MAID IN AMERICA AT THE ORPHEUM

Witnessed by Large House, Winter Garden Show Pleased With Its Novelty

A large audience last night thoroughly enjoyed the Winter Garden Revue, "Maid In America," over at the Orpheum. Most extravagant costuming and staging combined with a large cast of principals and chorus gave show such as seldom seen here, although there are several houses in Manhattan which run this type exclusively. Properly "Maid In America" is a potpourri of melodrama, phantasmagoria call it most any name synonymous to these and you hit the truth. For without a plot of even the slenderest, the show passes from one spectacle to another in a purely spectacular way, without once aiming at continuity. Several most unusual diversions contributed to the Revue; the most striking of which was the opening of the second act when the orchestra suddenly struck into Rachmaninoff's Prelude in C Minor and the chorus behind the curtain sang the accompaniment in the treble to the heavy motif in the bass.

To the rapid tempo of this number there was toe dancing of merit by Gertrude Mackey and another curtain was divided after another there was seen a stage setting which reminded one greatly of a Bakst Scherezade stage design. Florence Moore, the head-line incumbent when the Orpheum opened years ago was the feature of the performance. Miss Moore experienced some difficulty in her part in the undulating foot-lights, but she possesses the happy faculty of jollying her audience into a get-together spirit, after which everything is lovely for Miss Moore. To her credit must go the only thing which in the show might have offended the aesthetic-minded in the house. Much more delightful was the performance of the madrigal in several of her songs and dances.

Rettle and clever, Miss Coverdale in her first appearance won her way into the good graces of the house. The best comedy element was offered by John Sparks and Sam Adams, two exceptionally good black-face characters. Novelty dancing received its best exemplification through Goozan and Cox two eccentric dancers who twisted and distorted themselves through almost the impossible. Taken all in all, "Maid In America" is amusement of the undiluted type—in fact a show of the type of that over-worked misnomer, a "tired businessman's show."

WIFE MADE HIM WOO ADOPTED CHILD

her adopted daughter, Yvonne Gouraud. Miskinoff, who swore he had a right to his title, is suing his wife for a separation in order, he says, to ascertain the whereabouts of a daughter born last Spring and spirited away. Mme. Miskinoff has countered with a suit to free herself from the prince.

The paven in this strange marital game is Yvonne, a girl of sixteen, but old for her years. Clad in a black walking suit, a mite of a turban topping her golden hair, she toyed with her fox neckpiece and cuddled close to her foster-mother as the prince told his story yesterday. Now and then her violet blue eyes snapped and she tapped the floor with her high-heeled tan boots.

When the prince, who is thirty-six, stepped to the witness chair he buttoned his single-buttoned cutaway coat, saw that his gray-striped trousers would not bag at the knee and said he would speak in either Russian or French. He used the latter language through an interpreter.

Led by his counsel, he told of his marriage in June, 1914, and then

HOW HE QUIT TOBACCO

This veteran, S. B. Lamphere, was addicted to the excessive use of tobacco for many years. He wanted to quit but needed something to help him.

He learned of a free book that tells how to quit tobacco habit, and immediately ordered it. He got it postpaid, by writing to Edward J. Woods, 92 G. Station E, New York City. Look for quicker nerves, stronger heart, better digestion, improved eyesight, increased vigor, longer life and other advantages if you quit poisoning yourself.

QUIT MEAT WHEN BACK HURTS OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Says Uric Acid in meat clogs Kidneys and irritates Bladder.

A glass of Salts is harmless way to flush Kidneys, says authority.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with all that misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink.—Advertisement.

Mexican Manikin, 2,000 Years Old Discovered

Here is the oldest American antique known, a stone manikin, dating from 100 B. C., and found by a Mexican peon ploughing his fields in the district of San Andres, Tuxtla. It is of conical shape, in jade or nephrite, about 6 1/2 inches in height and 3 1/2 inches in diameter at the base. On it are carved the steps and symbolical figures which were the writing of the ancient Mexicans and by means of which they recorded in stone the history of their race and achievements. But they give no clue to what this figure represents. With the upper part of the head of a man, it combines the bill of a bird, and wings cover its sides. It is an idol, probably, of these ancient people, whose forms of worship are still unknown.

Religion of Nudity

In the latter part of 1914 the trio came to New York and took a suite at the Hotel McAlpin. They had not been here long, the witness said, before the princess asked him to join a religious sect in which she was interested. She told him the members were interesting persons and "would present themselves in very live costumes, mostly nude."

