She is president of the Chicago Drama League and recently won an international prize with her latest masterpiece, "The Blue Prince." The Duke of Hilteland, wedded the second time, goes off to the wars, leaving his own daughter, the Lady Frieda, in charge of her jealous stepmother. The new Duchess, wishing to advance her own daughter, the Lady Carlotta, secretly banishes Lady Frieda to the hut of old Toeter-toes, a supposed witch, but who is really godmother to Frieda. The Duchess institutes a weaving-spiel, planning by trickery to have Lady Carlotta win the prize of half the kingdom and a noble husband, and makes assurance doubly sure by forbidding weaving materials to Frieda. The witch and her fairy friends, however, give to Frieda magic to weave beyond all others. One of the neighboring lords, who comes to the weaving-spiel, is young Prince Fritz, who, out for adventure with his groom, and the night of the weaving-spiel and the sight of Frieda at the same time. In order to woo the maid, whom he supposes to be a peasant, he changes places with his groom, who is thus carried off to the palace by the Duchess and made to woo the Lady Carlotta. In the end cupidry is punished, the Prince weds the Princess and all goes merrily. Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which, if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do. Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion should just try this for a week and notice results. —Adv.
