ORPHEUM—To-day, matinee and night, "The Military Maids" (burlesque); to-morrow and Saturday, with daily matinees, Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival; next week, with daily matinees, "The Birth of a Nation."

MAJESTIC—Vaudeville and Moving Pictures. Moving Picture Houses: "The Beckoning Flame." GRAND—John Gladys's Honor. REGENT—"The Cheat."

PLAYS AND PLAYERS For the first time in her career, Mary Pickford is soon to be starred by the Famous Players Film Company in a big seven-reel feature, "Poor Little Peppina," which was written for the star by Kate Jordan, will be distributed by the Paramount Pictures Corporation.

"Pollyanna," at the Broad Street Theater, Philadelphia, has daily been attended by a capacity audience. This play of love and optimism is delightfully acted by Patricia Collinge, Grief Shannon, Herbert Kealey, Philip Merivale and Maud Kruger.

It is said of this famous character that there is so much of real sympathy and true feeling depicted that at every performance there can be seen any number of ladies' handkerchiefs hung out on the backs of the seats to dry.

Marguerite Clark, in "Mice and Men," and Wallace Reid and Cleo Ridgeley, in "The Golden Chance," are playing in Philadelphia at some of the leading picture houses.

Travel With Howe

Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival, which comes with an entire new program at the Orpheum to-morrow and Saturday, with daily matinees, is inimitable not only because of the scenic themselves, but also because of the way they are presented. Mr. Howe links the scenic with the entire scene of sight so precisely and yet so naturally that the effect is hypnotic in its compelling power. He knows how to imbue the mere lights and shadows of electric rays with a vitality that is akin to life itself. Hidden corners of the earth, life and strange climates, and the scenic spots of earth are all produced in picture form that is perfection in its presentation and imparts a certain knowledge which no books or lecturer could.

Coming The New York Winter Garden spectacle, "Maid in America," which the Winter Garden management declares is the largest and most expensive theatrical amusement on tour the present season, is coming to the Orpheum in the near future. Fun is the main idea.

HARRY LAUDER IN A GENIAL MOOD

Pleases a Huge House With His Inimitable Walk, Songs and Smile In spite of the fact that Harry Lauder's "Nanny," who, he declared in one of his songs, was the only girl he ever loved, told him "he'd the ugliest face in the town," we must needs differ with the young lady, because no man who so bubbles over with excellent good humor and who entertains with the joy of living as does this same Harry, could possibly have a face that the most disagreeable critic could call ugly.

His program was carried out in his inimitable spontaneous way, and although there were many of his hearers who of years ago had met the actor in his familiar songs, such as "She's the Lass for Me" and "It's Nice to Get Up in the Morning," they couldn't very well have been better pleased with what he did give them.

The "wee bonnie Scotchman" was in fine form, and had grouped about him a number of entertainers who were merely fillers-in, and that is said without in the least detracting from the merits of their respective performances. The Al Golem company of trained acrobats were unusually good, particularly in their hair-raising acrobatics at the summit of the stage; Albert Donnelly in his "Lullaby," displayed some very dexterous finger-and-hand manipulation, and received an ovation that would have done credit to the highest class of vaudeville entertainer; Dave Genaro, as "Svennari," and Isabelle Jason, as "Trilby," did a dance which certainly would have made the poor old musician rattle in his throat with pain—yet, he said, it was gracefully executed.

Next week, he will be followed by "Cocky" and "Lucille" were two singing birds that talked themselves into the amusement of the sympathetic audience.

But to get back to Harry himself. He had his inseparable pipe with him and a goodly store of matches, many of which he used; his plaid and his sturdy limbs, his tan and his Irish brogue, (yes, he did, just once), his versatility in the matter of songs, his vast fund of optimism, all these and more so endeared him to his hearers last evening that it was with great reluctance that he was allowed to retire.

MAX ROBERTSON.

Wife, 15 Years Old, Sues Husband For Divorce

Fairmount, Minn., Feb. 10.—The youngest plaintiff in a divorce action in the Martin county district court is Vera Gladys Barr, 15 years old, who seeks separation from her husband, William Barr, 22 years old. They were married a year ago at Blue Earth.

The child-wife alleges her husband beat her, failed to support her, and deserted her.

throughout the revue and each scene is interspersed with catchy musical numbers and songs successes of an infinite variety.

Novel spectacles of the Orient are shown in the new Ince-Triangle play, "The Beckoning Flame," which is being displayed at the Colonial Theater. There is a striking picture of the privacy of life among people of high rank in India, where the action of the drama takes place. Harry Dickson, an adventurous young Englishman, scales the wall of a garden and finds within the daughter of the house, Janira. The garden is a beautiful place full of luxuriant shrubs, palms and flowers of variegated hue.

Joe Jackson, celebrated tramp comedian, is the star of the comedy for the week-end. Novel spectacles of the Orient are singing are the assets of "The Schoolmaster," the one-act musical comedy that moves into the Majestic Theater to-day to hold forth during the week-end. Clever comedians are entrusted with good comedy lines and situations, while a chorus of pretty girls inject the tinsel musical interpolations. An added headliner of the bill will be a dramatic sketch called "The Money Spider," with William Robyns and company.

