SPACE FOR AUTO | CAROTHERS MADE | STATE COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Sacrifices Made by Various Will Investigate Marketing Trustees Take Action Regard-Dealers in Order to Make Room For Others

The largest and most enthusiastic gathering of automobile and accessory dealers that has ever gathered in Harrisburg met last evening at the Telegraph office to apportion the floor space for the big automobile show that is to be held in the Emerson-Brantingham building, February 19 to 26. The room at the Plaza where the meeting was to have been held was not large enough to accommodate the increasing number of dealers who propose to exhibit their cars and accessories. Many applicants were voted in as members, but the big problem of the evening was to find space sufficient to meet the demands of those who wish to exhibit. Although there is over 17,000 feet available for exhibit purposes, it was found necessary to cut down each one's allotment 20 per cent. in order to provide space for those who were present, but this does not make allowance for the out-of-town applicants who will most likely wish to exhibit. There are several local men who have not as yet been seen and when it comes to the final apportionment it may be necessary for some to yield a part of their space in order to make room for another. On a crowded street car there is "always room for one more," but this does not apply to automobiles in a show, because not only must the big car have room to stand, but the admiring throng must have room to get around for inspection in order to compare the various points of superiority claimed by the loquacious salesmen. There has been talk for a number of vears about the advisability of having a large convention hall, but the new Emerson-Brantingham building was thought ample for all present demands, but even that is now taxed to its capacity.

Practically every one of the dealers in Harrisburg has indicated his inten-

After luncheon the delegates of the Bellefonte business and professional people will have a get-together meeting in the beautiful courthouse their boundless hospitality had planned to meet the party with automobiles and take them to their country clubeight miles distant, and entertain the Harrisburg party at a luncheon there. Because of such an event depending entirely on good weather and the desire of the Harrisburg party to have a get-together meeting, the other arrangements were made. The arrangements of Bellefonte will be in charge of Burgess Edmond Blanchard and W. T. Kelly, secretary of the Board of Trade, and other prominent citizens. In Lock Haven

G. O. P. TO LEAD DEFENSE FIGHT

Special to the Telegraph

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26. — Republican leadership in the light for a national defense program in the House of Representatives was clearly indicated by the speech from Congressman Mann, the Republican leader, declaring strongly for legislation to provide the country with an adequate army and navy.

unitry with an adequate army and vy.

Mr. Mann's speech was given addimal importance and significance by sfrank admission that he had herefore been known as a small army d navy man. He declared that continus produced by the war in Europe a completely changed his attitude d he proclaimed his intention of doing crything possible to promote the use of preparedness.

Mr. Mann was applauded vigorously the Republicans, but very little by e Democrats. by the Republicans, but very little by the Democrats.

It was apparent that the declarations of the Republican leader were the result of serious consideration and probably of conferences with his colleagues. Whether this conclusion was correct or not the Democrats' regarded his appearance as a champion of defense legislation as indicating a desire to give the Republicans leadership in the light and to make their strength effective in the preparation of the defense bills.

fective in the preparation of the defense bills. Nowhere did Mr. Mann commit himself to support the President's program. Without discussing it in detail, he clearly intimated its inadequacy and its partizan character. His appeal was for a nonvartisan program, but a program which would provide the nation with ample protection against all dangers. He declared it the duty of members of Congress as the men chosen to manage the affairs of the nation to provide this protection, regardless of whether the action taken will be popular.
