

OF INTEREST TO THE WOMEN

FLOUNCED SKIRT FOR SUMMER WEAR

WHAT HAPPENED TO JANE

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

The Daintiest of Thin Frocks Will Be Made in This Fashion

By MAY MANTON

8861 (With Basting Line and Added Seam Allowance) Flounced Skirt, 24 to 32 waist.

This is one of the prettiest skirts of the season for the dance and for all evening occasions. It is very simple too, consisting of only three straight flounces that are arranged over a plain skirt on indicated lines. The pattern gives the flounce and the basting line and it is necessary only to sew on this basting line and follow directions carefully to be sure of success. In one view, the flounces are of lace over a foundation of satin; in another, they are made of marquisette with bands of satin and they are appropriate for every material that is thin enough to be gathered.

The pattern No. 8861 is cut in sizes from 24 to 32 in. waist measure. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents.

Brother Thought Dead Many Years Found in Indiana

Special to the Telegraph
Columbia, Pa., Feb. 22.—Michael Melbert, of New Castle, Ind., is here visiting his brother, Peter Melbert, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Schickling. The latter is critically ill, and it was on that account that Mr. Melbert came East. Thirty-seven years ago, Mr. Melbert left these parts for the West, and having lost track of the members of his family supposed them all dead. Last Sunday, Mrs. James K. Swartz, at whose home Mr. Melbert's sister lives, sent a telegram to New Castle, having acted on a suggestion made by her mother, who was in a delirium, that her brother was still alive and living in Indiana. After considerable difficulty, the supposed address was obtained and in response to the message, the brother appeared. Mr. Melbert is a prosperous retired farmer and is 73 years old.

VISIT
National Cash Register Show, 105 Market street, Harrisburg, Pa.; prices $45 to $960. Sold on easy monthly payments. Costs nothing to investigate. N. R. Black, sales agent.—Advertisement.

ANNUAL MEETING
The annual meeting of the board of directors and active members of the Children's Industrial Home, will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Officers will be elected and reports presented.

INJURY CAUSES DEATH
Special to the Telegraph
Marietta, Pa., Feb. 23.—William Little, 78 years old, died last evening from injuries received when he fell on Christmas Day, 1914, and injured the remaining portion of his left leg that he partly lost in an accident at Cornwall about 20 years ago.

WHY WOMEN WRITE LETTERS

To Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co.

Women who are well often ask "Are the letters which the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. are continually publishing, genuine?" "Are they truthful?" "Why do women write such letters?" In answer we say that never have we published a fictitious letter or name. Never, knowingly, have we published an untruthful letter, or one without the full and written consent of the woman who wrote it.

The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and suffering.

It has relieved women from some of the worst forms of female ills, from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, nervousness, weakness, stomach troubles and from the blues. It is impossible for any woman who is well and who has never suffered to realize how these poor, suffering women feel who are restored to health; their keen desire to help other women who are suffering as they did.

HOME

A NOVEL

By GEORGE AGNEW CHAMBERLAIN

COPYRIGHT BY THE CENTURY CO.

CHAPTER I—Alan Wayne is sent away from Red Hill, his home, by his uncle, J. Y., as a moral failure. Clever days come back. As she lay, pale and thin, but with the glorious light of supreme achievement in her eyes, Mrs. Lansing went on her knees beside the bed and sobbed, "Oh, Alis, I love you so, I love you so!"

CHAPTER II—Captain Wayne tells Alan of the falling of the Waynes. Alan drinks Alan's health on his birthday. CHAPTER III—Judge Healey buys a picture for Alis Lansing. The judge defends Alan in his business with his employers. CHAPTER IV—Alan and Alis meet at sea, homeward bound, and start a flirtation, which becomes serious. CHAPTER V—At home, dance Sterling asks Alan to go away from Alis. Alis is taken to task by Gerry, her husband, for her conduct with Alan and defies him. CHAPTER VI—Gerry, as he thinks, sees Alis and Alan eloping, drops everything, and goes to Pernambuco. CHAPTER VII—Alis leaves Alan on the train and goes home to find that Gerry has disappeared.

CHAPTER VIII—Gerry leaves Pernambuco and goes to Piranhas. On a canoe trip he meets a native girl.

