

Her Case Was a Mystery Until Finally Solved by Quaker Extract the Real Cause Was a Tapeworm 31 Feet Long

A well-known lady of this city, the wife of a prominent businessman, has just passed through about three years of dreadful experiences. She dislikes notoriety and hence will not allow the publication of her name, but here are the particulars.

She came to Harrisburg with her husband just 3 years ago. She had been here only a week or two when she began to complain of stomach troubles which she at first attributed to change of air and water. As she kept getting worse she consulted medical advice, was treated with different medicines and still no relief. She was told her complaint was intestinal indigestion. During the summer of 1913 she visited at Richmond, Va., her former home. There she was told that her trouble was catarrh of the stomach and she was treated accordingly, but still without results. Becoming alarmed she then began to take different things suggested to her, but what seemed to help others, failed to help her. Her abdomen swelled terribly at times, she would have attacks of cramps, she was constantly belching, she felt tired and miserable, but in spite of all these things, she enjoyed a splendid appetite and she slept well. About 2 weeks ago her family doctor here said Mrs. [Name] I shall begin to think you have a tapeworm. She at first ridiculed this suggestion, but as she had been reading so much in the papers about people expelling tapeworms after taking Quaker Extract she concluded to give it a trial. Last Friday night she called for the remedy at Keller's drug store and the health teacher told her how to take it. Her family doctor had indeed been correct in his diagnosis—she did indeed have a tapeworm, because on Saturday morning, a few hours after taking Quaker Extract she expelled it. It came complete with head. She brought it to the drug store, where it may be seen, but if this is not convenient call at any hour up to 9 o'clock at night. No charge to talk to him. Mail orders filled promptly. Quaker Extract $1.00 per bottle, 6 bottles for $5.00. Oil of Balm $0.50 per bottle.

Is your child pale, puny, restless or weak? Remember it may have worms. Quaker expels worms. That sure has been proven here in Harrisburg.—Adv.

PROGRESSIVE PARTY'S STAND ON UNION WITH THE G. O. P.

National Committee Tells What Bull Moose Stands For and of the Danger of the Country Under Wilson

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 12.—Following is the text of the official statement issued by the Progressive national committee, opening the door for the amalgamation of the Republican and Progressive parties in the coming presidential campaign.

"The Progressive party began its existence, as did the Republican party, as a party of moral conviction and national purpose. The Progressive platform of 1912 was of necessity a composite of national and State issues, for the party was a new organ-

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Silhouette pictures are the next novelty. A combination of drawn and acted scenes in black and white being made in a tiny studio just off Washington Square, New York City.

Some time ago Gilbert, the famous illustrator who, with Howard Chandler Christy, Harrison Fisher and a few others, was the first to make the American Girl famous, got the idea that silhouette motion pictures could be produced in other words, that a story could be told on the screen in black and white, using real actors to depict the various characters.

The impossible has come to pass. Fantasy has come into its own. Silhouette pictures are being made, and a remarkable transformation or feat of strength must take place along comes the artist and director. Then the actors take up the work again and all is well.

Grace Valentine, who is featured in "Black Fear," a Metro production recently released, is one of the few women in this country who can operate an aeroplane.

A certain theatrical manager, whom we will not name, received a handsome sum from the employees of the house on Christmas. They hope he does not use them on salary day.

Peggy Hopkins, the Washington society girl, who has been mentioned in "The Turnout," a Metro feature picture, gives most of her salary to charity.

Here man can live and be happy in any kind of quarters, but the aesthetic sensibilities of those who are interested in planning star dressingsrooms. Accordingly, the Gaumont Company has asked Miss Mabel Talbot, Gertrude Robinson and Miss Lucille Laft to designate the colors in which they wish their dressingrooms to be decorated in the new studio now being erected at Flushing, N. Y.

Elvis Janis, who has run almost the entire gamut of stage work by her imitations of everybody worth while, has now added to her repertoire her versatile repertoire. She is now preparing to go for her home in Tarrytown, N. Y., and says she is now prepared to do an imitation of the celebrated New York rippidoodle manager if some manager will step forward with the offer.

