Col. Henry W. Shoemaker, publisher of the Altoona Tribune, takes a rap at the State's game bounty law in the course of a mighty interesting number of his series of works on the game of Pennsylvania which has just been issued. The colonel wrote several books on the legends and traditions of the Keystone State, the passing of the great forests of the State and other themes which not only appealed to every lover of Pennsylvania, but at-tracted national and even internation-al attention. Recently he wrote on the "Pennsylvania Lion or Panther." telling many people who did not know of those splendid creatures of the for-est just what they were and where they were still to be found. The pass-ing of the bison from this State and disappearance of elk were also given. His latest work is on "Pennsylvania Wildcats." Most of us have always considered the prowler of the Blue Ridge to be a nuisance, a menace to travelers and an enemy to the farmer, the colonel, who gives dates, places and individuals to back up every statement and, gives many an interesting anec-dote of bobcat hunters, anys that they fill a useful place in the scheme of nature. He says that instead of being a pest the wildcat, as we know him, keeps down the rabbits which would otherwise multiply so fast that re-forestation would be endangered. In settled districts the farmers' boys keep the wildcats well killed off, but in the wildcat has its uses and if there were no rabbits in the State there would be no wildcats. In the course of his in-troduction the colonel writes: "As it is the aim of all good Pennsylvanians to aid in reforestation of the State-ehred he wildcat should be pre-served to help along the arboreal mil-enium." ber of his series of works on the game Pennsylvania which has just been

The Millershurg electric light plant . . .

The Millersburg electric light plant which was bought by Farley Gannett from the Leffler estate, has been in existence since 1892. It was origin-ally located in the old Delibler mill and was originally operated by water power. A steam plant was then in-stalled and for the last six years F. S. Kirk, of this city, has been in charge.

The Philadelphia Electric company The Philadelphia Electric company case which occupied considerable at-tention at the Capitol this week, is destined to be a big one in State finan-cial circles. It will establish certain precedents and rules of procedure which will govern in many cases to come and which have been closely watched by men interested in utilities all over the State.