CHAPTER IX—The judge fails to trace Gerry. A baby is born to Alis.

CHAPTER X—Gerry's cablegram to his mother was forwarded to Red Hill on the very day that the judge had gone to tell them that no trace could be found of the missing man. The judge was more down-hearted than ever over Gerry's disappearance and when he found the two women radiating happiness and excitement his heart sank lower still. "I haven't any good news," he said ruefully before he alighted. "Tease him," said Alis in a low tone to Mrs. Lansing. But Mrs. Lansing had found new lines in the judge's tired face and she whispered back, "I can't." She put the cablegram in the judge's hand. "What's this?" he said and read it. Then he gave a war-whoop, caught Alis around the waist and kissed her. The first were gay that night—gay with the joy of happy people happily planning. In a month, say at the most, two months, Gerry could be here. Spring would have come. The Hill would be decked out in full regalia of leaf and blossom. It would be in full commission to meet him. They looked at Alis and Alis seemed to look at herself. He would come into his own as never before.

CHAPTER IX

CHAPTER IX—The judge fails to trace Gerry. A baby is born to Alis. CHAPTER X—Gerry's cablegram to his mother was forwarded to Red Hill on the very day that the judge had gone to tell them that no trace could be found of the missing man. The judge was more down-hearted than ever over Gerry's disappearance and when he found the two women radiating happiness and excitement his heart sank lower still. "I haven't any good news," he said ruefully before he alighted. "Tease him," said Alis in a low tone to Mrs. Lansing. But Mrs. Lansing had found new lines in the judge's tired face and she whispered back, "I can't." She put the cablegram in the judge's hand. "What's this?" he said and read it. Then he gave a war-whoop, caught Alis around the waist and kissed her. The first were gay that night—gay with the joy of happy people happily planning. In a month, say at the most, two months, Gerry could be here. Spring would have come. The Hill would be decked out in full regalia of leaf and blossom. It would be in full commission to meet him. They looked at Alis and Alis seemed to look at herself. He would come into his own as never before.

CHAPTER XI—The judge fails to trace Gerry. A baby is born to Alis. CHAPTER XII—Gerry's cablegram to his mother was forwarded to Red Hill on the very day that the judge had gone to tell them that no trace could be found of the missing man. The judge was more down-hearted than ever over Gerry's disappearance and when he found the two women radiating happiness and excitement his heart sank lower still. "I haven't any good news," he said ruefully before he alighted. "Tease him," said Alis in a low tone to Mrs. Lansing. But Mrs. Lansing had found new lines in the judge's tired face and she whispered back, "I can't." She put the cablegram in the judge's hand. "What's this?" he said and read it. Then he gave a war-whoop, caught Alis around the waist and kissed her. The first were gay that night—gay with the joy of happy people happily planning. In a month, say at the most, two months, Gerry could be here. Spring would have come. The Hill would be decked out in full regalia of leaf and blossom. It would be in full commission to meet him. They looked at Alis and Alis seemed to look at herself. He would come into his own as never before.

CHAPTER XIII—The judge fails to trace Gerry. A baby is born to Alis. CHAPTER XIV—Gerry's cablegram to his mother was forwarded to Red Hill on the very day that the judge had gone to tell them that no trace could be found of the missing man. The judge was more down-hearted than ever over Gerry's disappearance and when he found the two women radiating happiness and excitement his heart sank lower still. "I haven't any good news," he said ruefully before he alighted. "Tease him," said Alis in a low tone to Mrs. Lansing. But Mrs. Lansing had found new lines in the judge's tired face and she whispered back, "I can't." She put the cablegram in the judge's hand. "What's this?" he said and read it. Then he gave a war-whoop, caught Alis around the waist and kissed her. The first were gay that night—gay with the joy of happy people happily planning. In a month, say at the most, two months, Gerry could be here. Spring would have come. The Hill would be decked out in full regalia of leaf and blossom. It would be in full commission to meet him. They looked at Alis and Alis seemed to look at herself. He would come into his own as never before.