Yvonne was introduced by the prince as an assertive, petulant and wholly delightful girl, who once, when she became angry, seized a carving knife threateningly. When he complained he was told that it was he who had spoiled Yvonne.

PRIPET SWAMP BRISTLES WITH MACHINE GUNS

ing futile in this section at least all Russian efforts to regain lost territory. An Associated Press correspondent, the first to have the opportunity to view the "machine gun front" in and about the Pripet swamps since the September and October, has just returned from a trip along several miles of the swampy frontier line.

Forces Deadlocked

This impression is heightened by the fact that the swamps, from two to ten miles wide, in the region of Pinsk have not once been frozen over entirely during the winter. In fact, the mild weather, with the resultant open swamp land between the German and Russian lines, has made extraordinary fortifications unnecessary thus far. Probably nowhere on any front is the term "stationary warfare" more applicable than in the Pinsk district, where lonely outposts in block-houses erected on tiny islands in the swamps and covered with machine guns give the only real touch of fighting.

Every Yard Fenced

The German lines at Pinsk protrude farthest east of any along the whole front from the Baltic to Galicia. They project in a semi-oval form. The greatest danger to the forces at Pinsk, therefore is a flanking movement from the north—the swamps afford protection from the south. In consequence, the northern lines have been made extremely strong. Not only is every yard of this front fenced in with entanglements 100 to 120 feet wide, but there are supporting points at very short intervals which are veritable fortresses in themselves. They are surrounded by star-shaped barricades of wire.

Live in Dugouts

Each of these supporting points is subdivided into barricaded sections with bomb-proof shelters and with machine guns to fire along both sides of each point of the stars. As a final precaution each supporting point is surrounded by a single wire, stretched high, on which hang ten pairs of empty bottles, which clink the alarm the moment the wire is touched by any person who approaches. A novel feature of the German defense in this section is that the troops are composed almost entirely of crack cavalry regiments, numbering high nobles among their officers. A short time ago they would have scoffed at the idea of being dismounted, but now they live cheerfully in part or wholly underground, riding their horses only for sport in improvised hippodromes. The lot of the troops on this northern flank of the front, however, is happier than that of those east and south of Pinsk, for they have been able to entrench themselves.

Hair Tinting Made Easy

Throw Away Your Eye-Glasses!

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye-strain or other eye-weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing, say they had had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying this prescription for fifteen days every thing without any glasses and my eyes do not wear any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they are fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me. "The atmosphere seemed hazy with-out glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses. It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes and be spared the trouble and expense of eye-getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules here in the prescription: Go to H. C. Kennedy or to any active optician and get a bottle of Optona. Fill a one-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one drop of Optona, shake to dissolve. With this liquid, bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should wear a pair of glasses, twisted and right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are sore, rub the Optona on the eyelids, steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.—Advertisement.

Says Rheumatics Should Not Drink Whisky

Overheats the Blood and Increases Inflammation in Joints and Muscles. Don't drink whisky or any alcoholic beverage unless you want to increase the agony of rheumatism. Keep your feet dry, wear woolen underwear, and drink plenty of water; lemonade is best.

This treatment helps, but if you really want to get rid of rheumatism with its painful, twisting, swollen joints and perpetual agony take one-half teaspoonful of Rheumona.

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS

A Physician's Advice on Cause and Cure. No New York physician was less so made a special study of stomach and intestinal diseases says that nearly all in the stomach, as well as many disorders of the stomach, are directly traceable to a deranged condition of the stomach. This in turn is due about one-third of the time to excessive acidity, commonly termed sour stomach or heartburn, which not only irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, but also may set up gastritis and in a large majority of cases gastritis is accompanied by hyperacidity. It is interesting to note that he condemns the use of patent medicines, and practically all medical treatment that is designed to act upon the stomach lining, stating that the best results are obtained by the use of a simple antacid which acts upon the acidity of the stomach and neutralizes the acidity of the food thus removing the source of the ordinary insurmountable acidity. He says that irritating medicines and medical treatments are useless, and that the only way to cure the stomach is to remove the acidity and there will be no need for medicine—the stomach will heal itself. Sufferers from acidity, sour stomach and heartburn should get a small bottle of "Antacid" from their druggist, and take a teaspoonful in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after each meal. If necessary, the dose which the doctor has found most efficacious in all cases.—Advertisement.

Alkali in Soap Bad For the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mildified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or any thing else you can use. One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses out easily, leaving every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mildified coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.
