

TREAT CATARRH BY NATURE'S METHOD

Every Breath of Hyomei Carries Healing Medicated Air to the Infected Membrane... Nearly every one who has catarrh knows how foolish it is to try and cure it with sprays, lotions and the like.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! See if tongue is coated, breath hot or stomach sour... "California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach liver, bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative because of its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowers without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is hot, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the long constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" which has directions plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, only "California Fig Syrup Company," Advertisement.

The middle of a row of twelve frame houses, the firemen had a stubborn blaze to fight. The flames were between the walls and under the roof.

Mr. Montgomery occupied the rear room on the second floor. He was placed in a chair and carried to a neighbor's home by Patrolmen Green, Buch, Fretow and Hess.

The McCrearys are the heaviest losers by the fire. The upper portion of the rear building was gutted. The bedroom and kitchen furniture was destroyed.

There was a number of amusing incidents during the fire. The members of the Glasser family were about to sit down to their noonday luncheon.

NEWS OF STEELTON

STEELTON BULGAR WRITES OF WAR

Kostantin Sandoff, Former Steel Co. Employee, Tells of Fighting in Balkans

KOSTANTIN SANDOFF

In the Bulgarian army now sweeping victoriously through Macedonia, in Serbia, is a former resident of Steelton, Kostantin Sandoff.

Sandoff, a former employee of the Pennsylvania Steel Company at the engineering of No. 2 blast furnace, has written a letter to his friend, John Dundooff, a prosperous West Side Bulgarian businessman.

In his epistle, written from "New Bulgaria," as the territory wrested from the Serbs has been named by the Bulgarians, Kostantin tells his friend he is a private in the Sixth Macedonian Regiment, Third Corps.

He relates a number of incidents on the march through Macedonia. The former Steelton man declares that everywhere in Macedonia the Bulgarians are received with ovations as the saviors of the people.

Kostantin also describes the capture of Shipit, a Serbian town, of small importance. The Serbs offered little resistance, he declared. Kostantin left Steelton February 26, 1915.

200 FALL IN SUSQUEHANNA AT STEELTON

who conducted the ceremonies, hurled a small wooden cross into the ice-choked stream to be rescued and brought back to shore by Atze Zdraveff, a husky son of the Balkans.

The rescue of the cross completes the ceremonies which are held to commemorate the baptism of Christ in the Jordan. It was just before this ceremony that the priest marched out onto the ice, which was frozen a distance of probably fifty feet from the shore.

Five Hundred Crowd On Ice Swarming after the priest, the entire congregation, numbering nearly 500, and many spectators attempted to secure points of vantage on the very edge of the ice.

Throughout the panic the Rev. Father Nakoff, although his feet and the edges of his flowing purple robe were drenched, continued with the ceremonies. As the crowd again surrounded him on the edge of the shore, the priest threw a cross into the stream.

Cross Falls Between Ice Cakes Instead of hurling the symbol far out into the river as the custom, the priest merely tossed the cross about fifty feet. It fell between two large cakes of floating ice.

For a second, the hundreds stood in tense expectancy awaiting the plunge of the swimmers who each year vie with each other for the high honor of rescuing the sacred cross.

Head First Into River Then as the sacred symbol was drifting farther away, out of the crowd rushed Atze Zdraveff, a husky Bulgar, of 459 Main street.

Although pushed and jostled by the floating ice, the husky son of the Balkans was uninjured. When the blessing was completed the Bulgarians surged about Zdraveff, showered him with praise, wrapped him in warm coats and assisted him to his home.

Praise For Swimmer The festival of Epiphany is one of the most sacred of the year to the Bulgarian-Orthodox church followers. The festival commences at 8 o'clock with services in the church and ends with the river plunge which follows an hour's service on the shore.