THE LOCAL THEATERS

What the famous "Follies" girl shows are each season to the musical comedy theatre, the Al. G. Field Minstrelsy Greater Minstrels are to the minstrel stage this season. Such is the fast cessation of novelties, and hits, topical and "pep" in this minstrel performance.

The public of this city will have an opportunity to witness this production to-night. The Wheeling Intelligencer had this to say about Al's production, which played in the West Virginia town a short time ago: "A full house witnessed and enjoyed the original jokes, latest music, dancing and general merriment. The first scene is laid on the levee at New Orleans, and depicts the early life on the Mississippi. All the scenes, choruses and serenades reminiscent of the early days of minstrelsy are introduced.

"International law is humanity's final safeguard and civilization's last bulwark. Its recognition and observance by the nations is the true measure of the world's progress. It is our high duty to our most noble and our supreme duty to protect higher civilization. It is likewise our supreme duty to protect American institutions and American standards of justice.

"This momentous hour, therefore, demands a complete preparedness, not merely in military armament, but preparedness that will mobilize our economic resources, our scientific, our moral and financial, preparedness that will unify American citizenship and create a loyalty to our institutions such as peoples of other nations have so patriotically shown since the terrible test of war.

"The preparedness of self-defense which creates a spirit unalterably opposed to militarism and the unending object of which is universal peace, but a national spirit and soul which views the doctrine of peace at any price as futile and unwarranted, and which will unhesitatingly make any needed sacrifice to uphold American standards of humanity and justice—only that spirit will out this nation where the world will effectively for the world peace which we desire.

"The Wilson administration has repudiated the faith of our forefathers, which made the American citizen sufficient protection of an American citizen around the world. It has suffered American men, women and children to be slaughtered in Mexico and on the high seas, and American property to be destroyed, and American liberty to travel and to trade to be subject to the arbitrary and lawless coercion of foreign belligerents.

"It has stood by while the law of nations disappeared from the earth, without adequate protection or effective resistance. It first made American nations has shown the supine spirit, whose sure consequence is the contempt of the world.

"Our people are becoming impatient of leaders who hold that comfort, prosperity and material welfare are above honor, self-sacrifice and patriotism. We need a reawakening of our older Americanism, of our belief in those things that our country and our flag stand for.

"Our people are seeking leadership—leadership of the highest order and most courageous character; leadership that will draft to itself for the country's benefit the unselfish and patriotic services of able citizens. They are demanding that principles and policies shall be proclaimed and carried out by a man who has the wisdom to formulate them and the manhood to fight for them.

"Keenly alive to this, we call the national convention of the Progressive party to assemble in Chicago at the same time the national convention of the Republican party is to assemble there. We take this action believing that the surest way to secure for our country the required leadership will be by having, if possible, both the Progressive and Republican parties choose the same standard bearer and the same principles. We are confident that the rank and file of the Republican party and the large independent vote of this country will support such an effort.

"We pledge ourselves to approach the consideration of the issues involved in such an effort without any desire to revive partisan bitterness. If the Republican convention is responsive to the patriotic spirit that brought the Republican party into being and that made it dominant for half a century; if it meets this crisis in the spirit of broad patriotism that rises above partyisanship, the effort for a common leadership will be successful.

Confidence in Leader

"As a result, when the conventions of the two parties adjourn, the spirit of confidence in victory for the leader thus selected and the principles which he is committed will in itself go far toward insuring victory in November. Should the effort fail, the responsibility for the result will rest on the Progressive national convention, nor on the 4,000,000 voters who supported Progressive candidates in 1912.

"They, when called upon to do so, will as firmly refuse to surrender to party machines. The responsibility will rest on other shoulders than ours, and this will be so apparent to the voters of the country as to result in victory for the national Progressive party in next Fall's election.

"In this turning point in world history we will not stick out details; we will lay aside partisanship and prejudice. But we will never surrender these principles for which we stand and have stood. We will follow only a leader whom we know stands for them and is able to put them through."

