AFTER LEADERS IN PLOT TO KILL AND BURN

Detectives Nicholas Hunt and Deputy Chief of Police Herman Schuetler announced to-day after studying translations of letters written in Italian found in Aliegrini's rooms that they regarded as established the existence of an anticlerical organization headed by a "committee of fifteen" of which Cronos and Allegrini are believed to have been members...

Had Plans of Buildings The police were guarded in making public the contents of Allegrini's correspondence, but it was stated plans and specifications were found of several large downtown buildings in Chicago which, it is said, had been marked for destruction by the committee...

The attempt to wreck St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church in New York a year ago is believed by Captain Hunt to have been a part of the alleged plot. According to the detective who did the translating, certain leaders in a conspiracy which is said to be international in scope have headquarters in Rome...

Names of these "committee of fifteen" are said to be in the hands of the police and it was predicted that the arrest of some of the committee members would be made before night. Chief of Detectives Hunt has communicated with Nashville, Tenn., Saturday, Feb. 12, Paul and Louis in the hope of apprehending Cronos in one of those cities...

Police working on the case pointed out to-day that the illness of fifty guests who attended the Knights of Columbus banquet on October 2 last might have been due to the activities of the alleged conspirators. At first it was believed that the illness of the banqueters was caused by ptomaine poisoning, but discovery of the plot to poison guests at the Mundell dinner has given strength to the belief that the illness of the other banqueters may have been due to a similar plot.

Many Churches Fired In connection with the alleged plans of the conspirators to destroy public buildings and church property, police records show that two score or more Chicago churches have suffered fire losses within the last few years. At the Moody Church, it was said, no less than six fires said to have been of incendiary origin have been discovered and extinguished with small loss during the last year. Other churches in which incendiary fires have been discovered include Grace Episcopal Church, which was destroyed September 26 last; Oakland Methodist Church, Norwood Park Methodist Church, Auburn Park Methodist Church, St. Sebastian's Roman Catholic Church, Evangelical Lutheran, St. Nicholas Church, Trinity Reformed Episcopal Church and three Episcopal churches, St. Chrysostom's, All Saints and St. Alban's.

One of the interesting developments in the case yesterday was the finding of a letter in Allegrini's pocket in which reference was made to a fund collected for the widow of Gaetano Bresci, who assassinated King Humbert of Italy. Subsequent developments have led the police to believe that Cronos and Allegrini may have had knowledge of the plot to assassinate the Italian monarch.

STEELTON TO VOTE $80,000 LOAN IN MAY

two parts, one of $55,000 to pay the borough's share of street paving and the other for $25,000 for motor apparatus. The taxpayers will be given an opportunity to approve the items separately.

The floating of the loan for street paving would enable council to pave practically every unpaved street and alley in the borough, with the exception of a few alleys upon which there are few or no houses. It would place Steelton in a position unsurpassed by any other borough in perhaps the whole United States for its mileage of paved streets.

Borough Has Seven Miles of Paving The last paving loan for the borough was for $25,000 and was passed in 1913. Of this sum $5,500 has not been expended and is still in the borough treasury. At the present time the borough has about seven miles of paved streets, as much, it is claimed as any borough its size in the State. The proposed loan would provide

Your Country? What do you know about its Government? Advertisement for 'The American Government' book, featuring portraits of Frederic J. Haskin and Uncle Sam.

HAVEN'T you often wished for a true picture of your Government? Not a Democratic picture, not a Republican picture, but an accurate, unprejudiced, non-political picture of the Government of which you are a part and partner?

This picture is now for the first time put before the American people. Frederic J. Haskin, in his book, "The American Government," has set forth the story of the actual workings of the great governmental machine in a manner at once so skillful and accurate as to win the commendation of our greatest statesmen, Republican and Democrat alike, and which will quicken the pulse of every American who reads it.

See Your Presidents

The lid of the White House is literally lifted off that you may see your Presidents as though you lived with them, what they are, what they do, how they live.

The impenetrable dignity of the Supreme Court is removed as if by magic that you may see the inner workings of the most powerful tribunal on earth.

You are carried to the ports and the courts of the world to see the thousand and one tentacles of your Department of State, absorbing political and commercial information, often without your knowledge, but always for your benefit.

You are shown how the Weather Bureau is pulling down the secrets of the upper air to aid the shippers of merchandise, to safeguard those who travel on the seas, and to give the farmers warning and advice in the care of their crops.

Your Funeral Postponed

You are shown how the operations of Uncle Sam's health officials have so improved the conditions of living in the United States that during ten years the average American life has been prolonged about 13 per cent—to be exact, your funeral has been postponed 4 years, 1 month and 6 days.

