GRATZ WILL SOON BE GIVEN WATER

into the town at almost the same time. At the present time, Gratz, without street lights of any kind and wells is procured from pumps and wells. Because of this water situation, the town, too, is without fire protection. A little more than a year ago, the borough council granted a franchise to the Johnson Construction Company of Harrisburg, to furnish water. The company was given a period of one year to finish the work, but the cost of the job was figured it was found the adventure would be a losing proposition so the construction company did not start work. At the expiration of the year, the concern made another proposition and asked for a franchise to furnish both water and lights, claiming that with the same fuel, both could be supplied.

The company will lay the water mains on all the streets of the town and the pumping station and power plant will be erected outside of the borough limits on a tract of land purchased from O. T. Tobias. On this land are two large springs which can well supply the town with water. It is believed the construction company will build a reservoir or stand pipe on the side of the mountain so that the water will have a good pressure when it reaches Gratz. Fifteen fire plugs will be placed at various street intersections and the borough council has agreed to pay for the use of them at the rate of $20 per plug annually. The rates for the consumers will be practically the same as those in other towns. According to the present plans, between three and four dozen small electric lights will be placed about the town. The borough's lighting bill will be about $400 a year. And of course, with the establishing of an electric light plant, many residents will cast aside their oil lamps and use the more modern method of lighting their homes.
