HUPMOBILE HAS RAPID GROWTH

Increased Capitalization and Purchase of Other Plants For Making Parts

"Hupmobile success has recently compelled a large increase of the capitalization of the company, as well as the acquisition by purchase of the American Gear and Manufacturing Company," says E. C. Ensminger, local Hupmobile distributor.

"Only a few weeks ago the information was given to the public that in order to manufacture on a larger scale, the Hupmobile Company had attracted a large amount of cash which would bring its capitalization up to $5,000,000.

"The American Gear Company has for years been one of the most prominent of builders of automobile parts. It manufactured the first axle which were used on the Hupmobile '20,' and has since been the main axle source of the Hupmobile '20' car.

"Not a great deal of change has been made in the latest models," says Ensminger in commenting on the developments of the year. "The greatest difference is to be found in the price. There is an average reduction of about $115 per car.

"The crankshaft and its bearings have been materially increased in size, the connecting rods are lengthened and the valves are one-quarter inch larger. The result is vibration reduced to a minimum, a powerful, smooth running motor.

"The Series Hupmobile has new multiple disc clutch, with more plates and more springs. The result is a smooth and powerful operating clutch.

"Similar refinements have marked the development of the chassis. The new Hupmobile has the improved Zenith carburetor, the cooling system reaches a minimum efficiency. The ignition system is the improved Atwater-Kent.

"For 1916 the Hupmobile is equipped with an improved starting and lighting system. It is the same as has been used on some of the highest priced of American and foreign cars.

"There are many other distinctive features which the Hupmobile that merit mention. Fenders, radiator and motor bonnet are enameled and baked, a finish which does not chip and permanently remains its luster.

"On the Hupmobile is an exclusive type of rain-vision windshield which keeps out the rain and gives clearest vision.

"By doing its body painting in its own shops, the Hupmobile Company claims better color, better finish and longer wear.

"There are seven types of Hupmobiles this year. These include a seven passenger touring car, a five-passenger touring car, a five-passenger roadster, having a rear deck compartment for spare tires and a luggage compartment accessible from the sea, a two-passenger all-year coupe, a seven passenger limousine, a five-passenger Sedan and a seven passenger touring car. The range of prices is from $1085 to $2385.

"The strength of this line is greatly enhanced by the high-class service which the company supports.

"But this year the Hupmobile Company has taken charge of service to its cars all over the country. With the purchase of a car, coupons are issued to customers for $25 worth of repairs.

"The coupons are assessed $20 when purchasing cars; in other words, their discount is reduced by $20. This 80 per cent. of the free repairs allowed to owners of the car. The remaining 20 per cent. of the coupons give the user the right to $25 worth of labor on repairs and adjustments at Hupmobile service stations in the United States and Canada.

"This is one of the most radical efforts ever made by an automobile company for the protection of its customers. It is typical of Hupmobile methods."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 28.—In the next few weeks the army bill, increasing Federal aid to the States' militia to make States' guards the second line of defense, will begin its legislative progress in the House.

"The announcements came very close together and are twin proofs of a most important expansion on part of a company that had a lot to do with advancing the popularity of the low-priced car.

"The continental army plan advanced by Secretary Garrison and the army experts cannot succeed by adoption.

"The continental army plan sought to provide as a military line of defense second to the regular army a reserve of 400,000 civilians, with at least six months of military training to their credit, this body to be entirely under Federal control. It is proposed under the army bill to increase the Federal appropriations to the National Guard, and in case of war to take over the entire regiments and their officers.

"There can be no national militia until the Constitution is so amended that the organizing and training of the militia becomes a function of the Federal Government. This is the opinion of all experts, including Henry S. Breckenridge, who recently resigned as Assistant Secretary of War.

"There is no subject of such wide interest now before Congress. Therefore Representative Thomas S. Crago, of Pennsylvania, who has seen service in the National Guard and in the Philippines, was asked to formally reply to the adverse criticisms being directed at the House Military Committee and Congress by the opposition in the National Guard bill. Mr. Crago is a member of the House Military Committee and is fully conversant with the discussion of the bill.

CRAGO DEFENDS NATIONAL GUARD

Penna. Representative Says It Has Advanced; Not a Political Asset

Washington, D. C., Feb. 28.—In the next few weeks the army bill, increasing Federal aid to the States' militia to make States' guards the second line of defense, will begin its legislative progress in the House. This subject, upon which, among others, Secretary Garrison broke with President Wilson, has the support of a predominant majority in the House. A poll shows that the continental army plan advanced by Secretary Garrison and the army experts cannot succeed by adoption.

"The continental army plan sought to provide as a military line of defense second to the regular army a reserve of 400,000 civilians, with at least six months of military training to their credit, this body to be entirely under Federal control. Crago, of Pennsylvania, who has seen service in the National Guard and in the Philippines, was asked to formally reply to the adverse criticisms being directed at the House Military Committee and Congress by the opposition in the National Guard bill.

"Not a Political Asset. "I must use the National Guard of Pennsylvania as an example, because I can speak of it from first-hand information. All of us who have been connected with the Guard, realize its defects, but we also realize that, with even the limited encouragement given by the Federal Government, great advances have been made in its efficiency within the last 10 years.

"The National Guard, have played a very minor part. No real competition officer has ever been refused promotion by reason of party politics, and the commission have in no case within my knowledge been regarded as political assets. The matter of building up national defense is not now and never should be a matter of party politics. On such questions we should rise higher than the thought of obtaining partisan advantage. What I think the people should realize is that the retaining by the States of the appointments of the officers of a volunteer force for national use will be less dangerous, and less subject to abuse by unscrupulous politicians, than putting this great power in the hands of any one man.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach liver, bowels.

Give "California Syrup of Figs" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste.

When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours the pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Mother can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs"; then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Thankful For Relief Remedy Brought Her

Says Fruitola and Traxo Possesses All the Merit That Is Claimed For It

After completing the necessary treatment, Mrs. S. S. Cole, Lampasas, Texas, was so well pleased with the results that she wrote the Pinus laboratories as follows: "Fruitola and Traxo are all you claim. It removed a quantity of gall-stones and I feel sure it saved my life. I am well now and thankful to you for the great good your medicine has done me."

Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs and one dose is usually sufficient to clearly demonstrate its efficacy. It softens the congested masses, disintegrates the hardened particles that occasion so much suffering and expels the accumulated waste to the great relief of the patient. Following a course of Fruitola, Traxo should be taken three or four times a day in order to rebuild and restore the system that has become weakened and run down from constant suffering. It is a splendid tonic, acting on the liver and stomach most beneficially.

Fruitola and Traxo are prepared in the Pinus laboratories at Monticello, Ill., and arrangements have been made to supply them through representative druggists. In Harrisburg they can be obtained at Gorgas, the Druggist, 16 North Third street, P. R. R. Station.
