HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody can Tell when you Darken Gray, Faded Hair with Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on the dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

FEDERAL RESERVE NO PANIC-QUELLER

Extravagant Democratic Claims Shown Fallacious by Republican Bureau

Washington, D. C., April 14. — Disputing the repeated claim of Democratic leaders that the Federal Reserve system had saved the finances of the country during the threatened panic immediately following the outbreak of the European war, the Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Jonathan Bourne, Jr., has issued the following statement at its headquarters here:

"Although the Federal Reserve act was passed in December, 1913, the Federal Reserve System had not been placed in operation at the time of the outbreak of the war, July 31, 1914. This fact is stated by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, in his annual report for the fiscal year, 1914. After expressing satisfaction over the manner in which business came through the test, Mr. McAdoo says:

"This has been accomplished notwithstanding the fact that the Federal Reserve System authorized by an act of December 23, 1913, was at that time only in process of formation and was, therefore, unable to render any service in the situation."

"The financial relief afforded the banks of the country was in the form of emergency currency, issued and distributed under the provisions of what is commonly known as the Aldrich-Vreeland Emergency Currency act, enacted in 1908. The act was continued in force, the only change therein made by the Reserve act being a small reduction in the rate of interest to be paid upon the emergency currency.

"In addition to these facts regarding the manner in which a panic was averted, it is also well to remind Democratic leaders and writers that the Federal Reserve act is not the product exclusively of Democratic statesmanship, but was very largely a result of work that had been done by the Monetary Commission created in 1908.

"Without going into an extended discussion of the influence of the work of the Monetary Commission upon the Federal Reserve act, brief quotations from the New York Times—a paper not unfriendly to this administration—will sum up the facts.

"In an editorial on December 24, 1913, the day after the enactment of the Federal Reserve law, the Times said that the National Monetary Commission had fostered and developed a public sentiment for currency reform. In fact, the ground was prepared by the commission for the legislation that has just been enacted, and the Owen-Glass bill contains some of the principal features of the Aldrich bill, described in part in almost the same language."

"Upon signing the bill, President Wilson attempted to give credit therefor to his party alone, ignoring the fact that the bill in its original form was faulty in the extreme. The Times recognized the injustice of that claim, and on December 25, 1913, said:

"Surveying the process from introduction to enactment, the result was a fundamental transformation of the bill. But for the continued, powerful and effective influence of public opinion we can hardly doubt that the measure would have been so faulty that its acceptance by the banks would have been exceedingly doubtful, its success improbable."

"In the administration of the law the party in power has been not only partisan, but influenced by local interests. There is no disposition on the part of Republicans to deny to the Democratic Party any credit to which it may be entitled for the enactment of the Federal Reserve law, faulty though its sponsors now admit it to be. But, while conceding to the Democratic administration any credit to which it may be entitled in the enactment of the law, Republicans can very appropriately and justly point to the service produced by Republicans."

War to End June 17?

For what it is worth the following story from the Financial News of London, is reprinted here:

In the latter half of last year—so runs a London legend—an officer called on his bank manager with regard to certain dispositions of his balance preparatory to his departure for the front.

"You won't be away long," said the manager.

"How do you know?" was the reply.

"You will be back in quite a short time, wounded in the hand."

When the officer actually returned with a wounded hand, and in a short time, he was puzzled. However, his wound healed, and he was off again. He went to bid "good-by" to the bank.

"Any more prophecies?" said he, jocularly.

"You will be away longer this time," replied the manager, "and you will be rather badly wounded in the leg."

When the officer was wounded in the leg and came home, he sought the first chance to interview his farsighted friend at the bank.

"As you can see, my wounds, can't you give me the date of the end of the war?" he asked.

"The war will end," said the manager, "on June 17 next. But I shan't live to witness it. I shall just about see New Year's day, and that's all."

He died on January 2. The officer is now looking forward with extraordinary interest to June 17.

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this to-night, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustre-glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Adv.

GOOD ROADS DAY WELL BACKED UP

Western Counties Are Taking an Especial Interest in the Proposition

In the week that has elapsed since Governor Brumbaugh issued his proclamation fixing Tuesday, May 25, as "State-wide Good Roads Day," plans have developed rapidly for making this day a success.

The Governor has placed himself at the disposal of the State Highway Department and will spend "State-wide Good Roads Day" at work on the roads, as he did last year.

Organizations, formed in many counties last year to further the object, have taken up their work anew and are making arrangements for a large turnout on the highways this year.

In a number of counties where there were no organizations last year, steps have been taken to secure united action.

In Venango county last year work to the estimate of $10,523.00 done on

Pastor Refuses Part of Salary Increase

Little Rock, Ark. — Members of the Second Presbyterian Church of this city are marveling over the selfishness of their pastor, the Rev. Hay Watson Smith, just as they have been gratified at the effectiveness of his pastorate.

Because of the splendid results of his work the trustees recently voted him an increase of salary from $2,500 to $3,500 a year. On his first appearance in the pulpit following this salary raise, the Rev. Mr. Smith announced he would not accept all of it at present owing to uncertainty that the church could conveniently carry the added burden. He accordingly limited the increase to $600, making it $3,100 a year.

STRAWBERRIES EASY TO RAISE

Agricultural Expert Gives Some Views Which Would Interest Farmers Now

Dr. J. T. Campbell, one of the experts of the State Department of Agriculture, says Pennsylvania farmers ought to raise more strawberries. There is money in it and the work is not hard.

"We grow strawberries almost as easily as we grow potatoes. Land upon which we set the plants is land that has previously been in a cultivated crop, preferably potatoes," said he.

"We plow and fit the land thoroughly. The rows are marked out three and a half feet apart, using potato planter for marking. The shoe of the planter is run deeply and the covering discs angled to throw up a ridge. The plants are set in this ridge. If the soil has been properly prepared no the hand is needed for setting the plants. The hand is thrust into the mellow earth and the plants set about as

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine, as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.
