TRAIL ALONG WHICH VILLA FLED LESS THAN TWO WEEKS AGO IS WELL WORN MILITARY HIGHWAY

On Line of March, American Army, Mexico, March 23, via Courier to Columbus, N. M. — The trail along which Pancho Villa retreated from Columbus less than two weeks ago is a broad, well-worn highway, visible at some points for miles as it winds over and around the hills in Northern Chihuahua. The road is an evidence of the efficiency of the American army which, in a week's time, has converted the trail across a semi-desert into a military road, the main artery for supplies to General Pershing's punitive column.

Not Ideal Highway

This new road is not an ideal highway, but it serves the purpose. The big gray automobile trucks which carry the supplies for the ton have cut ruts so deep in the bottomless sand and gravel that at some places there is no longer clearance for the axles and parallel roads have been laid out alongside the old trail. At intervals of a few miles each, all day can be seen what appear to be huge clouds of gray smoke. These mark the positions of the moving supply trains, or cavalry patrols, squads of signal corps men on military automobiles. On the individual initiative and skill of the American soldier and his officers depends the success of moving supplies over these Mexican roads.

Dispatch Riders' Skill

Motorcycle dispatch riders aid their machines by vigorous use of their legs. As the motorcycles plunge into the ruts or dip into sand piles, their riders stick out a leg on each side as a prop, coke the engine and as the machine topples inevitably to one side or other, they give a kick with whichever foot comes most handy to straighten up the machine and they go roaring ahead again.

The great plains and the mountains bordering the road are mostly devoid of every sign of life. But occasionally on a distant hill a signal flag wig-wagging shows where an American lookout is on watch.

Marching or riding, the troops find much of the road uncomfortable for travel because the mountain winds drive the sand into the men's faces with a sting as sharp as winter sleet.

The body of H. J. McKinney, the American ranchman, killed by Villa on the Mexican side of the border the night before the Columbus raid, has been found by American troops. It was near the Boca Grande, McKinney had been hanged and his clothing was ripped where he had been repeatedly stabbed.

March 26 Miles in 8 Hours

While the celebrated ride of the American cavalrymen 110 miles in 42 hours marching time was heralded throughout the United States, the work of the infantry following behind the cavalry went unnoticed. One command carrying full infantry equipment and packs of about 45 pounds marched 25 miles in about eight hours. This was over rocky roads covered with stone or else in places where the dust drifted over them like a heavy fog.

GRAVE DIGGER CRIES AS HE TELLS OF KEEPING FAMILY ON $40 A MONTH

Arlington Worker Appears Before House Committee to Plead For Bill Raising Pay to $3 a Day; Never Has Meat to Eat

By Associated Press

Washington, March 22.—A grave digger from Arlington National Cemetery told the House committee considering the Nolan wage bill for government employees how he managed to keep his little family together on $40 a month and fell into tears in the midst of his recital. The bill proposes a minimum wage of $3 a day for federal workers.

The man, who represented the grave diggers in the cemetery came fresh from his work. Wet clay clung to his worn shoes and tattered coat. He started his story boldly enough but as he progressed telling how it was impossible for him to buy meat for his wife and two children, tears came to his eyes, his chin quivered and finally his words became inaudible.

Never Has Meat
"Out of $40 a month," he said, "I pay $8 for rent, $5 for carfare and the other $27 pays all our other expenses. We eat beans and hominy principally. We never have meat. Even beans and hominy are going up. I remember when beans were eight cents a quart, now they are twenty.

"Those graves are hard to dig. We have five to dig to-day, and look how it is raining. Many a time I have been up to my knees in water and mud, digging and digging just for the sake of my wife and children. Eight years I have been there and when I ask for a raise they say 'well, you know what you can do if you don't like it.' God knows how we would have lived if my wife had not taken in some sewing."

Other witnesses testified that as a result of small wages installment houses thrive on the workers.

ELECTRIC SEWING MACHINE FOR DOMESTIC USE
"One of the latest conveniences to be introduced for the modern housewife is an electric sewing machine of moderate cost," says the Popular Mechanics Magazine, in an illustrated article. "This is not an ordinary foot-power apparatus with a motor attachment, but an electrically driven machine specially designed. It may be connected with a house lighting circuit just the same as a flatiron or fan, and operated at a low charge without any physical exertion whatever. The motor is compactly housed and permanently attached where it is out of sight, but within easy access. A light pressure with a foot upon the treadle starts the machine. Its speed is accelerated by increasing the pressure slightly. The needle stops almost instantly when the foot is removed. It is a matter of but a few seconds to change the machine so that it may be driven by foot power, if desired."
