HOW ABOUT THAT RIVER BOATHOUSE?

'Hardscrabble' Possibilities and Approach of Spring Set Canoeists Thinking

SOME PRIVATE PLANS Place to Store Hundreds of Craft Essential; Municipal Pavilion Advocated

Recent discussion in City Council of the "Hardscrabble" problem combined with the near approach of open canoeing season has set the hundreds of canoeists throughout Harrisburg pondering—the question, storage and rental facilities during the coming summer.

That there is need for a boathouse commodious enough to accommodate the several hundred light water craft goes without saying, and the possibilities of eliminating "Hardscrabble" has revived the talk of erecting a municipal boathouse.

Both Commissioner Bowman and ex-Commissioner Taylor had plans in view for constructing a permanent municipally-owned or controlled boathouse along the River Wall at "Hardscrabble" when the section should be formally condemned and taken over by the city. No definite action, however, was ever taken.

During the last few weeks several drawings for private boathouses have been prepared, including a set by George Reist, a South Harrisburg man, and another by the Engineers' Society of Pennsylvania. Whether any private concessionaire would have the right to occupy River Wall space for this purpose should the matter be carried into the courts, is considered a legal problem that might involve a wide discussion. Canoeists, however, have had no tip from either A. P. Dintaman nor Harry J. Berrier, the two big boat pavilion owners of "Hardscrabble," relative to removal, and this has served thus far to ease the minds of scores of youths who had been wondering what they might have to do for a place to keep their canoes.

MAUSOLEUM AT PAXTANG PLANNED

Will Be Possible to Entomb Several Hundred Under Co-operative Burial Plan

An important and distinctive movement along the line of civic improvement for this city is now well under way, and it is practically assured that within a short time Harrisburg will boast of one of the finest memorial mausoleums to be found in this country. For several years the directors of Paxtang Cemetery have been investigating mausoleums, their construction and general desirability. Their experience as cemetery men has led them to believe that a great majority of the people have a horror of earth burial, but they realized that, but very few have been able to provide other means because of the excessive cost attending the construction of private tombs. In order to make mausoleum entombment possible for those who desire it, it is proposed to erect under a co-operative plan of construction and endowment a beautiful mausoleum in which several hundred persons may be entombed and the remains cared for under the most highly sanitary and scientific method possible.

The building planned for Paxtang will be constructed entirely of granite, marble, bronze and concrete reinforced with steel. In design the building will be of Doric architecture, simple, massive and stately. It is stated that the cost of entombment under this co-operative plan will be little, or no more, than for ordinary earth burial. After the building is completed, it will be endowed in a sufficient sum to insure its perpetual care and maintenance.

It is interesting to learn that within the past eight years more than three hundred of these mausoleums have been erected throughout the United States and Canada; therefore, Harrisburg is not the first city to take up this new method of entombment, but the plans would indicate that the building planned for Harrisburg will be one of the best yet constructed and situated, as it will be, in one of the best locations in Paxtang, commanding a beautiful view of the countryside. It will be an ornament to the cemetery, a tribute to the civic spirit of the people of Harrisburg and an everlasting monument to the memory of those who sleep within its portals.

STEAMER SUNK WITHOUT WARNING

attack was contrary to the assurances the United States has secured from the central powers.

One American Hurt
Paris, March 11.—Seven of the crew of the Norwegian bark Silius, which was torpedoed and sunk yesterday, were Americans. The Silius left New York February 4 for Havre.

The Petit Parisian says that one of the Americans on the Silius was injured seriously in his legs and was taken to the Pasteur hospital. He is John Hartmann, 18 years old. The Silius was a 1,500-ton three-master, formerly the British bark Holly.

It is reported that Captain Syvertsen, of the Silius, was drowned and two sailors are missing. The rest of the crew was saved.

NEW YORK SAYS FOUR
New York, March 11.—There were only four Americans aboard the Norwegian bark Silius, which was torpedoed without warning near Havre, according to agents of the line here, and they were members of the crew. She carried no passengers.

The Americans were David Sherman, of Bedford, Mass.; John Warburton, of Philadelphia; Daniel Norah, of Connecticut, and Henry Monahan, of Boston.

The bark, which was commanded by Captain A. E. Syvertsen, sailed from New York, February 4, for Havre, with a cargo of 2,290 tons of barley shipped from San Francisco. The Silius had a crew of seventeen men.

WAITING FOR BABY, WOMAN HELD BY VILLA

he preferred to have her die of exhaustion rather than to kill her outright—and because she proved to be able to withstand hardship better than his own men he promised he would release her after he had sacked Columbus. He also agreed to give her $100 gold and a permit to travel unmolested throughout any part of the Villa territory.

Expects Outside Aid
"Villa" talked to me twice," Mrs. Wright said. "I avoided talking with him because he would have thought I admired him, and would have forced me to accompany him. He told his officers how he would wipe out the town of Columbus and then when the United States tried to invade Mexican territory, Germany and Japan would step in to interfere. Villa believed this firmly. I have overheard him make such remarks from time to time. Whether some agents of these two countries are making him believe this, or whether it is an idea which came to him, I do not know. But he is convinced that he will be assisted in the fight he has started."

"How I wanted to escape to tell the people of Columbus about the attack. But I was watched all the time. The first night I was allowed to sleep in an abandoned adobe house which was prepared for me. About thirty saddles were piled in front of the door. The guards slept with their heads to the door and their feet to a fire just beyond.

Tries to Escape
"I lay down, but not to sleep. About midnight I heard the snoring of the Mexican guards. I peeped through the opening of the saddles and spied Villa's charger, a splendid steed, about fifty feet from the hut. One by one I removed the saddles and stepped over the sleeping forms until I reached the horse.

"The horse was tangled in his rope. I began to untangle the horse and then one of the Mexicans turned over. He saw something was wrong. I stood behind the horse. But the horse refused to stand still and it kept me busy keeping behind the animal. Finally the guard came out to where the horse was.

"What are you doing here?" he asked. "Untangling the horse," I replied. Then he finished the task I started. I lunged for a hatpin, a dagger, a penknife, anything to kill the man. I could have shot him, had I had a gun. But if I could have killed him I would have escaped, since none of the other horses could have overtaken me. I returned to the hut. From then on I was watched constantly until I was released at Columbus."

Frederick Mosen to Show Interesting Views in History Society Lecture Wed. day

Some real first-hand views of the very country through which eager cavaliers of Uncle Sam's army are searching for one Francisco Villa and his followers, will be included in the interesting collection of pictures in Technical High School, Wednesday, March 15. The lecture will be given under the direction of the Harrisburg Natural History Society, and Mr. Mosen's subject will be "Wonders and Perils of American Deserts."

Mr. Mosen is a noted artist, explorer and lecturer and his talk and pictures drive right home the weary, dreary fact covered wastes and sand storms, Death Valley, and what follows when one is arrested by Mexican rurales.