CHAPTER XV—The judge fails to trace Gerry. A baby is born to Alis. CHAPTER XVI—Gerry's cablegram to his mother was forwarded to Red Hill on the very day that the judge had gone to tell them that no trace could be found of the missing man. The judge was more down-hearted than ever over Gerry's disappearance and when he found the two women radiating happiness and excitement his heart sank lower still. "I haven't any good news," he said ruefully before he alighted. "Tease him," said Alis in a low tone to Mrs. Lansing. But Mrs. Lansing had found new lines in the judge's tired face and she whispered back, "I can't." She put the cablegram in the judge's hand. "What's this?" he said and read it. Then he gave a war-whoop, caught Alis around the waist and kissed her. The first were gay that night—gay with the joy of happy people happily planning. In a month, say at the most, two months, Gerry could be here. Spring would have come. The Hill would be decked out in full regalia of leaf and blossom. It would be in full commission to meet him. They looked at Alis and Alis seemed to look at herself. He would come into his own as never before.

CHAPTER XVII—The judge fails to trace Gerry. A baby is born to Alis. CHAPTER XVIII—Gerry's cablegram to his mother was forwarded to Red Hill on the very day that the judge had gone to tell them that no trace could be found of the missing man. The judge was more down-hearted than ever over Gerry's disappearance and when he found the two women radiating happiness and excitement his heart sank lower still. "I haven't any good news," he said ruefully before he alighted. "Tease him," said Alis in a low tone to Mrs. Lansing. But Mrs. Lansing had found new lines in the judge's tired face and she whispered back, "I can't." She put the cablegram in the judge's hand. "What's this?" he said and read it. Then he gave a war-whoop, caught Alis around the waist and kissed her. The first were gay that night—gay with the joy of happy people happily planning. In a month, say at the most, two months, Gerry could be here. Spring would have come. The Hill would be decked out in full regalia of leaf and blossom. It would be in full commission to meet him. They looked at Alis and Alis seemed to look at herself. He would come into his own as never before.

CHAPTER XIX—The judge fails to trace Gerry. A baby is born to Alis. CHAPTER XX—Gerry's cablegram to his mother was forwarded to Red Hill on the very day that the judge had gone to tell them that no trace could be found of the missing man. The judge was more down-hearted than ever over Gerry's disappearance and when he found the two women radiating happiness and excitement his heart sank lower still. "I haven't any good news," he said ruefully before he alighted. "Tease him," said Alis in a low tone to Mrs. Lansing. But Mrs. Lansing had found new lines in the judge's tired face and she whispered back, "I can't." She put the cablegram in the judge's hand. "What's this?" he said and read it. Then he gave a war-whoop, caught Alis around the waist and kissed her. The first were gay that night—gay with the joy of happy people happily planning. In a month, say at the most, two months, Gerry could be here. Spring would have come. The Hill would be decked out in full regalia of leaf and blossom. It would be in full commission to meet him. They looked at Alis and Alis seemed to look at herself. He would come into his own as never before.

CHAPTER XXI—The judge fails to trace Gerry. A baby is born to Alis. CHAPTER XXII—Gerry's cablegram to his mother was forwarded to Red Hill on the very day that the judge had gone to tell them that no trace could be found of the missing man. The judge was more down-hearted than ever over Gerry's disappearance and when he found the two women radiating happiness and excitement his heart sank lower still. "I haven't any good news," he said ruefully before he alighted. "Tease him," said Alis in a low tone to Mrs. Lansing. But Mrs. Lansing had found new lines in the judge's tired face and she whispered back, "I can't." She put the cablegram in the judge's hand. "What's this?" he said and read it. Then he gave a war-whoop, caught Alis around the waist and kissed her. The first were gay that night—gay with the joy of happy people happily planning. In a month, say at the most, two months, Gerry could be here. Spring would have come. The Hill would be decked out in full regalia of leaf and blossom. It would be in full commission to meet him. They looked at Alis and Alis seemed to look at herself. He would come into his own as never before.

