U.S. MAKING MONEY; ARE WE MAKING REAL MEN?

continued. "We have wrong notions about money. We are proud of being commercially rich and we are so self-satisfied enough to think in terms of money rather than character. Everybody in this country figures on what he is worth, not on what he is making, and in the presence of the actual capital he forgets the principle which made the income possible.

Mr. Woods went into some very interesting explanatory notes on the distribution of riches among individuals, most of which were fleeting and in only a few instances, according to the statistical average, based on fact and experience, were permanent.

Mr. Woods pointed out that this country is the most advanced in the future protection of its families, and since the time when he needed the life insurance business the number of policies held has increased from 600,000 to 4,200,000.

When Immigration Inspector Morton and his assistants started to board the Appam today they were halted by the German guard.

Sunbury, Pa., Feb. 2. — Blanche Holden, 12 years old, shabbily dressed, without coat or hat and wearing low-cut shoes, was found stowed away in a freight car on a train here. She had been the orphan daughter of William Holden, of Nanticoke, and that she had been living with Mrs. Phoebe Norris, an aunt, there. She ran away from home last Sunday morning and had been on the road three days, during which time she had subsisted on a few crusts of bread. The girl was sent to Albert Holden, an uncle, living at Watonsontown, who says the girl will find a welcome in his home.

BROWN RULES ON LABOR QUESTION

Decides That Minors May Be Employed in Making Cigars

An employment certificate is not required for a minor between the ages of 14 and 16 years, if employed on the farm or in private homes, but would be necessary under the act of 1915 in case of domestic service rendered in other than private homes, according to an opinion given today by General Director of the bureau of vocational education, by Attorney General Brown. The Attorney General says that the requirement that minors be able to read and write should be vigilantly enforced.

CAPTURED SHIP PASSENGERS HELD

Want Civilians Released. It is understood here that Lieutenant Berg has asked that the United States permit him to lay up the Appam in Virginia waters as a fair prize of war, liberating at least all the civilian passengers who were aboard at the time of capture.

Threatened to Blow Up Ship

According to reports here, the Appam has on board a large quantity of explosives, probably a part of the 8,000 tons of general cargo she was carrying when caught. The prize crew is said to have rigged a device for blowing up the ship and to have held that threat against a promise over the captives to insure their good behavior.

Raiders' Activities Cost Lloyds About $3,000,000

London, Feb. 2.—Perplexity regarding the question of insurance on the Appam is admitted at Lloyds as the case is an unprecedented one. The solution of the puzzle depends largely on the attitude of the United States government as to whether the Appam is to be considered a merchantman or a German cruiser.

If Appam Is Held as Prize She Probably Will Be Sunk by Germans

Washington, Feb. 2.—State Department officials indicate today that if the Appam finally is held as a prize, the Prussian-American treaty of 1828 is more likely to govern the case than is the Hague convention. This air utterly destroys all catarrhal germ life, quickly opens the Appam would be turned over to German captors and in that case German officials expressed the view that the prize crew, rather than let her fall back into the hands of the British as would seem inevitable if she left port, might take the ship to the three-mile limit and sink her.

British Want Ship

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, today formally asked Secretary Lansing for the release of the Appam and return to the British owners, under Article 21 of the Hague convention which the British authorities claim has superseded the Prussian-American treaty. The secretary took the ambassador's argument under consideration. British officers here scout the theory that the raider Moewe slipped through the Kiel canal under Swedish colors and got out into the Atlantic. They have a theory she is a German merchantman which got out of an Azores port nearly a year ago and has been missing since. They have no theory as to how she got into the Atlantic sea after receiving provisions and fuel the liner cannot be held as a prize.