The Victoria's presentation of "Green Stockings" will be welcomed by the admirers of the beautiful leading lady, Miss Walker, who is one of the very best and most popular screen artists and is portraying a character in "Green Stockings" totally different from any other she has ever attempted. "Green Stockings" is a five-part Blue Ribbon feature and is taken from the play of the same name which played one of the longest runs in theatrical history of New York. For to-morrow, however, she shares the stage with Warwick in "The Fruits of Desire."

Fannie Ward, the famous American star, has ample opportunity to introduce a number of the latest Parisian gowns to-day, and to display her wonderful collection of jewelry, in the Jesse L. Lasky production of "The Cheat," which is shown at the Regent to-day at the Regent.

"The Cheat" Miss Ward is seen as an elegant, frivolous member of Long Island's smart set. She, unfortunately gambles and loses a $10,000 Red Cross fund entrusted to her care. She seizes the money from a wealthy Japanese, and in attempting to pay around his anger and is branded on the shoulder with iron.

To-morrow only—"Madame X," a Pathé Gold Reoster Play, produced by Henry W. Searge, and featuring Dorothy Donnelly, will be the attraction. In this play Miss Donnelly gives a wonderful interpretation of a woman who, because she finds her husband does not return in full the love she offers in abundance, drifts outside of the pale, and to hide her shame, she kills a man. At the trial she refuses to give her name and is known as Madame X, and the production works out so that her own son, as lawyer, defends her before his father, the judge.

On Saturday another special show will be given to the school children between the hours of 10 a. m. and 12 noon.

New Cure Is Claimed For Whooping Cough

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 10.—Three of Milwaukee's leading physicians believe they have found an effective cure for whooping cough. They are Drs. Robert Curtis Brown, F. MacRae and H. J. Murdock, who are using entirely the drug recently found to be a cure for puerperal fever.

Dr. MacRae used the drug to relax the muscles of a child and found it appeared to kill the cough germs.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one drugged disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It cures the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer a money-back guarantee for any case that fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. STIRRING WAR SCENES IN GRIFFITH'S "THE BIRTH OF A NATION"

MANY INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THE WORLD'S GREATEST MOTION PICTURE. COMING TO THE ORPHEUM

"The Birth of a Nation," produced by David W. Griffith, the foremost of directors and pioneer of the new art, was suggested by Thomas Dixon's novel, "The Clansman." The play contains 5,000 scenes; presents 18,000 actors and 3,000 horses; cost $500,000 for actual production expense, and took eight months to produce. The story is divided in two acts; total time of performance, two hours and forty minutes.

Civil War are re-acted. A reproduction of Atlanta as it was in 1864, built up to be destroyed by fire, in the picture of Sherman's march to the sea. Lee and Grant are shown at Appomattox; Ford's Theater, Washington, reproduced to the smallest details for the Lincoln tragedy. Reconstruction pictorialized in the actual South Carolina scenes, climaxing with a series of wild Ku Klux Klan rides that commanded a county for a day and cost $10,000.

The women's dresses used 12,000 yards of fabric. Night photography of battle scenes were invented and perfected at a cost of $5,000. Wonderful artillery duels in which real shells—costing $80 apiece—were used. Miles of trenches—thousands of Confederate and Federal fighters—"War as it actually is." A complete symphonic orchestra is carried. The musical score is synchronized to the several thousand distinct and individual scenes.

Sentences Given Prisoners Convicted at Last Term of Cumberland Co. Court

Special to the Telegraph Carlisle, Pa., Feb. 10.—Judge Sadler held a session of court to-day and handed down some severe sentences to persons who were convicted or pled guilty to various offenses at the last term of criminal court here. Edward Windomaker of Boiling Springs; George Geesey, alias "Dal-lastown Dutch," and Cora Dayton of Harrisburg, pled guilty to stealing the copper bonding wire from the roadbed of the Dillsburg and Mechanicsburg railroad. They were each given $50 fine and costs and sentenced to a minimum of five years and maximum of six years of solitary confinement and hard labor in Eastern Penitentiary. Windomaker and the Dayton woman had both served previous sentences in Maryland prisons. David Wilson of 1318 William street Harrisburg, pled guilty of assaulting Daniel Lewis, a West Fairview railroad man, and was given $100 fine, costs and one year in jail. Wilson has a jail record of being in the House of Refuge in 1901, Huntingdon Reformatory in 1906, and in 1913 Judge Kunkel of the Dauphin county court sentenced him to not less than two nor more than ten years.

send him to the Eastern Penitentiary, instead of Huntingdon, but the judge declined.

George Heard, a magazine solicitor, whose home is in Toronto, Can., was convicted of robbing J. Herman Morrett at the Merchants' Hotel at Mechanicsburg, and was given a sentence of $50 fine, costs and not less than two nor more than four years in the penitentiary. Two Indian boys, Asa Thunder and William Thomas, got $5 fine and ninety days in jail for assaulting a fellow student at the Carlisle Indian school. William Priestly, white, 20 years old, and James Evans, colored, 17 years old, were sentenced to the Eastern Penitentiary for pleading guilty of larceny and were sent to Huntingdon Reformatory. Priestly admitted to Judge Sadler that he had been at Glen Mills Reformatory four times. He asked the court to send him to the Eastern Penitentiary, instead of Huntingdon, but the judge declined.
