GOVERNOR STANDS UPON HIS STATEMENT

The State officials he said that it meant impeachment. State officials mentioned in the matter to-day declined to take the matter further.

Wants Matter Cleared Up

These, in brief, are the developments in the most sensational episode in Pennsylvania politics since the Hastings administration. The whole State is awaiting the next incident and the air is filled with all kinds of rumors, some of them that other transactions may come out. Hope of peace in the Republican party in Pennsylvania has been abandoned.

Governor Brumbaugh says that his sole purpose in having the matter cleared up. To this end it is understood to be his intention to go to Philadelphia to hunt for the letter which David B. Oliver sent in making the contribution. This letter, the Governor is reported to have said, is in his private papers at his home in Germantown. This letter, he said, is the crux of the situation and newspapers all over the State are demanding its production.

Leaves City

Governor Brumbaugh left the city to-day. It was stated this morning that he had gone to Philadelphia to look for the letter, to meet friends and to keep an engagement. It is not known whether he had left the city, but was expected to leave this afternoon.

Friends of the Governor from all parts of the State have been coming along his course and urging him to produce the Oliver letter. Judging from what has been heard in this city from visitors, messages and inquiries, the matter has attracted attention beyond the bounds of Pennsylvania. New York was taking as much interest in the matter as Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

In the midst of it all the Governor maintained silence beyond the statement that he stood by his statement.

When the Governor announced the details of the recent peace overtures between the two Republican factions are beginning to crop out as the war becomes inevitable. There was reason to believe until yesterday morning that Governor Brumbaugh had decided to withdraw from the contest and in this way bring about party harmony.

It is probable that heads of departments will ask the Governor personally whether he intends them to take off their hats and work and to turn in their people. Attorney General Brown has been acting as the field marshal, but some chiefs are said to want to know from the Governor.

Rumors that some officials would decline to get mixed up in what one of the shrewdest political observers in the State to-day termed "a factional racket" are being spread. The Governor does not desire to have the State government turned upside down as was done years ago, and men who prefer to conduct their departments on the lines laid down will do so, in the opinion of many here to-day.

Capital Looks for Fight

It did not require the Attorney General's remark that the statement meant a fight to tell Capitol Hill what the action of the Governor meant. Before the statement had been printed active preparations were being made for the campaign work for the Governor and next week conferences will be held at which the expectations of the administration's leaders will be made known.

Senator Oliver Makes Statement as to Check

Last night United States Senator George T. Oliver made the following statement:

"Some time in December or early in January my brother, Mr. David B. Oliver, informed me that the correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger had obtained from him a statement concerning his contribution of $1,000 to Governor Brumbaugh's campaign."

"Later on, I think it was in February, he handed me the telegram and letter he had received from Dr. Brumbaugh in acknowledgment of this contribution. With the suggestion that any publication was made it perhaps ought to be in my own newspaper. He also handed me his canceled check for the contribution. Since then the representative of the Ledger frequently impounded me for copies of these documents, but I was reluctant to have them published, as I wished to spare the State of Pennsylvania the humiliation which such publication would necessarily involve; but when Governor Brumbaugh announced his intention of becoming a candidate for President of the United States I sought an interview with the Hon. John S. Rilling, who before that had visited me as an emissary of the Governor. I showed him the documents to Mr. Rilling, informing him that it was not my intention to give them to the public unless the Governor persisted in his presidential candidacy; but that if he so persisted, I would feel constrained to do so."

"I further stated that the Governor could do as he pleased about carrying baugh and Senator Penrose to-day he clearly stated his purpose to have no part in factional warfare. His communication to Governor Brumbaugh, which is similar to one sent to Senator Penrose, explains his position as follows:

"Hon. M. G. Brumbaugh, Executive Mansion, Harrisburg, Penna.:

"My Dear Governor: Having done my utmost personally and through my newspaper, without avail, to restore party harmony and maintain that unity which is essential to Republican success, I am not willing that my name shall be submitted in the approaching primary election as a candidate for delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention."

"The first intimation that my name was under consideration in connection with the Chicago convention came to me through the newspapers, and I have not overlooked the fact that my selection as a delegate was acceptable to the leaders on both sides. This is a compliment which I have greatly appreciated."

