Entered Civil War When He Was Only 8 Years Old

Special to the Telegraph
Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—General "Johnny" Clem, the drummer boy of Chickamauga, and Abram S. Springsteen, of the Bureau of Pensions, may be compelled to yield the distinction they have long worn as the youngest soldiers enlisted in the Civil War in the Union army. A new aspirant for the honor has just been discovered in Charles Knecht, of St. James, Mo., an inmate of the Federal Soldiers' Home at that place. He has just applied for a pension, giving his age as 62, and asking for an old age pension of $15 a month.

General Clem was born August 13, 1851, and Mr. Springsteen is a trifle younger. The former was only recently retired, and at that time was the only active officer on the list who had seen Civil War service. Mr. Knecht has presented papers showing he was born November 1, 1853, making him two years younger than General Clem.

Mr. Knecht's papers declare he was a member of Company A, Benton Cadets, Missouri Infantry, enlisting at Benton barracks September 15, 1861. His description at the time of his enlistment was Age, eight years; height, three feet six inches. For some unaccountable reason his occupation is given as that of "jewelry." His papers bear the indorsement, "By special order of General Halleck."

Dip Them First in Sea, Then if Love Sticks, Wed

Special to the Telegraph
Portland, Ore., Feb. 23.—Dr. James W. Whitcomb Brougter, pastor of Temple Baptist Church, Los Angeles, has a solution of the marriage riddle. He says he got it while sitting on the bench with Judge Monroe, of Los Angeles, listening to divorce cases. "We agreed deception was the root of the evil," says Dr. Brougter. "Women marry men without finding out enough about them, and, of course, the men don't want to be found out."

"Most of us men have to deceive a woman about ourselves in order to get a wife. I advise every girl to have her father or brother or a detective look up the complete record of a man she wants to marry."

"I advise every man to take his sweetheart swimming at some of our beaches. When she comes up with her hair sleeked down and the paint

Indictments Ordered For "Society Gambling"

Madisonville, Ky., Feb. 23.—Society matrons of Madisonville were perturbed to-day over instructions delivered to the Hopkins county grand jury to investigate all bridge parties and

"indict every woman, no matter who she is, if she is caught playing cards for booty."

"The card table is the ruin of many boys," said Judge Carl Henderson, who delivered the charge, "and that card table is in the home." He spoke of the influence society women exercise on the city and directed the jury "to stop this terrible crime."

"Investigate the society gambling first and then go after the poor negro and ignorant class of people," was Judge Henderson's concluding statement to the jury.
