

CHILD LABOR BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Vote Was 337 For to 46 Against; Heavy Penalties Imposed

Special to the Telegraph
Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—The Keating bill, to bar from interstate commerce the products of child labor, passed the House yesterday by a majority so large that it surprised the friends of the measure. The vote was 337 for the bill to 46 against it.

The bill now goes to the Senate. It imposes heavy penalties for interstate shipment of any commodity produced in whole or in part by children under 16 working in mines or quarries, or by children under 14 working in mills, canneries, workshops or manufacturing establishments. Where children are employed at night or more than eight hours a day in this latter class of industries, the minimum age is 16 instead of 14.

Ex-Speaker Cannon offered an amendment to exempt canneries because of competition with canneries across the Canadian line, where no restrictions on child labor apply. The only material change was made by adoption of an amendment to exempt the boys and girls' canning clubs.

SENATE VOTES TO QUIT PHILIPPINES IN FOUR YEARS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—The Senate went on record in favor of the almost immediate independence of the Philippines.

This was a defeat for the administration, but the margin was so slight that it is not improbable that the action will be reversed later as a result of administration influence.

The Clarke amendment, which provides that within the next four years the President shall transfer all sovereignty over the islands to a government established by the Filipinos themselves, was adopted by a majority made up on the vote of the Vice-President. The vote in the Senate was a tie and the Vice-President was called upon to settle the question.

SCENES OF FRIGHT FOLLOW RAIDS

atoms, churches were destroyed, buildings were unroofed.

Nowhere did the raids cause any panic. The story of the killing of the woman missionary is thus given in detail by a correspondent who is a member of the same parish:

Bomb Bores Big Hole

"Not far from the center of the town is the church, separated by a short distance from the chapel, in which a mission for women and girls was in progress. The woman missionary was standing, Bible in hand, addressing an audience of two hundred women and girls, when a bomb dropped between the church and the mission chapel. It made a hole in the ground four feet deep and twelve feet in diameter, within twenty feet of the chapel. There was a blinding flash, then all was darkness. The woman missionary was struck by a huge fragment of shell and killed instantly. Another woman and a young girl were also killed on the spot. The screams of the injured arose in the darkness and many persons were trampled in the confusion which prevailed for a few minutes. A second bomb fell in the center of the main street, killing a bride walking with her husband and injuring the latter so badly that he died in a short time."

Aeroplanes Pursue and Warships Fire on Saloniki Zeppelin Without Success

By Associated Press

Saloniki, Feb. 3, via Paris.—The Zeppelin which was bombed Tuesday at Saloniki was of very large dimensions. After making a wide detour of the city it began its operations by dropping five bombs, which fell into the sea. The warships opened fire on it, but after fourteen shots were obliged to cease for fear of wounding the population, which was now filling the streets. The raiders missed their next target, but tore a woman to pieces and wounded a small boy.

Another bomb set fire to warehouses filled with fats, oils, benzine and sugar. Meanwhile the Zeppelin continued to rain down its missiles of destruction. Flames from the blazing warehouses lighted up the whole harbor with a red glow, against which stood out the white sails of the coasting ships, fleeing under all canvas.

Fast aeroplanes rose in pursuit of the Zeppelin, while British, French, Italian and Russian sailors operated a fireboat at a wharf and poured torrents of water on the fire. The bombs thrown from the Zeppelin weighed about 100 pounds and were dropped from a height estimated at 2,000 feet.

THE PASSING OF THE CIRCUIT RIDER

The road was lonely and rough and the rocks were plentiful. On every hand hills loomed in the gloom of the fast descending night. Not a house or a soul was in sight, save the lone traveler who trudged onward over the rocks and up the steep incline.

The place was the Ozarks of Missouri, and the man, Rev. J. L. Finley, is technically a "circuit rider," but in reality he is a circuit walker, because he is too poor to buy a horse, and his salary is too small to allow him to hire a conveyance. On $400 per year he supports a wife and four children. He preaches to eight small churches scattered over a territory of two counties, some of it in the wildest parts of the Ozarks.

The shepherd looked into the faces of his people, and saw there a need of sympathy and encouragement and love, and he began to talk to them as one would talk to children, of the simple gospel of Christ's love to men. When he was through he gave an invitation for those who were tired of the bondage and slavery of sin, to come forward. Eight came and five of them were converted to the ways of his Master.

For years Finley was a saw-mill proprietor, making more money than he possibly could at preaching. Then he entered the ministry. "The Master called me," he said simply. "No credit is due me for the work I am doing. I am simply an humble worker in His vineyard."—THE CHRISTIAN HERALD.

MEX WHO FEAR OPPORTUNITY

In the February American Magazine Hugh S. Fullerton says: "Thousands of us who are making fairly comfortable livings for families pass plain turning points, refusing to turn or to attack the opening, through sheer timidity. There is no class so timid as the man with a family, who refuses to change because he fears he will risk the small sum he has accumulated to educate the children and provide for the family in case of his death. Ninety-nine out of one hundred men in this class keep straight ahead when they see a turning point clearly."

DOUTRICHS CLOSED TO-DAY

A necessity. The huge proportions to which our business has grown makes it no easy task for even our small army of salesmen to go through the entire stock and mark down the prices in one day's time, but we'll be ready.

TOMORROW We Start Our Semi-Annual MARK-DOWN SALE

Every Piece of Merchandise (Except Arrow Brand Collars) Will Be Reduced. All Clothing, Furnishings & Boys' Clothes, Munsing and Duofold Underwear, Hosiery and Sweaters

At Remarkable Price Reductions

We say "remarkable" because any kind of an actual reduction from our regular low selling prices is truly remarkable when you remember that dye stuffs are practically impossible to get—and fabric prices are soaring out of sight.

Instead of getting price concessions on worthy merchandise toward the close of the season, our goods have cost us more than ever before. Yet we have been selling them at the same old prices—For this reason you can appreciate our Semi-Annual Clearance Sale more than ever before—This Live Store is willing to share the profits with you.

You will undoubtedly see some stores quoting so-called "values" and naming price reductions apparently much greater than ours. But we prefer to tell the simple truth, quote our former low selling prices and the actual bona fide reductions therefrom, offering only known savings on known quality merchandise without any chance or guess work about it.
