

An Offer By Local Druggists

Now Have New "External" Treatment That They Are Selling on 30-Days' Trial.

Money Refunded If It Does Not Relieve Cold Troubles Quicker Than Internal Medicines.

The leading druggists, whose names are given below, have recently imported from the South the new external treatment, known as Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve. No one knows better than the trained chemist the injurious effect of "internal" medicines, especially on children. In order to demonstrate to their customers the advantages of this external treatment, these druggists have arranged to sell Vick's in either 25c, 50c, or $1.00 sizes on 30 days' trial, giving with each sale a refund blank, good for your money back if you are not delighted.

For croup and cold troubles Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" is applied over the throat and chest, covering with a warm flannel cloth. The vapors released by the body heat quickly loosen the choking phlegm, and clear the air passages. In severe cases, first apply hot wet towels to open the pores. Vick's is then absorbed through the skin, taking out the tightness and soreness. Croup is usually relieved in fifteen minutes, and the worst colds commonly over night.

This double treatment—absorption through the skin and inhalation as a vapor, makes Vick's useful for a wide range of troubles, from head colds, asthma and catarrh, down to sore throat, bronchitis, hacking coughs and deep chest colds.

OLD CONTRACT NOT A BARRIER

Public Service Commission Will Go Into Details of An Important Case

The New Jersey Zinc Company of Pennsylvania, which complained to the Public Service Commission against the proposed increase of the charges for the transportation of coal from the Lehigh and Wyoming regions to Hazard and Palmerton by the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, alleging that the new rates were unreasonable and excessive, will get a hearing on the case very soon.

From the facts presented to the commission it appeared that in 1898 a contract was entered into between the zinc company and the railroad company by which the railroad company agreed to transport culm, rice and buckwheat coal to the plants of the zinc company about to be erected at Hazard and Palmerton at rates not to exceed 25 and 31 cents per gross ton, respectively, for a period of twenty years, and as long as the company continued to operate its plants at the two points named. On October 1, 1912, the railroad company published a new tariff, increasing the rates for this transportation from 26 cents to 60 cents and from 31 cents to 75 cents, and the enforcement of the new rates was later restrained by the common pleas court of the county of Philadelphia, the court suggesting in its order that the matter should be raised before the Public Service Commission after January 1, 1914, when the public service company law went into effect. This complaint was accordingly filed and the matter presented to the commission.

The zinc company contended before the commission that the commission should pass upon the validity of the contract above mentioned before considering the question of the reasonableness and legality of the proposed increased rates, alleging that the contract was binding and precluded the railroad company from increasing the rates during the time mentioned. The only matters presented to the commission were the questions of the right of the parties to make this contract and its effect in view of the passage of the public service company law.

The commission in its report discusses the effect which the public service company law may have upon the right to make such a contract and the questions which are raised before the commission by an allegation that a lawfully published rate is unreasonable, unjust and discriminatory. It decides that the public service company law gives the commission such administrative discretion over the subject of discrimination in rates that it is required to proceed to a hearing and investigation of all matters pertinent to such subject, and that the existence of a contract which the courts might have declared nondiscriminatory. The commission also held that, even if it were to be decided that the rates fixed in the contract could not be deemed to be unjustly discriminatory, nevertheless the obligation of the contract does not extend to prevent the railroad company from charging such rates as are just and reasonable.

Based upon those two conclusions, the commission directed the parties to present such facts as they desired upon the question of the reasonableness of the increased rates complained of.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage. Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the muss' mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that softer and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

CHIEF OF ROMAN FAMILY IS DEAD

Achieved Notoriety in Famous Feud With McCuskers in Maryland

Special to the Telegraph
Hagerstown, Md., March 17.—Richard Roman, aged 75, head of the celebrated Roman family living in the mountains above Hancock along the Fulton county line, who achieved notoriety because of a family feud between the Roman and McCusker families, was found dead in bed at his home in Long Hollow yesterday from heart trouble. Roman had been in Hancock and returned home apparently in good health. He was the father of Jeff Roman, who was shot and killed by Claude McCusker, who is now serving 13 years in the penitentiary for his crime. For weeks after the tragedy the elder Roman searched the mountains for McCusker and finally shot and wounded him. McCusker fled into Pennsylvania and was arrested later at Greensburg and brought here for trial. Less than a year ago Mr. Roman was severely beaten by one of the McCuskers, but he recovered from his injuries. He is survived by his widow and eleven children.

WHAT IS WORTH WHILE

Any amusement that leaves us in a spiritual cloud is not amusement that is worth while. Any amusement that hinders our power to help others is not worth while. Any amusement that leaves memories which we may regret when home-making time comes is not worth while. Any amusement that may deflect the life of another from the things that are purest and best is not worth while. Any amusement that cannot be squared up with the principles of love and helpfulness is not worth while. Furthermore, think of the myriads of little children and young people who are deprived year after year of their rightful heritage of play. The pressure of poverty, of toil, of wretchedness fills day and night. That poison of fatigue is never eliminated; minds and bodies and souls are ground to pieces in the terrific pressure of to-day's industrialism. Study up the work of the American Playground Association; the welfare work of the social settlements; if your church is in a neighborhood where these things can be done, get your organizations busy at it. Wherever your home or your church may be, find some people who need the blessing of play and help them to find it.—The Christian Herald.
