WORK IN PERRY LICENSE FIGHT

Agent in Charge of Remonstrances Presented to Court Issues Statement

Special to the Telegraph Newport, Pa., March 14.—The Rev. R. M. Ramsey, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Newport, who had charge of the work of securing signers to remonstrances against the liquor licenses in Perry county and particularly in Newport, and presenting the same to the court has issued the following statement: "The agent entrusted with the Newport remonstrances would thank the good people of Newport, the town council, the officers of the town, and the Rev. Mr. Whitmer, and Mr. Coble for their assistance. "There was on one remonstrance 275 names, on another 375 and on a third 402. No names were called in question on any remonstrance save on the town council's paper. Quite a little blackguardism was indulged in by the wet counsel but no one hopes for true and honest dealings from any one connected with the business directly or indirectly. "The agent confesses that he was mistaken in assuring people that Judge Meiser was not a wet candidate. Counsel for the wets declared him to be such at least ten times in open court, the judges and lawyers present took down the votes in his presence as votes for him as wet, and during the whole discussion he said not a word in protest as he did to us all when he was running for the office. One remonstrance stood 375 to 19, or over 19 to one, the electors 171 to 19, or exactly 9 to 1. Yet he voted against the remonstrance. His name also appeared on all three applications for license, two years ago when all three were shown to be lawbreakers. It was a gross injustice to us that he should sit on the case, apart from question of right or wrong.

WOMAN FORFEITS PROPERTY INCOME

Court Decides She Has Not "Lead Christian Life" Within Meaning of Will

Special to the Telegraph Sunbury, Pa., March 14.—An unusual will case was decided by Judge Moser in the Northumberland county probate court here yesterday. More than fifteen years ago John Kanaskie died at Shamokin, leaving the Hotel Polaski and other property, said to be worth $25,000. In his will he directed that his widow, Mary Kanaskie, should have the income of the property as long as she lived, provided she remained a widow and "lead a Christian life." Should she fall to do this the property was to go to Mrs. Albert Wiczeorec, Mrs. Walter Smilgieski, and Leon Kanaskie, children of the couple. Since then it is alleged in a petition to have the property taken from her hands, the widow has become dissolute, used liquor and is alleged to be immoral. The court upheld the allegation that she has not "lead a Christian life" within the meaning of the will, and, for that reason, is not further entitled to the income of the property.

STATE CORN SHOW FOR HARRISBURG

[Continued From First Page.] big show after the other shows have ended. The plan was heartily endorsed by Governor Brumbaugh who also addressed the county fair people assuring them of his interest and his desire to give as much State aid as possible, asking that in return the fair make an effort to increase agriculture exhibits.

The association is having its annual meeting at the Boltz House and discussing means to get more State aid for premiums. Secretary Patton said that at some of the fairs too little attention was given to secure large exhibits of farm products and that the premiums were not ample to attract the farmers to take his fruits, livestock, vegetables and crops from the farm to the fair for prizes. Mr. Patton pointed out the help that these agricultural exhibits can be to every community, inasmuch as they create a keen rivalry. He said that the Department was planning to hold a State wide corn and apple show at Harrisburg next January in connection with the meetings of the State Board of Agriculture and other allied organizations. One of the classes will be known as the County Fair Prize-winners' Class to which only winners of county fair prizes will be eligible. Through this contest it is hoped to create greater interest in the county prizes for the fair associations producing the most meritorious exhibits. The sweepstakes prizes will be of considerable value, the total value of prizes to aggregate over $500.
