By Associated Press Pershing's Camp at Front, April 7, by Aeroplane and Motor Couriers to Columbus, N. M., April 14. — A report reaching here from Mexican sources last night was that Julio Agosta, a Villa leader near Guerrero, had declared he would no longer fight against Americans.

REVISION OF TARIFF VERY IMPORTANT

by any means in his mind for preparedness and genuine Americanism still takes first place in all his utterances. The colonel recognizes that an upward revision of the tariff will be of prime importance as soon as the European war ends and foreign nations will enter into keen competition with American manufacturers, and so yesterday he declared his belief in the necessity for a protective tariff.

While these were the reasons given by Colonel Roosevelt for his declaration, it may be surmised that he did not lose sight of the fact that it was a pretty direct and plain answer to Warren G. Harding and others of the Stalwart Republicans, who have brought up the tariff issue and who sought to catch Colonel Roosevelt napping.

The Roosevelt Statement His tariff declaration came in a statement which he gave out in reference to the action of the New York Tribune in coming out yesterday in his support. The statement he made was as follows:

"Of course I deeply appreciate what the Tribune says of me, but I appreciate infinitely more what it says in advocacy of the things for which I stand. The final sentence of the editorial says, 'We are choosing which way the country shall go in the era that is now opening just as our fathers chose the American's path in the days of 1860.' This sentence should be in the mind of every man who at Chicago next June takes part in formulating the platform and naming the candidate.

Revision of Tariff Very Important

walked up to the Mexican, whose coming into this region was unannounced, and held out his hand to the general, of whose rank he was ignorant. General Herrera shook hands.

Herrera then sent word by his staff to General Pershing that he had arrived on his way with a personal body-guard from Chihuahua to Santa Rosalia, to the south of Hermosillo, to join in the hunt for Villa.

The American scouts in camp watched General Herrera with much interest. They said they had been reliably informed about two weeks ago that Herrera had declared, after the American expedition crossed the border, that if the Americans passed Casas Grandes, he would join Villa. Since that time the Americans have progressed so far to the south that Casas Grandes is but a short first section of the American line.

Herrera's reinforcements did not arrive, it is said, and in consequence Villa's command outnumbered the Carranza forces who tried to block his path. To-day's conference, however, seemed to indicate that Herrera's was the honor of ever woman on the most remote ranch of the Mexican border as a secret trust to be guaranteed by the might of our united Nation.

THE BODY AND SOUL

"By all means provide for the things of the body, but only on condition that we treat the body as the servant of the soul. I believe heartily in a protective tariff. Unless we return to a protective tariff, preferably administered through a commission of experts, we shall see widespread economic disaster at the end of this war.

"Our loyalty must be to the whole United States. The East must stand for the safeguarding of the Pacific coast against every foe. The West must stand for the safeguarding of the Atlantic coast against every foe. East and West and North and South, alike must hold the life of every man and the honor of every woman on the most remote ranch of the Mexican border as a secret trust to be guaranteed by the might of our united Nation.

"We can be true to mankind at large only if we are true to ourselves. If we are false to ourselves we shall be false to every one else. We have a lofty ideal to serve, a great mission to accomplish for the cause of freedom and of genuine democracy and of justice and fair dealing throughout the world.

"If we are weak and slothful and absorbed in mere money getting and rapid excitement we can neither serve these causes nor any others. We must stand for national conscience, for national discipline and for preparedness, military, social and industrial, in order to help the soul of this Nation.

THE TURKISH LINE

The men at Chicago should act in the spirit of the men who stood behind Abraham Lincoln.

"From time to time it has recently been announced that the fight against Mr. Wilson is to be waged only or almost only on the tariff. Such an appeal would be an appeal to the belly and not to the soul of the American Nation.
