FROM BRAKEMAN TO EVANGELIST

The Rev. William Davis Was at One Time an Employe on P. R. R. Lines West

THE REV. WILLIAM M. DAVIS The Rev. William M. Davis, evan relist, who is conducting a series o gelical Church, was once a brakeman He was employed on Pennsylvania Railroad lines west of Pittsburgh. For eight years he wore overalls and had important runs.

For eleven years this former railroad man has been a full-fledged, or-dained minister. He was admitted by the Ohio Conference of the United Evangelical Church and has been meeting with great success.

A few days ago at Lemoyne the Rev. William M. Davis closed a sucssful evangelistic campaign where I converts were recorded. His work this city is attracting much attention.

To-night's subject will be "The Anointing of the Spirit." To-morrow morning he will preach on "The Atonement," and in the afternoon will have as his subject "Safety First." This meeting will be for men and boys 16 years of age and over. The Sunday evening sermon will be on the subject "Davis On the Devil."

New York, Jan. 29.—The hotel which the Pennsylvania railroad is planning to build in Seventh avenue opposite the Pennsylvania Station here will cost, with its site about $9,000.000, according to estimates made today. The building will stand back from the building line so as to give a plaze effect to the wide avenue. It is to cost about $5,000,000 and the site $4,000,000. Work on the new hotel will begin immediately.

COAL PROBE WILL NEWS OF STEELTON DEALERS GETTING KEEPS KIDNEYS START NEXT WEEK SENIORS READY

Attorney General Will Meet With the Men in Charge of the Inquiry

Investigation of the advance made in the price of anthracite coal after thracite coal after the imposition of the anthracite tax, which has for its object the return to consumers of money paid by them as tax, will be undertaken by the Statecommission recently named by Governor Brumbaugh within a few weeks. Sittings may be held in various cities.

Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown, who is designated as counsel for the commission under the resolution creating it, has been working on plans for the coal probe and will consult with the members during the coming week in Philadelphia. It will then be determined what policy to adopt and the extent of the preliminary inquiry. It is understood that considerable data has been gathered by the State. Sittings may be held in various cities.

The Escneat Act.—Time for ning reports under the operation of the new escheat law of 1915 will expire on Monday, but the Auditor General's Department has received numerous requests to grant extensions of time because of the work required to look up deposits or holdings of money or property. It is expected that there will be rty. It is expected that there will be test of the constitutionality of the ct instituted.

RAHLROAD NOTES

J. H. Gonder, passenger conductor on the Cumberland Valley railroad, was in Harrisburg yesterday enroute home from Altoona.

There will be no Sunday shut down of slow freight. Traffic east of Pittsburgh and Erie is too heavy to allow any rest at this time.

Samuel M. Hertzler, passenger engineer on the middle division, was doing special duty between Harrisburg and Huntingdon yesterday.

Lewis C. Maltzberger who was visiting his railroad friends in and about Harrisburg, has returned to Allentown. He was at one time a passenger engineer running between Allentown and Harrisburg.

Invitations have been received by local traveling freight men to attend the annual dinner to be given February 12 by J. B. Wilson, of Mertztown. The middle division payear ended its semimonthly trips to-day.

J. T. Wallis, superintendent of motive power of Pennsylvania Railroad Lines East of Pittsburgh, who attended the meeting here of the trustees of State College, has returned to Altoona.

The warm weather has been a big a test of the constitutionality of the act instituted.

Next Weck's Cases, — Hearings on the ruling of the Public Service Commission making one-way tickets good in either direction and on the increase of rates for 100-trip tickets in vicinity of Philadelphia are scheduled for the Public Service Commission next week. Both cases have been before the commission for some time. The commissioners will sit in this city, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh next week. Eleven applications for charters are due to come up on Monday, including eight electric and two telephone companies. Among contracts listed for approval are those for lighting the city of Philadelphia for a year. The Marysville car service comes up on Tuesday.

Under Direction of Professor Harclerode Daily Rehearsals Are Being Held

Under the personal direction of Wiliam M. Harclerode, supervisor of music in the local schools, members of the cast of "The Hoodoo," the play to be given by the Senior class of the High School in the High School Audi-torium next Friday evening are holding daily rehearsals.

Mrs. John W. Few, Jr., entertained at her home, Spring and Main streets Already the various members of the cast have become proficient in their parts and Professor Harclerode predicts that "The Hoodoo" will prove to be one of the most pleasing entertainments presented by the Seniors in verse. Deitzler, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. W. E. Valentine, of Ashland, Ky., and Miss Elizabeth Johnson, of Lebanon. Those present included the follow-ments presented by the Seniors in years.

"The Hoodoo" relates in a pleasing way the story of an amusing series of adventures that follow various possessors of an Egyptian scarab, more than 4,000 years old. The first dress rehearsal will be held next Thursday afternoon.

order to approach from a circuitous route. The driver was completely occupied with maneuvering his car backward along the narrow road and could not hear the train around the corner. Not until the roar of the engine was almost above him did he appreciate the danger, and then it was too late. He had just time enough to shift from reverse gear to first speed when the engine, going at a rapid pace, smashed into the rear left side of the machine and hurled it with its occupants onto the eastbound track.

Women in Rear Seat

The three women were sitting on the rear seat, one of them holding little Anna Myers in her lap. The two men were in front and both received only slight cuts and bruises about the face and body. All were thrown from the car on their heads, with the result that two of the women were instantly killed and the other died a few minutes afterward. The little tot was hurled farther than any of them, but in some miraculous way escaped injury. Daniel Wingert and his son were treated by Dr. George B. Kunkel, surgeon for the Reading Railroad, and Dr. G. L. Laverty, who were hurried to the scene of the accident on the Gettysburg and Harrisburg train which leaves Harrisburg about 9 o'clock, but which was delayed this morning in order to take the two surgeons to the spot where the accident occurred.

delayed this morning in order to take the two surgeons to the spot where the accident occurred.

Dr. J. H. Deardorf, coroner, of Mechanicsburg, took command of the situation and had the bodies removed to the schoolhouse on the hill. The owner of the car remained cool and collected while he was being treated, shout the strain was too great and he broke down after it was all over. As far as could be ascertained, the accident was observed only by the crew on the engine and a Mrs. Ida Bucher, who saw the whole thing from her kitchen window.

Eye-Witness Tells Story

"I saw the machine stop right in the middle of the track" said Mrs. Bucher, "and then the train came rushing around the corner and hit them. I saw a black whirl in the air and that was all. I nearly fainted with terror."
