sumeent cloub to lime the orders. The dye situation is proving quite inconvenient.

Another very busy place at present is the plant of the Shippensburg Knitting Company, where daily 450 dozen of men's half hose are turned out and shipped to jobbers. This miliemploys sixty-five persons, mostly girls, and although the dye situation also has its effect on this plant, all of the employes are kept busy. The mill is one of the most modernly equipped in the valley and the machines in operation include 105 knitters, 10 loopers and 18 ribbers. The mill was opened in the Spring of 1901 by Frank E. Hollar, who conducted the business until three years ago when it was sold to Angle Bros., who now operate the plant.

Among the town's smaller industries are two carpet factories. One is operated by M. T. Hinkle and the other by Alfred Leidy. Each week several hundred square yards of carpet are manufactured. Mr. Hinkle's plant, although small, has been in continuous operation since 1836. Mr. Hinkle's father established the business.

Rummel, Himes & Company are manufacturers of overalls, trousers and work clothing and the plant is one which can be pressed into service by the government in time of war. Circular letters sent to clothing manufacturers all over the country asking about equipment for turning out clothing for soldiers, were received here and this plant replied that it is well able to supply such clothing. The local factory is one of three operated.
