What Paris Decees

The Paris authorities give military a wide variety of styles for each designer seems to have a pet type. Lewis and Rebox both feature the small high crowned hat, and the French Room at Astrich's shows some charming models exploiting both designer's methods of treatment. The smart wing effects and stiff bows of the Lewis type are as chic, as the soft fluffy tuile, and full showy trimmings of Rebox are charming, and prices on all models, even French Room creations at the Astrich store are exceedingly low.

Becoming Footwear

It is the design, the cut, and the last of a shoe that either improves the appearance of the foot or detracts from it, and it is because particular attention is paid to these things that Walk-Over Shoes always look so well on the foot. The Walk-Over Boot Shop, 225 Market street is showing some charming styles in pumps, each of unique design and one of the smartest models is in patent leather with just a hint of the Colonial in the slight extension of the vamp up the instep which gives the pump a very beautiful line on the foot.

LARGE INSTITUTE FOR TEMPERANCE

Dauphin County Union Holds Two Interesting Meetings at Hummelstown

The Dauphin county temperance institute, held yesterday at Hummelstown, was largely attended and most interesting. The United Brethren Church, where both sessions were held, was attractively decorated in palms, ferns and white ribbons, with temperance posters and banners, and the music was of the highest order.

In the afternoon Mrs. M. M. Steese, county president of the W. C. T. U., presided, and after devotional exercises, led by Mrs. Margaret Ellenberger, Mrs. S. O. Goho conducted a superintendents' round table. These representatives were Mrs. St. Clair, of the mothers' department; Mrs. Steese, peace; Mrs. John F. Kob, anti-vice; Mrs. Ellenberger, prisons and purity; Mrs. Rollins, scientific temperance; Mrs. McClelland, franchise; Mrs. Stahl, soldiers and sailors; Mrs. Ola Marsden gave a piano solo and there was a literature demonstration by Mrs. F. F. Holsopple, Miss Bertha Gertrude Adams told the story of "Little Blossom" beautifully and Mrs. Spal sang "Wear the White Ribbon."

It was announced that special meetings will be held under the direction of the anti-narcotic department of the W. C. T. U. on Sunday, June 11, with literature distributed in the Sunday schools; several school teachers were commended for their work among pupils addicted to the cigar habit, and it was stated that a liquor distributor, having a change of heart, sent a contribution of $1 to help cover the expenses of publishing the official list of applicants and recommenders of licenses.

Enthusiastic Addresses
The church was thronged with men and women for the evening session, when the Rufus symphony orchestra of fifteen pieces sang a program of classics as well as up-to-date selections. Addresses were made by the Rev. Herbert S. Ganes, a Lutheran minister, and the Rev. A. L. Lehman, pastor of the United Brethren Church, and Mrs. M. M. Steese, whose subject was "Preparedness"—not for war, but war on liquor. Miss Violette E. Cassell played a piano solo and the session closed with the audience singing "The Son of God Goes Forth to War" and the benediction. The next institute will be held at Enhart. In the meantime men are to be urged to vote for prohibition at the May primaries.
