian; while the enrollment books are in charge of the secretary, Harry M. Bretz. There is no doubt that the Harrisburg Choral Society will have a most successful season in 1916. MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS M. SHEARER

These three well-known vaudeville players presented their turn with much success as a feature act when vaudeville held sway at the Orpheum.