You can see the entertainment and profit this book has in store for you, and the best thing about it is the accuracy of every statement.

The author is prepared to furnish a guarantee in this respect that never has been equaled before. Each of the thirty chapters was submitted to and approved by leading authorities from the President down.

The Illustrations

In addition to the text, this remarkable book contains a pictorial story of governmental activity. The illustrations are all full page in size and were made from photographs taken especially for this edition. The camera was hoisted to the tower above the Weather Bureau to snap the apparatus that reads the clouds; then lowered to the vaults of the Naval Observatory to picture the clock that regulates the time for the United States. It has caught at work the man who makes the paper money we Americans spend so freely. Only a few of the pictures can be mentioned here.

Who Is Frederic J. Haskin?

The author of this is a newspaper correspondent whose special articles on current affairs, politics, social economy, travel and other subjects have been given wide publication throughout the United States in recent years. In the course of his investigations he has been sent by the great newspapers into all parts of the world, and he has had the benefit of most varied and extensive observation. His work has invariably been notable for care in securing facts, and for rare skill in narrating them. It has won him the confidence of Presidents, statesmen, diplomats, and party leaders.

Why It Was Written

Thousands of scrap-books are stored with Mr. Haskin's articles, and he has received a constant stream of letters calling for information pertaining to the Government. It was this widespread interest, and the belief that he would be rendering a great educational service, that inspired Mr. Haskin with the idea of undertaking the enormous task he has completed so successfully.

There has never been a time in the history of the country when the Government was so big and so important as it is today, and there has never been a day during the lives of the present generation of Americans when it was so important for all citizens to know the facts about their Government.

You Must Read It

"The American Government" is the only book that tells, accurately and without partisan bias, just what the working machinery of this great Government accomplishes for its people. It has been endorsed by scores of public officials, has been placed in hundreds of schools and read by hundreds of thousands of Americans. It held Woodrow Wilson's attention on the night of his election to the Presidency—the supreme moment of his life. It will hold yours—whether you are nine or ninety, a man or woman, boy or girl.

Some Facts About "The American Government"

It is the world's best selling non-fiction book. It is now in its sixty-ninth edition. Its largest edition was a continuous printing of 200,000 copies. It has been translated into eleven foreign languages. It has been made into raised type for the blind. It is the book that Woodrow Wilson read the night he was elected President of the United States. It has been made into a moving picture production called "Uncle Sam at Work," which set the world's record for attendance during the recent engagement at the Auditorium Theater in Chicago. Its author, who is a Washington newspaper man, has received over 3,000 commendatory letters from people in all parts of the world. It is said to be the most popular gift book of this generation—thousands of patriotic readers purchasing extra copies to present to friends.

Some Facts About "The Panama Canal"

It is now selling in its three hundred and tenth thousand. All of the chapters in this book pertaining to the actual construction of the canal were read and corrected by Gen. George W. Goethals, builder of the canal. All of the illustrations were made from photographs taken by Mr. Ernest Hellen, the official photographer of the commission. The book contains the beautiful colored Bird's-eye View of the Canal Zone, made under the direction of the National Geographic Society, as well as the black-and-white official map of the canal. The extensive index was prepared by Mr. G. Thomas Ritchie, of the staff of the Library of Congress. The final proofs were revised by Mr. Howard Sherman, of the Government Printing Office, to conform with the typographical style of the United States government.

enough money to pave South Front street from the end of the present paved section to Highspire. This would make a continuous stretch of paved highway from Highspire through Harrisburg to Fort Hunter, a distance of about eleven miles. It would also pave practically every cross street in the borough that is much in use. The fire apparatus loan would provide sufficient funds with which to purchase three motor apparatuses. A special committee will investigate the problem of collecting garbage by the incorporation of a clause calling for garbage collection by this method in the loan. Plans for floating the loan for paving were broached by E. C. Henderson, chairman of the Highway Committee, who has prepared figures showing just what such a loan would enable the borough to do. He introduced a resolution authorizing the introduction of an ordinance calling for a vote on the loan at the next meeting of council. To Smooth Out Details Before the resolution was passed Chairman A. J. Sellers of the town property committee, and chairman of a special committee that has investigated the question of motor apparatus suggested that the motorization of the fire department should be put up to the voters at the same time. Following a short discussion President J. V. W. Reynders appointed a special committee which includes the finance, highway and town property committees to smooth out the details of the loan and to introduce an ordinance at the next meeting of council. Passage of the loan ordinance will be expedited by special meetings of council if necessary so that the loan may be passed before the voters at the Presidential primaries in May. The chairman of the three committees in charge of the loan ordinance preparation are J. V. W. Reynders, finance; E. C. Henderson, highway; and A. J. Sellers, town property.