CHAPTER XXIII—The judge fails to trace Gerry. A baby is born to Alis. CHAPTER XXIV—Gerry's cablegram to his mother was forwarded to Red Hill on the very day that the judge had gone to tell them that no trace could be found of the missing man. The judge was more down-hearted than ever over Gerry's disappearance and when he found the two women radiating happiness and excitement his heart sank lower still. "I haven't any good news," he said ruefully before he alighted. "Tease him," said Alis in a low tone to Mrs. Lansing. But Mrs. Lansing had found new lines in the judge's tired face and she whispered back, "I can't." She put the cablegram in the judge's hand. "What's this?" he said and read it. Then he gave a war-whoop, caught Alis around the waist and kissed her. The first were gay that night—gay with the joy of happy people happily planning. In a month, say at the most, two months, Gerry could be here. Spring would have come. The Hill would be decked out in full regalia of leaf and blossom. It would be in full commission to meet him. They looked at Alis and Alis seemed to look at herself. He would come into his own as never before.

CHAPTER XXV—The judge fails to trace Gerry. A baby is born to Alis. CHAPTER XXVI—Gerry's cablegram to his mother was forwarded to Red Hill on the very day that the judge had gone to tell them that no trace could be found of the missing man. The judge was more down-hearted than ever over Gerry's disappearance and when he found the two women radiating happiness and excitement his heart sank lower still. "I haven't any good news," he said ruefully before he alighted. "Tease him," said Alis in a low tone to Mrs. Lansing. But Mrs. Lansing had found new lines in the judge's tired face and she whispered back, "I can't." She put the cablegram in the judge's hand. "What's this?" he said and read it. Then he gave a war-whoop, caught Alis around the waist and kissed her. The first were gay that night—gay with the joy of happy people happily planning. In a month, say at the most, two months, Gerry could be here. Spring would have come. The Hill would be decked out in full regalia of leaf and blossom. It would be in full commission to meet him. They looked at Alis and Alis seemed to look at herself. He would come into his own as never before.

CHAPTER XXVII—The judge fails to trace Gerry. A baby is born to Alis. CHAPTER XXVIII—Gerry's cablegram to his mother was forwarded to Red Hill on the very day that the judge had gone to tell them that no trace could be found of the missing man. The judge was more down-hearted than ever over Gerry's disappearance and when he found the two women radiating happiness and excitement his heart sank lower still. "I haven't any good news," he said ruefully before he alighted. "Tease him," said Alis in a low tone to Mrs. Lansing. But Mrs. Lansing had found new lines in the judge's tired face and she whispered back, "I can't." She put the cablegram in the judge's hand. "What's this?" he said and read it. Then he gave a war-whoop, caught Alis around the waist and kissed her. The first were gay that night—gay with the joy of happy people happily planning. In a month, say at the most, two months, Gerry could be here. Spring would have come. The Hill would be decked out in full regalia of leaf and blossom. It would be in full commission to meet him. They looked at Alis and Alis seemed to look at herself. He would come into his own as never before.

CUTTING SOCIAL TAPE

By Frederic J. Haskin

[Continued from Editorial Page.]
to meet informally and become real friends instead of knowing each other merely as mannikins in the official punch and Judy show.

The tendency to stay awhile and talk, instead of merely sending the footman in with a card, has led to the revival of the teatable, which had long been discarded by official society. Following the White House precedent of really seeing something to eat instead of merely a nibble and a napkin, these teatables are being more and more generously laden.

The "regular feed" is also a prominent feature this season of the continuing out parties of the numerous Washington debutantes. Each official person who comes to Washington seems to bring about five pounds of the feminine gender, most of whom are more or less burdened with social ambition. Naturally, this heavy importation of feminine loveliness causes a chronic stringency in the man market. The first requisite of social success for a debutante in Washington is a following of males who own dress suits and can dance. As a result, the Washington young man is one of the most fluffed over, overfed and overappreciated individuals in the country. He has become quite a distinct genus, who must be seen to be appreciated—and is not always appreciated then. This is evidenced by the fact that the wives of some foreign diplomats have practically given up formal entertaining because of their inability to appreciate the unconventional hilarity of the young men who swarmed their drawing rooms and could not always be identified by means of the invitation list.

Most of these volunteer society men are college boys, young fellows in the government employ, students for military examinations and others of a carefree and happy-go-lucky status who are naturally inclined to regard society as their oyster.

