Burgess Wigfield Serves Notice Steelton Welterweight Has That Disorderly Houses Will Aspirations For the Cham-Not Be Tolerated

Burgess Fred Wigfield served notice apon proprietors and inmates of number of houses in the West Side, against which complaints have been made, that their places must be kept above reproach. "No 'red light dis trict' will be tolerated in Steelton," "No 'red light dishe emphatically declared, "and any disorderly places will be closed up promptly and the inmates arrested." The warning was given during a hearing before the burgess last evening of Lottie Weaver, a West Side woman, picked up by Patrolman James Pearson early yesterday morning on a disorderly conduct charge. Laura Murray, who said she was a friend of the Weaver woman, appeared in her behalf and told the burgess that Lottie "had been drink-burgess that Lottie "had been drink-ing for two weeks and must have got-ten hold of some dope. too." This, she explained, caused the woman to create a disturbance in the West Side and to keep things lively in the lockup with a number of wierd fales. It was while attempting to obtain information concerning the woman's friends and manner of earning a live-lihood that information about several West Side places was revealed. The burgess informed the Murray woman that "serious complaints had been made against several places and that although "the lid might be taken off each of the series of the seri elsewhere, it was going to stay on tight in Steelton." The Weaver woman was sent to the county almshouse this morning for treatment.

Strand Manager Books Premier Photoplays

Fremier Photoplays Announcement by Manager Harry Sellers that the Metro Fox feature and Triangle films will be shown exclu-sively at the Strand, Front and Pine i streets, is one of the biggest develop-ments in the motion picture business in Steelton in years. It means that photoplays that have been shown in other cities at prices from twenty-five cents to two dollars will be shown here at five and ten cents. Manager Sellers claims that his is the only theater in the State in a town the size of Steelton to under-take such a project. For to-night he has booked Albert Chevalier, supported by Jane Gail, sin "The Middleman," a five-part Metro drama. The plot hinges around a threat to close down a pottery plant upon which a whole town was de-pendent for its existence. It is clev-erly handled.—Adv. Photo Gerhardt Studio. In "Marty" Krause, a welterweight, Steelton admirers of "the manly art" believe they have a boxer who some day will develop into the champion-ship class day ship class. Amateurs who have met him de-clare "Marty" is a "good boy" and that he has a "kick" in either hand. "Marty" himself is a rather modest youth for a puglilist with champion-ship aspirations. He is in daily train-ing and is anxious to arrange some bouts with amateurs from nearby cities ship class MCLOSKEY FUNERAL Funeral services for William R.
