istro-Hungarian govern issued a memorandum to neutral governments announcing that after March 1 armed merchantmen belonging to countries at war with Germany will be considered and treated as warships.

Dr. Alfred Zimmerman, under sec-retary of foreign affairs, said: "We believe we can meet Secretary Lansing's ideas concerning submarine war." He referred to the joint note on such warfare 'recently sent by the United war." He referred to the joint note on such warfare recently sent by the United States to all the beligrerents. It is explained in the memorandum that Germany takes this step in view of what she cites as secret instructions of the British admiralty to merchant ships to open fire on submarines at sight. Germany further cites nineteen instances wherein it is charged Ger-man submarines have been fired upon by merchantmen. The text of the memorandum concludes: "Under the enumerated circum-stances, enemy merchantmen armed with guns no longer have the right to be regarded as penceful merchantmen. The German sea forces therefore will be ordered to treat such vessels as warships after a short interval granted in the interest of neutrals. The Ger-man government makes neutral pow-ers aware of this situation that they hav warn their citizens against fur-ther entrusting their persons or prop-erty to armed merchantmen belonging to powers at war with the German The government's action it is stoted.

to powers at war with the German empire." Find Instructions The government's action, it is stated, follows the finding of the British in-structions on board the British ship woodfield. Attached to the memorandum are declaration in the house of commons on March 26, 1913, of Winston Spencer Churchill, then first lord of the British admiralty. The second refers to the communication of Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador at Washing-ton. to William J. Bryan, then Secre-tary of State, on August 25, 1914, as appearing in the diplomatic corre-spondence of the State Department.
