CHURCH METHODS OFTEN CHANGE Christian Message and Mission, However, Are Eternally Unchanged CONSERVE SPIRITUALITY Too Many Ministerial Committeemen, Managers and Errand Boys By William T. Ellis When Men and Religion "experts" flew about the land with their slogan of "efficiency" they were hailed as a new force and as bearers of a new message. As a matter of fact, they really only illustrated the truth that Christians have to get back to the New Testament to be up to date, for a better program of efficiency than theirs was laid down for itself by the early church in Jerusalem, as succinctly told in the seven verses from the sixth chapter of Acts which constitute this Sunday school lesson. "Now in these days, when the number of disciples was multiplying, there arose among the Grecian Jews against the Hebrews, because their widows were neglected in the daily ministrations. And the twelve called the multitude of the disciples unto them, and said, It is not fit that we should forsake the word of God, and serve tables. Look ye out therefore, brethren, from among you seven men of good report, full of the spirit and of wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business. But we will continue steadfastly in prayer, and in the ministry of the word. And the saying pleased the whole multitude and they chose Stephen, a man full of faith, and of the Holy Spirit, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a proselyte of Antioch; whom they set before the apostles; and when they had laid their hands upon them, "And the word of God increased; and the number of the disciples multiplied in Jerusalem exceedingly; and a great company of the priests were obedient to the faith." Unrest and Life Some timorous souls are disturbed by the discontent evident in the Apostolic church. Wherever there is life there is movement and unrest. All progress is a series of adjustments. The one place of perfect placidity is the graveyard, and often the city's advance causes that to be dug and built over. A big hint is hidden, not very deeply, in this New Testament episode, to the effect that the form and usage of the Christian church is not a fixed and rigid thing, to which all generations should conform, but an adaptation to the changing needs and conditions of every century. I pity the pastor of a local congregation who is dominated by a few "conservative" members who want things done in the good old way. The message and mission of the church are eternally unchanged; but her methods may vary from year to year. Some one has said that the two angels of progress are the angel of birth and the angel of death; both bring changes. In this instance it was growth that caused the church to modify her methods. That growth, as Dr. Torrey points out, was not by addition, but by multiplication. Such an accession of new life made changes inevitable. An old-new evil seems to have developed early in the Jerusalem church; too few men had too much responsibility. The whole load was on the shoulders of the apostles. They were the busiest men in the city. No man can do efficiently as many kinds of work as were required of them. I talked with a layman recently who had been, until his day of self-empowerment, a member of twenty-eight boards, committees and societies. Obviously, no one man could do effective work in so many different capacities. Even the apostles, trained in the presence of Christ Himself, were not equal to the burdens laid on them by the rapidly growing church. One Man, One Job "We must save ourselves for our highest work," said the apostles. That is a good life rule for every-

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. Do this to-night, and by morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advertisement.

body. We must confess that even the apostles were not a success at work for which they were not suited. "To every man his work" is a Scripture that needs often to be preached upon. If the churches to-day would adopt the motto, "One man, one job" there would be a swift increase in efficiency. The dearth of Christian leaders "leading men" must hold most of the offices in a congregation is a grave mistake. It cuts in several directions. The busy good men do not put their whole powers into any one task, so that the work suffers. Others who might do the work, are kept therefrom, to the loss of themselves and the church. That is a wise fashion which is growing in many churches of adopting the rotary system of office-bearing, with a compulsory year of retirement between terms. The plan promotes efficiency as well as democracy. Our dearth of Christian leaders is partly due to the unwise concentration of offices in a few men. A golden word, fit to be embossed and kept on his desk by every minister of the gospel, was spoken by the apostles when they declared "It is not fit that we should leave the word of God and serve tables." Let all the congregation cry "Amen!" Back to your books and to your prayer closet, brother pastor. The church of to-day is suffering from intellectual and spiritual barrenness in the pulpits. We have raised up a breed of ministerial committeemen and managers and errand boys and social ornaments and after dinner speakers. All the while the people are groaning for more of power in the sermon and prayer and family visitation. A famous Englishman once told a committee of parishioners: "Here are my feet and here is my head; chose which end of me you will have." They chose the pulpit power and got a share of pastoral headaches. This present Sunday school lesson is one that should be studied in every theological seminary and preachers' meeting in the land; for its principal point is "Shoemaker, stick to your last; and preacher, put your first work first." Spiritual Conservation When a bit of business was to be done efficiently in the Apostolic church they did not seek out the men who had the highest rating in the Jerusalem Bradstreet, or who ran the biggest business in the city. The modern notion that only commercial efficiency is needed on the board of trustees had not arisen to plague those early saints. For the somewhat temporary work of the deacons, the apostles said, "Look ye out therefore, brethren, from among you seven men of good report, full of the Spirit and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business." Spiritual power for somewhat secular service; that is the idea. The trustees and deacons and ushers and sexton all need to be men of spiritual force. I was stirred to see a fine tablet on the wall of a leading Houston, Texas, church commemorating the long and faithful and Christian service of a sexton, in the fashionable Church of the Covenant, Washington, the sexton is a member of the deaconate. Indeed it takes more grace to run the secular affairs of some churches than to preach the sermon. A crown worn forever by the laity is that it was a layman, one of these seven deacons of the Jerusalem church, who was the first Christian martyr. Any work done for God is sacred. Ministry to babes is not less holy than ministry of the word, if it be one's duty. Dr. Washington Gladden finely says: "O Master, let me walk with Thee in lowly paths or service free; Tell me Thy secret; help me bear The strain of toil, the fret of care. Help me the slow of heart to move By some clear winning word of love; Teach me the wayward feet to stay, And guide them in the homeward way. Teach me Thy patience; still with Thee, In closer, dearer company, In work that keeps faith sweet and strong, In trust that triumphs over wrong. In hope that sends a shining ray Far down the future's broadening way; In peace that only Thou canst give, With Thee, O Master, let me live."

WHY "ANURIC" IS AN INSURANCE AGAINST SUDDEN DEATH! Sufferers From Backache, Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble. Before an Insurance Company will take a risk on your life the examining physician will test the urine and report whether you are a good risk. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headache, dizzy spells, or the twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism and gout. The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment; channels often get sore and sleep is disturbed two or three times a night. This is the time you should consult some physician of wide experience—such as Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Send him 19c. for large trial package of his new discovery—"Anuric." Write him your symptoms and send a sample of urine for test. "Anuric" is the most powerful agent in dissolving uric acid, as hot water melts sugar, besides being absolutely harmless and is endowed with other properties, for it preserves the kidneys in a healthy condition by thoroughly cleansing them. Being so many times more active than lithia, it clears the heart valves of any sandy substances which may clog them and checks the degeneration of the blood-vessels, as well as regulating blood pressure. "Anuric" is a regular insurance and life-saver for all big meat eaters and those who deposit lime-salts in their joints. Ask the druggist for "Anuric" put up by Dr. Pierce, in 50-cent packages. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for the liver and bowels have been favorably known for nearly 50 years.—Advertisement.
