SILENCE FOLLOWS JOHNSON'S LETTER RESIGNING POST

Neither Governor Nor Atty. Gen. Will Add to Replies Made Last Evening

W. J. RONEY'S NAME HEARD

Chief Examiner Is Mentioned For Head of the Insurance Department

The first break in the State administration as the result of the candidacy of Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh for the Republican nomination for President and the contest for control of the Republican State committee came last night about 6 o'clock when Insurance Commissioner Charles Johnson, Republican leader of Montgomery county, sent his resignation to the Governor, who accepted it.

For days Capitol Hill and men who observe politics have been expecting an explosion as the result of the manner in which Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown and others in the inner council of the State administration have been conducting the campaign in the interest of the Governor's candidacy and control of the State committee on the side. But no one was prepared for the dramatic manner in which the veteran Johnson hurled his defiance at the political manager of the Governor's campaign, while officially severing his connection with the government. Even the startling moves in the famous contest of 1895 were not in the same class as the politics played by Johnson and the events of 1912, pale into insignificance compared to what occurred in an hour last night. What the effect will be no one can foresee. The Governor has been dragged into a letter sent simultaneously to the Attorney General, fairly sizzling with criticism. Then he went to Norris-town. He said nothing when he left.

Johnson's Chimax

The close of Mr. Johnson's connection with the administration stirred Harrisburg as it has not been stirred for many, many months. For days it has been rumored that the insurance commissioner was antagonistic to the attitude of the Attorney General and that he was wisely resigning his office being done by another high official, head of a branch of the State government not supposed to meddle with politics. Mr. Johnson came here on Tuesday and spent most of the time since in his office working to get affairs in shape. He had again and again declined to make a statement. To questions why he would resign he returned a blunt refusal to talk.

About 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the Insurance Commissioner shook hands with his office force and left the Capitol. When he locked his desk he sent a letter to the Governor resigning and giving as the reason a letter sent simultaneously to the Attorney General, fairly sizzling with criticism. Then he went to Norris-town. He said nothing when he left.

Brown Surprised

Mr. Brown was preparing to leave when he got the Johnson letter and he immediately went to the Executive Mansion where he met the Governor who had also received the resignation in writing from the Insurance Commissioner. Soon after 5 o'clock word that Johnson had resigned got out, but efforts to get any information sent simultaneously to the Attorney General, the office of the Attorney General and the office of the Insurance Commissioner were alike unavailing. Mr. Johnson's letters were made public and at 6 o'clock the Governor's office announced acceptance of the resignation.

Early last evening the Attorney General "came back" at the late Insurance Commissioner, passing the lie and using harsh words to express his opinion of him.

State officials dropped into silence, but individually plenty was said.

Silence the Rule

People connected with the State government from the high officials down to the clerks were rivals to the sphinx to-day. Governor Brumbaugh's refusal to accept the resignation last night was taken as a cue by everyone connected with Capitol Hill and action and silence were more than usually prevalent. State officials, including some who have been said from time to time to be opposed to the Governor's campaign, refused point-blank to talk about developments or possibilities.

None of those mentioned by the Attorney General attending the conference of State officials and others would talk, either.

While officials were silent there was considerable speculation about the successor to Johnson and William J. Roney, examiner in chief, a Philadelphia and nephew of David Martin, former Secretary of the Commonwealth and insurance commissioner.

LONE CAPTOR SAYS HE IS A GERMAN SPY

to me. I got my instructions from the German government to go aboard the ship and blow her up to prevent her cargo from reaching Russia. I could have blown her up but the captain's plea for his wife and daughter was too much for me and I hadn't the heart to do it. I am ready to take the consequences, but I ask that they keep me ashore instead of sending me back to the ship for the captain to take me in charge."

Outside Three Mile Limit

Schiller was told that as his daring exploit occurred outside the three mile limit, he would in all likelihood be taken to British possessions in the West Indies for trial for piracy. Federal authorities and representatives from the British government came here to-day to examine Schiller and to decide what to do with him. If the United States finds it has no jurisdiction under international maritime law, he will be turned over to the representatives of Great Britain.

An examination into Schiller's mental condition will be made. Those who have talked with him believe he is irresponsible and that his story of his career is not true.

Many Germans in Navy

Schiller was reluctant to tell his history. "I was born in Germany," he said. "Never mind the town or my parents' name. I have been in this country one year, in New York three weeks. I was sent by the German government to England soon after the war started, and at Germany's request I enlisted in the British navy and was assigned to the training ship Conway at Liverpool.

"I want to say right now that there are several thousand Germans in the British navy. I know what this means to me. It's the Tower of London if they get me back to the Matoppos. But I won't go, just bear that in mind."

Captain Richard Bergner of the Matoppos said he is convinced that Schiller is a former naval officer.

In trying to escape along the shores of the Delaware Breakwater yesterday, the sea rover was cornered by a pilot boat and a coast patrol launch. He surrendered without firing a shot.

Wireless messages carried the news of the lone raider to this city yesterday. But the Matoppos was unable to flash a cry for help at any time, the stowaway dismantling the wireless apparatus after he captured the vessel.

With a smile on his lips, the mysterious German held a prisoner at Lewis, Del., taunted the British crew with cowardice in telling his story. His eyes gleamed as he described how he made the captain and the crew, as prisoners, drink a toast to him.

The freebooter said that he had determined to blow the vessel and all on board, including himself, to atoms, but was moved to mercy by appeals from members of the crew.

"I was going to sink it," said the prisoner, "only their prayers for their wives and children softened my heart and stayed the destruction of the craft."

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results From An Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by hyperacidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea. He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

Improves your skin while cleansing it

Almost any soap will clean the skin and hair. Many toilet soaps are pure enough to do so without injuring these delicate textures. But those who want a soap which not only cleanses but actually helps the complexion and hair are wise to choose Resinol Soap.

The soothing, healing properties of Resinol enable it to protect the skin and scalp from annoying eruptions, keep the complexion clear, and the hair rich and lustrous. This soap which are merely pure and cleansing cannot be expected to do.

When the skin is in bad condition, through neglect or an unwise use of cosmetics, spread on just a little Resinol Ointment for ten or fifteen minutes before using Resinol Soap. Resinol Soap and Ointment are sold by all druggists.