"It would have been a pleasure to attend the convention under other circumstances, but as party peace seems more remote than when I wrote you from Florida, I prefer not to become identified in any manner with the factional fighting. Hoping as I do that the best interests of the party and the State rest upon Republican solidarity."

"I have also advised Senator Penrose of my decision."

"With personal good wishes and the earnest hope that this unfortunate political controversy may in nowise affect your administration."

"Sincerely yours,
"E. J. STACKPOLE."

Vare Attacks Oliver in Statement to Newspapers

Senator E. H. Vare was the only Philadelphia leader to make any statement and he bitterly assailed Mr. Oliver.

In an interview last night in Philadelphia he said:

"This is the first time in my political experience that I have seen such a barefaced attempt to blackmail a Governor of Pennsylvania for the purpose of serving private political interests."

"The Governor's statement to-day shows that he is big enough to publicly expose the ground around attempts on the part of his enemies to get him to withdraw from a campaign which he is successfully waging for the best interests of the Republican party in the State."

"For some time I have been hearing insinuations from the Penrose- Oliver people in regard to this check which the Governor has himself made public. There is nothing untrue in the fact that a multi-millionaire like David B. Oliver, a supposed friend of the Governor, has himself attempted to make a contribution to the Governor's personal expenses. It will be remembered that the Governor refused to take any salary from the Philadelphia Board of Education for some months during the time of his campaign."

"Mr. Oliver knew the Governor's financial condition and in a spirit of unbecoming friendship presented him with this sum with the express condition that he use it personally and not in connection with his political campaign. This the Governor did not do. He intended that the people, knowing the facts, will agree that he did right."

David B. Oliver Makes Comments on Statement

David B. Oliver, when shown the statement of Governor Brumbaugh in Pittsburgh last night said:

"The Governor seems to consider my contribution as a personal present. If I had intended to present him with a token of my esteem it would certainly have taken some other shape than a gift of money."

"I intended my check to be used for the purpose of assisting him in his campaign and for no other purpose whatever."

"The Governor's quotation from my letter is not in accord with the communication itself nor with the letter he wrote me in acknowledging the receipt of my contribution. I would suggest that he make public the letter in its entirety."

Thought Drowned Man Might Be Elopers

Mrs. F. J. Lutz, of New Benton, whose husband disappeared mysteriously February 4, at the same time that pretty Mary Frantz, aged 20, of that place, also disappeared, called last evening at C. H. Maak's undertaker, Sixth and Keizer streets, to view the body of the unknown man found drowned in Paxton creek yesterday morning.

Mrs. Lutz, when she read a description of the man, thought that it might be her husband, but she failed to identify the body.

Dozens of curious people called last evening and to-day at the morgue. None of them could identify the man.

Pittsburgh Dispatch Hears Rumors of More Checks

The Pittsburgh Dispatch contains these statements in a local review of the matter this morning:

"There were reports yesterday that the Penrose forces claim to know of about thirty checks aggregating $15,000 paid to Dr. Brumbaugh during his campaign, of which no return was made when the Governor-elect filed his statement of campaign receipts and expenditures. One such check was said to have been contributed by former Secretary of the Commonwealth Robert McAfee. Brumbaugh supporters declared that if the Penrose people knew about more checks than the one from D. B. Oliver they would have used them, with the Oliver check, to force Governor Brumbaugh's withdrawal as candidate for President."

"It was stated here yesterday there is no doubt now that the return will continue in the fight for delegates to the Chicago convention in June pledged to him for the Republican nomination for President."

"Governor Brumbaugh's statement yesterday took most of the Pittsburgh politicians by surprise, not by reason of what it disclosed, but because of the Governor's apparent intention to stay in the Presidential race and fight to a finish. Most of the Penrose people had heard of the Oliver check and many of them appear to have known about it months. Of late they have been for some reason very confident that it would be effective in producing 'harmony.' That it has not done so is the thing about the affair which to them is surprising."

THREE VESSELS LOST

London, April 8.—The loss of three more British vessels was reported to-day by Lloyds. The steamship Braundon and the schooner Clyde were blown up. The crews were saved. The steamship Chantala was sunk.