NEW NOTION FIRM
The Eureka Notion Company, the name of a new Harrisburg firm which will shortly start business at 1010 North Third street. This company will do a wholesale business. The officers are: President, E. L. Bock; vice-president, E. B. Seidle; treasurer, H. J. Forwalt; secretary, Thomas J. George; assistant treasurer, A. W. Dechant.

Remember Sentanel
Physic, Liver Toner, Blood Purifier
10c. All Druggists. Sample Free. Write The Sentanel Remedies Co. (Incorporated) 506 Union Cent. Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Resinol Soap

a friend to tender skins

Any soap will clean your skin—a bar of laundry soap will do if you do not care what becomes of your complexion. But you know that laundry soap contains harsh, drying alkali that would ruin your skin and hair, so you never think of using it for your toilet.

Manyill-made toilet soaps contain this same injurious alkali. Resinol Soap contains absolutely no free alkali, and to it is added the soothing, healing Resinol medication, which doctors have used for over 20 years in treating skin troubles. Thus it comforts tender skins, and helps nature clear the complexion—and keep the hair rich, lustrous and free from dandruff. Sold by all druggists.

Pimples Disappear
There is one remedy that seldom fails to clear away all pimples, black heads and skin eruptions and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy. Any druggist can supply you with zemo, which generally overcomes all skin diseases. Acne, eczema, itch, pimples, rashes, black heads in most cases give way to zemo. Frequently, pimples disappear overnight, itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is safe, clean, easy to use and dependable. It costs only 25c; an extra large bottle, $1.00. It will not stain, is not greasy or sticky and is positively safe for tender, sensitive skins. Zemo, Cleveland.

AT THE MINES

From sources of information available it looks as if April 1 will come without a new agreement between operators and miners. Whether this will precipitate a strike is a difficult question to answer. Perhaps an automatic cessation of work until an agreement is reached. In any event the cost of any concessions will have to be paid by the consumer.

Scarcity of labor owing to the war and shortage of cars to transport coal to the market have made the situation bad enough, let alone threats of a strike.

Buy coal now while there is plenty of it available. Thousands of tons now stored in our yards.

H. M. KELLEY & CO.
1 North Third Street
Tenth and State Streets

When Planning Your Building
don't consider reducing the cost of using inferior lumber. Even when this is not seen, the lumber should be sound and good quality. "Cheap" lumber is responsible for many of the unsightly cracks that appear on the walls.

RUSH!!
Our Quick Delivery
Anything, anywhere, any time. That's the way we deliver goods—with the greatest possible rapidity. Order anything by mail or telephone or messenger and tell us when you want it and we will have it there when you say. No extra charge for this service.

FORNEY'S DRUG STORE
31 N. Second St.

School of Commerce
Troup Building 15 So. Market Sq.
Day and Night School
22d Year
Commercial and Stenographic Courses
Bell Phone 1946-J

Harrisburg Business College
Day and Night
Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Civil Service
329 Market St. Harrisburg, Pa.

OFFICE TRAINING SCHOOL
Kaufman Bldg. Training That Secures
Salary-Increasing Positions
Call or Write for interesting booklet, "The Art of Getting Along in the World." Bell phone 524-R.

Why those Pains?

Here is a testimonial unsolicited

"If I had my will it would be advertised on every street corner. The man or woman that has rheumatism and fails to keep and use Sloan's Liniment is like a drowning man refusing a rope."—A. J. Van Dyke, Lakewood, N. J.

Sloan's Liniment

KILLS PAIN

for RHEUMATISM, SPRAINS, SORE MUSCLES

The New Labor Law

The new Workmen's Compensation Act is now in effect. If you are an employer of labor you should be familiar with every phrase of this most important piece of legislation. We are prepared to supply this act in pamphlet form with side headings for easy reference. Single copies 25c with very special prices on larger quantities.

The Telegraph Printing Co.

PRINTING—BINDING—DESIGNING
PHOTO-ENGRAVING
HARRISBURG, PENNA.

BACON'S COUGH DROPS

—NOW!

D. B. on every drop

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Special to the Telegraph
Elizabeth Penn, Pa., Feb. 23.—The engagement of Miss Ray Treichler to William Klein has been announced.