

If You Are a Sick Woman

Can you afford to doubt such overwhelming evidence as that of the letters constantly being published in the daily press, showing how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that good old-fashioned remedy made from roots and herbs, restores suffering women to health and strength? Thousands of women suffered just as you are suffering and in letters over their own signatures state they have been made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. LIBRARY BREAKS MONTHLY RECORD

Report Shows That Over 12,000 Books Were Circulated During the Last Month

The Harrisburg Public Library's circulation of books during the month of January, broke all records. There were just 12,115 books, or 1,000 more than in January last year, circulated among the people of Harrisburg. The best previous record was 11,200. The January circulation was over 2,500 ahead of December. One of the gratifying facts was that of this circulation almost 4,800 books were from the children's library, and in addition the library established its six school libraries in city school buildings.

The registration is steadily growing, and this month's circulation, while kept down by weather, is expected to large.

Steps were taken last night to meet the heavy demands of readers and to provide more books for school work. A special children's reference library will be established by Miss Clendinning, the librarian in charge.

The subjects of libraries in industries will be taken up as soon as the funds of the library will permit.

Raunick Tells Council of City's Health Needs

CITY HEALTH OFFICER'S RECOMMENDATIONS

Suggests that city act in conjunction with county authorities in using municipal sanitary hospital for other purposes in addition to smallpox only. With some remodeling institution could serve for city and county cases. Municipal waste collection, including incineration or reduction, provided for and supervised by the city.

Screening of poultry, bread, cakes, and other foodstuffs in city markets. Standard system of milk inspection for all producers and dealers which should be paid for by the producers.

General revision of milk standards. Revision of building code. Careful inspection of "smoke" nuisance with view of determining most satisfactory method of handling it.

Careful consideration of traveling public and poorly heated and ventilated cars. Continued installation of more auxiliary sanitary sewers suggested as remedy for backing of water in cellars.

Erection of one or more modern high schools. Request contagious disease nurse. Recommends that two negative cultures on successive days be taken in all diphtheria cases and carriers before release from quarantine suggested in order to overcome remarkably increase in case rate from this disease. While there were 45 cases less in 1915, mortality of infant deaths being due to diphtheria.

Death rate in 1915 was 1,010, increase over last year of 53; represent greatest number of deaths in any single year and greatest annual increase.

Birth rate is low water mark in bureau's history. Only 1,352 births were recorded, an actual decrease of eight births over previous year.

Requests automobile for use of department. Asks for additional inspectors. Recommends organization of school health bureau to act in connection with city bureau.

During the year the department spent $48,835, of which $23,945 was expended in collection of ashes and garbage; $5,640 for food inspection; leaving a net balance of approximately $9,700 for actual operation of the bureau which safeguards the health of 75,000 people.

and sign nuisances, erection of one or more high schools—and the queer comparisons of the birth and death rates of 1915 with previous years. Accurate and comprehensive statistics bearing on all phases of the bureau's work complete the report.

Dr. Raunick's keynote of the bureau's need for more help in his letter to Council which accompanies his report. "The public demands upon your director," said he "have become extremely burdensome, and as there is a limit to one's endurance and patience as well, relief is required if the efficiency of the bureau is to be maintained."

Additional inspectors to enforce the acts relative to the employees of restaurants and quick-lunch rooms, the State housing, food, dairy, child labor, the compilation of a police health census, are needed according to Dr. Raunick.

Slow but certain improvement in Harrisburg's sanitary rating among the cities of the country is noted by the health director, but he refers in considerable length to the problem of infant mortality. "A mere glance at our infant mortality tables," reports the director, "shows the extent of this needless sacrifice and emphasizes the necessity and the great possibilities presented for a social or 'welfare' nurse in this important field."

County-Wide Hospital. "While we have no statistics available as to the amount of the county's funds annually expended in caring for quarantine cases in Harrisburg and nearby towns," says Dr. Raunick in referring to the municipal hospital problem, "we believe this important matter could be more economically and satisfactorily handled by providing hospitalization for all these cases. Our hospital buildings located as they are on county ground, should be acquired by the county commissioners and under the supervision of the directors of the poor, remodeled to accommodate and admit for proper medical treatment, those cases of infectious diseases among our transient population and worthy poor, in which quarantine observation is an extremely burdensome and unnecessary hardship."

Garbage Collection

Dr. Raunick, in discussing the municipal garbage collection possibilities touches upon the importance of utilizing the waste materials as follows: "We are at present experiencing serious difficulties in securing suitable dumping places for this rapidly increasing and needlessly wasted rich by-product of our municipal extravagance, which many of our cities are reclaiming in revenue from waste paper, tin cans, bottles, etc. If it is concluded to care for garbage collection alone we would recommend that the city secure suitable dumping places for street sweepings instead of dumping them on nearby or convenient vacant lots."

As to Housing Conditions. The problem is dealt with in detail and a special table of statistics has been prepared on the subject. "Ordinarily," says Dr. Raunick in this connection, "we are unconcerned about and care not how our neighbor lives, but we seem to forget to discriminate the difference between bad housing and bad housekeeping." "As a preliminary survey of our housing conditions last Spring, conducted under the auspices of our Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Societies by John H. Bider, field secretary of the National Housing Association and a recognized housing expert, who publicly announced that 'our greatest fault was the overcrowding and what we needed most was the adoption of a modernized housing code and revision of our present absolute city building regulations.'"

MAY 1 SET FOR TAKING OVER 'HARDSCRABBLE'

(Continued From First Page.) designed (Mr. Seltz) to tender such security to the parties claiming or entitled to damages, and if they refused, or do not accept, the security tendered, he shall apply to the court for permission to file the same in court as provided by law.

The Resolution. The resolution accompanying the letter as offered by Mr. Gross reiterates the terms of the preliminary agreement and concludes with this instruction relative to further procedure: "Resolved, further, That the city solicitor shall cause to be personally or by registered letter, on all the owners and tenants whose properties will be taken by said improvement to vacate the same on or before the first day of May, 1916."

Aside from discussing the "Hardscrabble" matter, Council did little else but receive the report of Commissioner Bowman, Dr. J. M. J. Raunick and Plumbing Inspector Bradley.

The question of exonerations of city taxes for 1915 was referred to the city solicitor. He will investigate particularly the problems of whether certain properties in the Capitol Park extension zone which were bought by the late sheriff, should be exonerated. The time upon which the sales were consummated had been questioned by Council.

To Bridge Fulton Street. New ordinances included Mr. Bowman's water rate measures for 1916 and a measure offered by Commissioner Lynch which permits the Blough Manufacturing Company to construct two bridges across Fulton street, between the company's main factory building and annex. The factory girls' retiring and lunch rooms, etc., are in the new annex and the construction of the bridges will provide a more convenient way for them to get to and from the main building. The bridges will extend from the second and third floors and will be about ninety feet south of Rely street. The lowest bridge will be not less than fifteen feet above the street.

The Lynch ordinances authorizing the purchase of a new motor truck and a street sweeper and sprinkler were passed finally.