ALMOST CRAZY WITH PIMPLES

All Over Head, Itched and Would Burn and Sting. Could Not Rest. Sat Up and Scratched.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I suffered with small pimples all over my head. The pimples itched till I was almost crazy, and after I scratched the dry skin off they would burn and sting till I could not rest and I used to sit up at night and scratch. I thought of having my hair cut off it was so dry and thin, and I could not get it up decently. I used to be ashamed to go in company.

"I suffered this way for two or three years and I tried everything that people told me but with no results. I saw a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement in the paper so I sent for a free sample. It gave me relief and I then bought more, and I didn't use more than four tins of Cuticura Ointment together with the soap and I was healed." PROGRESSIVES READY TO JOIN REPUBLICANS gressives to the Republican fold, in order that the present Democratic administration may be turned out.

While the official statement, held by some of the generals to be the "dust to dust and ashes to ashes" page in the history of the Progressive party, bears the signatures of national committee-men to the Chicago conference, it is understood to embody exactly the views entertained by Colonel Roosevelt.

The Progressives, too, will not insist on the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt by the Republicans as the price of amalgamation was the specific statement of George W. Perkins, who was understood to embody exactly the views with respect to Colonel Roosevelt.

Need Not Be Roosevelt

"We are all hoping," said Mr. Perkins with deliberation, as the newspaper men took down his words, "that both parties will agree on somebody, and it need not necessarily be Mr. Roosevelt."

The real purpose of bringing the Progressive convention to Chicago the same week the Republicans meet in June, is said to be to force, if possible, the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt by the Republicans; if they fail in this they will accept some other Republican, preferably Justice Hughes.

Just how many second choices the Progressive leaders have is not yet disclosed.

"In this crisis of our country," Mr. Perkins further explained, "the developments of a few weeks may radically change everything. It is now only January. The convention will be held in June. By that time many names might be considered. No one can tell who may develop as the crisis develops. But I repeat we are all hoping that both parties will agree on the same candidate."

Mr. Perkins declared that the formal statement should be taken at its face value and not containing something between the lines not intended to be there.

"We are simply open and frank with the Republicans," he added. "Our country comes first. We believe it is in the interest of the American people to stand together behind real leadership. We hope for peace between the old parties. We are willing to go a long way to secure the reunion. But we will not surrender principles. The statement should be read in that light, and if it is there can be no misunderstanding."

T. R. Ready to Unite

But some insisted on reading between the lines and one of the interpretations gossiped in the Florentine in France, Belgium and Montenegro, who sent a message of greeting to-day, again emphasized preparedness as the biggest issue just now, is ready to clasp hands with the Republican party on the defense and honor planks.

RELIEF SUPPLIES GO THROUGH

Washington, Jan. 12.—Several large shipments of war relief supplies to France, Belgium and Montenegro have been made by the American Red Cross in the last few days. It was announced to-day.

THE COWBOY AND INDIAN FILMS

Homer Croy in World Outlook.

The most important feature in popularizing American films is not that our photography is the best in the world, by reason of the clear light we have in and around Los Angeles, where most of our films are made, but our international supremacy is due to another reason—the Indian. The Indian has been worth thousands of dollars to the American business man. There is a demand for cowboy films in every country in the world; his appeal is universal. He is in a great way responsible for the fact that during 1914 the United States exported 22,288 miles of film.

In front of the theaters in Bangkok, Siam, they put up huge signs, written in Siamese, announcing the arrival of a cowboy film. So impatient are the audience for the film to be put on that they begin calling out, "Cowboy! cowboy!" which is as near as they can come to cowboy—HOMER CROY in World Outlook.

Just One Application and the Hairs Vanish

(Modes of To-day.)

A harmless, yet very effective, treatment is here given for the quick removal of hairy growths. Mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the undesirable hairs, apply paste and after 2 or 3 minutes remove, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. One application usually is sufficient, but be certain of results, buy the delatone in an original package.—Adv.
