'15 FOREST FIRES COST $850,000

42,000 Acres of State Land and 295,000 of Private Property Destroyed

1,101 DURING THE YEAR Railroads, Incendiaries, Carelessness of Hunters Are Responsible

According to forest fire statistics issued to-day by the Department of Forestry, Pennsylvania lost $850,000 from forest fires in 1915.

Department officials say that reasonable care would have prevented practically all the fires except those caused by lightning and a few which started from burning buildings.

The average fire covered 300 acres, did damage estimated at $75 and cost $30 to extinguish. Half the fires covered less than 100 acres each; one-third covered from 100 to 1,000 acres each.

New York, which protests about the same forest area as Pennsylvania, appropriates a cent an acre each year for prevention and extinction.

The $850,000 loss is the direct loss from burned timber only. The indirect loss cannot be computed accurately, but it is estimated at from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000.

The new bureau of forest protection, created by an act passed at the last session of the Legislature, has reorganized the forest fire warden system of the State on a nonpolitical basis.

The bureau has $45,000 available for its work of prevention and extinction of forest fires for two years.

Pneumonia's Heavy Toll. — Pneumonia took a heavy toll during November, 1915, according to a statement of the causes of death during that month in Pennsylvania just issued by the bureau of vital statistics of the State Department of Health.

Department of Forestry, since the passing out of existence of the Chestnut Blight Commission, has been keeping a watchful eye on the situation in Pennsylvania and to-day announcement was made that the blight is spreading rapidly in twenty-eight districts of the State.

Cocoon Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful.

You can get sulfated cocoon oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.
