OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, calomel, pills act on bowels like pepper acts in nostrils.

Enjoy life! Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy and constipated.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles. So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. A lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store.—Advertisement.

Dr. Blosser, who has devoted forty years to the treatment of catarrh, is the originator of a certain combination of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries to be smoked in a pipe or ready prepared cigarette. As the disease is carried into these passages with the air you breathe, so the antiseptic, healing vapor of this remedy directly to the affected parts.

This simple, practical method applies the medicine where sprays, douches, ointments, etc., cannot possibly go. Its effect is soothing and healing, and is entirely harmless, containing no tobacco or habit forming drugs. It is used, and not smoking. No matter how severe or long standing your case may be, we want to show you what our Remedy will do. To prove the beneficial, pleasant effect, The Blosser Company, 650 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga., will absolutely free to any sufferer, a sample that will verify their claims by actual test. Precaution the Best Way to Avoid Sickness in Poultry

RED PILE GAME BANTAMS
COPYRIGHT 1916

Almost from the beginning of poultry culture, there have been fanciers who sought to establish breeds of Bantams, modeled on the shape and type of the larger or standard varieties of fowls. The game fowl at one time was the most popular fowl in England, hence it is natural that bantams of this fowl be among the first originated.

Sixty years ago the Game Bantam was short-legged, loose feathered, carried a big spread tail and long standard Games of that time. About 1852 the first Game Bantams of good quality were reported, and by 1867 considerable progress was shown, until now we have now even better quality in the Bantams than in the larger Games. They have been brought to a high state of development in England, and many of the best specimens have been imported by American Breeders. This imported stock has been most successfully handled, and there is a specialty club—the American Game and Game Bantam Club—devoting its attention to the development and extension of the breeding of Game Bantams.

They are exclusively a fancier's fowl, for the eggs and carcasses are not salable on account of their small size. They require but little space and small expense for feed, however, and make excellent pets for the boy or girl.

The Red Pile Game Bantam is one of the handsomest varieties of the breed. The color of the male is white, excepting the head, neck, back, top of wings and secondary flight feathers, which are red. The female is white, excepting the breast, which is salmon red and the neck, where every feather is edged with lemon color. The legs, feet and beak of both are yellow.

Select Breeders Which Are Physically Perfect and Free From the Taint of an Earlier Disease

Hatching, Brooding, Feeding and Housing All Influence Future Welfare of the Flock

By H. I. Goodwin, Fancier and Well-known Breeder
COPYRIGHT, 1916

A knowledge of how to avoid sickness in poultry is one of the most valuable assets the poultryman can have; and, yet it is, after all, a very simple matter. Only three things are necessary to produce and maintain this highly desirable condition, and these three things are proper breeding, proper care and proper feeding.

WITHOUT a good foundation no man would expect to build anything of great value. The health and strength of a flock of poultry depend very largely upon its foundation. In breeding or selecting the stock from which to build up a flock the greatest care should be taken to start your strain from a line of ancestors which are physically perfect and free from illness of any kind. Like breeds like, and with strong ancestors there is no difficulty in raising a flock of strong young birds.

Flexibility

NE of our largest city's good stores took occasion to comment upon "Flexibility" in its advertising several days ago.

How it easily adapted itself to varying conditions, was told in a manner both entertaining, and worthy of repetition by any other good store.

In storekeeping, however, there is another closely allied factor, by which every person in a good store's organization must be guided.

Inflexibility

It takes hardened nerve and tempered will to foster certain principles which make for better storekeeping and more efficient service.

It requires unswerving loyalty on the part of all store workers to uphold the standard under which their store has grown; steadily and substantially, through years of what not!

The written word of the store must be one of sincerity, and it is usually found where the reader is left no cause to doubt.

Inflexibility of Policy goes before the ability to seize opportunities offered by flexible market conditions—always!
