How to Have the Best Cough Remedy and Save $2 by Making it at Home

Cough medicines, as a rule contain a large quantity of plain syrup. A pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, stirred for 20 minutes, gives you as good syrup as money can buy.

Then get your drugist 2 1/2 ounces Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with sugar syrup. This gives you, at a cost of only 54 cents, a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50—a clear saving of nearly $2. Full directions with Pinex. It keeps perfectly and tastes good.

It takes hold of the usual cough or chest cold at once and cures it in 24 hours. Splendid for whooping cough, bronchitis and winter coughs.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and leads to the relief of the inflamed membranes in the case of a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract combined with guaiaac, and has been used for generations to heal inflamed membranes of the throat and chest.

To avoid disappointment, ask your drugist for "25 cent Pinex." It is really don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

AVOID ALL MEAT IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Uric Acid in meat excites Kidneys and irritates the Bladder.

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder weakness or Kidney-Backache.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again there is difficulty in voiding.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Advertisement.

Salary raises among borough employees, a change in the treasury fund system, and the re-election and reappointment of a number of borough officers featured the work of the new council at its first meeting last night.

The old council met and completed the business on hand in a short time. The finance committee report for the year ending December 31, 1915, showed a balance in the treasury of $30,246.75, including $12,000 obtained by a bond issue for the purpose of building a municipal isolation hospital; and $5,170 from the unexpended part of a bond issue for paving and water rents, and more than $39,000 each for paving and water rents, and more than $59,000 from taxes of all kinds.

The shade tree commission in its report recommended the employing of an agent next year and asked for an appropriation of $250.

C. E. Keim, M. A. Obercash and T. C. McEntee, new members, were received. Councilman Henderson immediately nominated J. V. W. SAVE YOUR HAIR AND BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DANDERINE"

Spend 25 cents! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this! Hair gets beautiful, wavy and thick in few moments.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just as application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scalp robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of anything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine, if eventually—why not now?—Advertisement.

micipal bureau, at whose instigation Mr. Garland came, and others in the State and City service.

Mr. Garland paid a fine tribute to Harrisburg as a community of modern ideas and imbued with the new thought of the city and its relation to its people and the world at large. He said he had heard it spoken of often in high terms wherever municipal progress is discussed and that he took special pride in the fact because he was born in the county of Perry, near by Mr. Garland spoke with a broad vision of the city of the future, saying:

Our Ideal Possible

"Shall we say that this ideal lies far beyond the reach of human aspiration and faith? Shall we join the scoffers and say: 'There is nothing perfect in this world but a fool,' and say: 'Away with this foolish notion, this ideal of a perfected city, for it is nothing but the flitting phantom of a fool's folly.' Nay, rather let us take our place with the prophet of vision, and let us believe that the very law of progress gives us the promise of a sure approach towards perfection. Let us dedicate ourselves to a community, to this great objective, the very safest city in America; and if the icy hand of death shall lay us low ere that hope be half fulfilled, we still will not flinch, we will not hesitate, we will push on towards perfection.

"The city in this new civilization is getting to be dominant. Within the next one hundred years the shift of population 'at the call of the machine' has been from the country to the city throughout the entire civilized world. In 1900 the largest city in the United States contained less than 80,000 people. To-day this same city contains over five millions. It is only one person out of every 25 lived in the city. To-day, the average is greater than one person in four living in the city. In our own great State of Ohio more than one-half of our people are now living in the cities. To-morrow the city will be greater and more influential than to-day. There is nothing to prevent this increased growth of the city. Here in this city we are now enjoying the influence. Here the best and the worst will meet. Here greatest success will be achieved and here greatest failure will be met. Here suffering will be most keen and here death will be most destructive.

Redeemed Cities

"Students of American government have been telling us for some time that our cities are the worst governed cities in the civilized world, and they say further that our Republic over this it will be the center of influence in municipal government. James Russell Lowell used to say, 'Democracy is only an experiment.' John C. Boyer, superintendent of lighting, lived in America for many years and understood the genius of our people, as well as our government, once declared before a company of prominent American gentlemen in London, that if democracy failed in America, it would put the civilization of the world back a thousand years. This same gentleman declared that the shift of American life to return to America and use every ounce of their energy and influence to redeem our cities from the waste of human life and the corruption of politics in the interest of the future civilization of the race.

"Fifty years ago a great passionate rage swept through the civilized world. All over Europe the nations were blazing the way along new progressive lines. Democracy was sweeping forward to new conquests. Thrones of despotic power were seen to quiver as though their foundations were being destroyed. Italy was fighting her way to freedom. The common man was driving the supreme power in Germany to recognize his rights and privileges, opening the door to the most marvelous development of social progress along welfare lines any nation has ever experienced. America was rising like a great giant with unusual strength for conquest of every wrong. Men began to say 'The prophet's dream is being realized—the Kingdom of God is coming.' Slaves were being freed. Progress was the watchword on every hand. Cable lines were drawing all nations together. The telephone was making all men neighbors, and everywhere Utopias were being born in the minds of men.

