TYPHOID FEVER BEING REDUCED

U. S. Public Health Service in Co-operation With State Offices Making Headway

Reduction in typhoid fever and improvement in sanitary conditions have followed the intensive investigations of rural communities carried on by the United States Public Health Service in co-operation with local and State health officers, according to the annual report of the surgeon general of that service. During the past fiscal year 16,369 rural homes in eight different States were visited and many of them revisited. In each of these homes information was obtained as to the prevalence of disease and insanitary conditions and a complete sanitary survey of the premises conducted. This was followed by reinspections to determine if remedial measures had been instituted. In but a relatively small percentage of the cases did the persons concerned, after having their attention drawn to the danger of a particular unhygienic condition, fail to inaugurate corrective measures. Stimulus was given to the work by means of public lectures, the formation of active sanitary organizations, and the enlisting of all public spirited citizens in the campaigns for reform. Public buildings were also inspected and local authorities given expert advice in solving such sanitary problems as the disposal of excreta, the prevention of soil pollution, and the maintenance of pure water supplies. The surveys made during the year 1914 had shown that in rural communities less than one per cent. of the homes had sanitary toilets and more than 50 per cent. of the people were using water from polluted sources. This condition, according to the Public Health Service, made the rural sanitation question loom large among the matters vitally affecting the welfare of the nation. Following these studies and as a result of the interest aroused, the typhoid fever rate, an excellent indicator of the sanitary status of a community, has in some places frequently been cut to one-quarter of its previous figure. In Berkeley county, West Virginia, the cases of typhoid fever were reduced from 249 to 40 in one year. In Orange county, North Carolina, the rural sanitation campaign resulted in a reduction of the cases from 59 to 17. The tangible results of operations in rural sanitation indicate that marked advancement in maintaining hygienic and satisfactory surroundings in country districts is possible by the application of the common principles of preventive medicine. Insanitary conditions exist largely because they are not known to be such. Actual demonstrations of their harmfulness, together with definite recommendations for their correction, remain one of the most gratifying and successful methods for instituting reforms and has been, in the experience of the Public Health Service, invariably accompanied by definite and measurable results.

EFFECTS OF MISSIONS ON THE ESKIMOS
When the first Moravian missionaries in 1764 visited the Labrador coast no Eskimo-Rajak could be trusted with a gunshot. Murderous bands would go for hundreds of miles in summer to the southern part of the coast, where under the cover of fog or night they would suddenly approach a lonely fishing schooner. If they found themselves in the majority, they would draw the dagger, secretly concealed in their left sleeve, and do their murderous work. And to-day we have not only Christian congregations, but practically a Christian Eskimo nation. A specially striking contrast between the Eskimo of old and of to-day is seen in the condition of the aged, the infirm and orphans. In olden times the relatives got rid of such, mostly simply by abandoning them on some lonely island. Now the old and sick are mostly well cared for; an orphanage is not needed either as nearly any one is ready to take an orphan into his house, if near relatives are wanting.—THE CHRISTIAN HERALD.
BEAUTY DOCTOR TELLS SECRET
Detroit Beauty Doctor Gives Simple Recipe to Darken Gray Hair and Promote Its Growth
Miss Alice Whitney, a well-known beauty doctor of Detroit, Mich., recently gave out the following statement: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, promote its growth and make it soft and glossy. To half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/4 oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of the hair, relieve itching and scalp disease, and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair."
