CENTRAL WINNER BY BIG MARGIN

Tie Up Extra Series With Reading; Crowd Cheers Local Tossers to Victory

Central High tossers are again in the running for the interscholastic championship of Central Pennsylvania. The local five tied up last night with Reading, winning the game at Chestnut Street Auditorium; score, 61 to 27. It was Central's victory from the start. Reading never had a look-in. The game was attended by a record crowd, 1,409 persons paying admission. The third and decisive game will be played on a neutral floor at Lancaster Tuesday night.

Three minutes after the whistle blew Captain Rote had his blue and gray tossers moving like one big machine. Reading was game and battled like fiends until the finish. There were hair-raising moments when the locals shot goals. The spectators were on edge all the time. None enjoyed the game more than Pat Donovan and his Buffalo Internationals, who were on hand. Reading had a large crowd of rooters present. After the game 300 couples danced.

Reading Could Not Shoot The visitors scored but one field goal in the first half. The score at the finish of this period was 29 to 8, in favor of Central. The local five took a big lead in the second half. Near the close Reading had a brilliant spurt, but could gain little on Central. Thomas led in points with a total of 22. Rote had eight field goals and one foul goal and his work at guard and forward was an interesting feature. Wallower, Houtz and Hilton were big factors.

DONOVAN'S BOYS AT WORK EARLY

Resume Gym Work This Morning; Anxious For Dry Fields and Outdoor Exercise

By CY. KLONE "Morning boys," said Pat Donovan, the manager of the Bison ball team, as one by one the husky veterans and aspiring youngsters of his diamond army of nineteen made their way to the breakfast table at their hotel bright and early this morning.

Work in Gymnasium Like yesterday's preliminary work the squad worked on the gym where they tossed the ball around for few hours, and after a short run followed by a little light work on the gymnasium apparatus the Bison's stalwart members returned to the hotel. There was a probability that the team would play on Academy field this afternoon.

LAWSON STRIKES SNAG Special to the Telegraph Reading, Pa., April 5.—City officials threw a bomb into the Lawson baseball camp yesterday. W. Lawson, promoter of the new Atlantic League, visited city hall to get a permit to rebuild the grandstand in Lauer's Park, leased by his club for the season. The law on building regulations require that no permanent frame structures are allowed to be erected in the city limits, and this is taken to mean that Lawson must rebuild with iron, concrete or other materials other than wood. This is considered by some to be a solar plexus blow for the Lawson League in Reading, and may harm the whole organization if Lawson cannot get his fight as another precaution to prevent any ring tragedies.

READING WANTS COMMISSION Special to the Telegraph Reading, Pa., April 5.—Mayor Filbert was appealed to by local boxing fans to appoint a city boxing commission, but said he will not take action until he sees what the fight promoters are going to do at the next show. The mayor was at the ring-side at the Willie Meahan-Jack Escating fizzle last night and may stop future exhibitions if guarantees of money back are not given by the public. Untrained boxers may be prohibited from getting into fights as another precaution to prevent any ring tragedies.

WELLY'S CORNER

The Pacific Coast League started yesterday. Three games were played. Fittery, the former Harrisburg twirler is with the Salt Lake team. This league plays the longest season of any organization in the United States.

Basketball is now a major sport at the University of Pennsylvania. The Board of Governors made this announcement following a conference yesterday. This action was due to the remarkable showing of the Penn basketball team under the leadership of Eddie McNichol. From now on every athlete who wins a place on the varsity team will receive a letter.

As an individual the Philadelphia National League Club officials will take no immediate steps in looking after the suit entered against organized baseball by the Baltimore Federal League owners. The suit is looked upon as a huge joke. The general opinion prevails that it is a hold-up game on the part of the Baltimore officials to get some easy money.

The third and final game in the series between Central and Reading will be played on the Lancaster Auditorium floor Tuesday night April 11. Arrangements were completed last night after the game in this city. E. C. Taggart the Steeple coach will referee. Intercollegiate rules will be followed. Plans are under way to run a special train from Harrisburg to Lancaster. It is expected that 500 rooters will go from this city.

Those who witnessed last night's game at the Auditorium between Central and Reading high tossers were of one opinion, that the local five is the best team. Central's work removed all doubt as to lack of teamwork. All Central asks for is fair play sent him a bill and when Martin refused to pay Palm, the latter brought suit against him before Alderman Fritz Kramme. Kramme gave judgment against Martin. The latter filed an appeal in order to "have his day in court," but Palm asked Dauphin's judges to strike off the appeal contending that it had not been regularly entered within the time limit. In a brief opinion handed down yesterday afternoon, however, President Judge Kunkel dismissed Palm's request declaring that if Martin's appeal hadn't been taken in time, it was because the aldermen hadn't entertained it in time and that the fault did not lie with Martin. This means that the question of moving the house may not be threshed out in court.

WILL TELL COURT OF HOUSE MOVING

Some months ago W. F. Martin, contractor, got the little job of moving a house in the upper end of the city. From one side of the street to the other, and he arranged with John H. P. to do the moving. Time passed and the house wasn't budged; Palm in fact never did more than simply slip the "skids" under the dwelling. More time passed. Then Martin undertook to move the house himself and did so—but he used Palm's skids. And Palm promptly