The Dream Unfulfilled

"In spite of all the gain which we have made, we have not reached the fulfillment of our dream. We still have poverty at its extreme as ever existed in the world's history; poverty in the midst of unexampled wealth. We have achieved liberty for man, but still the ugly form of social injustice haunts in the very shadow of the monument to liberty we have raised. We still have war and evils that are wrong.

"After going at length into the subject of needed social reforms the speaker continued:

Recreation a Primal Necessity

"American cities were built, or rather built bounded into existence for grown-ups. No provision was made for children, and yet recreation is a primal necessity, and never more so than now. There has never been in the history of time, so many young children released from home to the streets or under alien roofs as there are now. Recreation must be provided for these. It is a necessity in the constructive program of the development of human life. One Sunday night, in 1908, a careful study of the people attending theaters and movies in Chicago was made, and it was found that one-sixth of the entire population was present that night. This same city made a study of the wards whence came the young delinquent boys and girls to the Juvenile Court, and they found that 80 per cent. of these delinquent boys and girls came from seven specific wards in Chicago, in which wards there were but two places for play for the hundreds of thousands of children. Children then began her playground development on which she is spending millions. If other American cities are to fulfill their divine function, they must make provision for the happiness of the children, for the public obligation. The provision for pleasure should cover the whole period of life, beginning with the cradle and ending with the grave.

"The Declaration of Independence, 129 years ago, declared that everyone had an inalienable right to the pursuit of happiness, and yet in 1915 there were 22 millions of our population without a year-round playground. If we provide more park and equip more playgrounds and provide more social centers for community enjoyment, we will insure a greater output from our factories, we will increase the average length of human life, and we will multiply the happiness of the human family.

"We are still far short of providing a proper and adequate correctional system to care for the misdeedant. Dayton is about to buy and equip a workhouse farm for the care of the minor offender. As matters now stand in almost all American institutions, the workhouse prisoners in large number are simply passing through the prison from society back into society and then returning again to the prison for a little while, and then out again into society; and like the person in the scriptural, are not made better, but rather grow worse through our incomplete treatment.

"I have called to your mind these elements of weakness, and these ideals of achievement to stimulate your thought and action to still greater victories.

"The heart of the city is right; it is sound; it is warm with the life blood of sympathy and sincerity of purpose. We have a long way to go. It is true, until we reach the city of our dreams, the City of God. But we will plan for to-morrow, and hope and work and serve, assured that in some to-morrow the victory will come. Let us have faith in man, faith in good government, faith in the ability of every city to get good government. Let us believe in our city, love it, serve it, and we will in this spirit not fail to make it a splendid place to live in, to work in, to dream dreams in, a great center of human life, the backbone of the nation, the hope of the future of the race.

The Material at Hand

"Have we the stuff with which to build this city of our dreams? Yes, a thousand times, yes. What marvelous possibilities lie in human nature, of wise intelligence, of high purpose, of heroic endurance, of sacrificial heroism, of noble ideals. What a city we can have if we dream it, if we plan it, if we work for it, if we fight for it, if we sacrifice for it, and if need be, if we die for it—a city of homes and health and happiness and hope, a city without a slum, a city without the waste of human life, a city without want and woe and wretchedness and wickedness, a city of righteousness and justice and truth, a city where every man and woman and child shall find glad joy in living and from which living life is finished, shall pass to that city where the curse has never reached. Can we build this city here? We have the stuff with which to build it. In the words of Edwin Markham: 'We men of earth have here the stuff of Paradise—we have enough! We need no other stuff to build the stairs in to the Unfulfilled—No other ivory for the doors—No other marble for the floors—No other cedar for the beam—And some of man's immortal dream. Here on the paths of every day—Here on the common human way—Is all the busy gods would take To build a heaven, to mould and make New Edens. Ours the stuff sublime To build Eternity in time?'

BARBERS ARE FINED
Three local barbers arrested yesterday for keeping open on Sunday, were last night fined by Alderman George A. Hoover. They were Charles Williams, O. F. Kurn and Samuel Tucci. No further arrests will be made until next Monday, it was announced to-day.

MEDAL FOR LIBRARIAN
Thomas L. Wallace, librarian of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday school and member of the school for 57 years, was presented with a gold medal from the Pennsylvania Sunday School Association in recognition of his service. The presentation address was made by H. E. McCormick, superintendent of the school, followed by a short talk by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Lewis S. Mudge.
