RAILROAD RUMBLES

NEW RECORD IN LATE RAIL ORDER

Pennsylvania Railroad Names Tonnage For Delivery Next Year; Engines For Reading

Special to the Telegraph. Philadelphia, April 13.—With an increase in the price of steel rails already posted by the United States Steel Corporation and many of the large independent companies to take effect on May 1, the Pennsylvania Railroad yesterday placed one of the largest orders for rails in the history of its organization, when it asked for 205,000 tons, at an outlay of nearly $6,000,000.

C. V. R. R. Bridge Iron Makes Fortune For Buyers

Those who have been watching with interest the demolition of the old iron bridge of the Cumberland Valley railroad across the Susquehanna river at Mulberry street and its replacement with a modern reinforced double-track concrete structure are probably not aware that the war in Europe and the enormous demand for iron has made the rejected steel structure a source of great profit for the purchase of the old bridge.

Grave Concern Is Felt For Safety of American Line of Communication

Columbus, N. M., April 15.—Grave concern for the safety of the American line of communication was manifested in military quarters here to-day.

Every preparation has been made at the base here to keep the line intact. Motor trucks lined up and filled with rations stood in front of military headquarters awaiting and the telegraph station here was ordered to be kept open throughout the night.

No reason was offered at military headquarters for the unusual activity but unofficial reports gave assurance that it was based on reports made by Captain U. S. Grant in command of a small detachment of Americans guarding the line at Ascension, 60 miles south of the border.

It is known that with diplomatic relations between the United States and Carranza pending, close watch is being made for any trace of the 4,000 men under General Gomez, who were reported to be moving from Sonora into Chihuahua in such a way as to prevent possible menace to the American line of communication.

Americans Attacked at Parral Unarmed; Forty Mexicans Were Killed

San Antonio, Texas, April 15.—The Americans on whom the Mexicans at Parral fired were unarmed, according to a version of the incident current in Chihuahua and transmitted to General Funston by Consul Letcher.

According to this story, 40 of the troopers entered Parral, presumably to purchase supplies, and were fired upon. Two were killed and the remainder retreated to the main body of troops encamped outside the city.

The attacking force pursued them and were met by a fire from the Americans, who were using a machine gun, killing 40 Mexicans. According to this story, the attacking party comprised Carranza soldiers and civilians. Departmental officers manifest a disposition to credit the report, they regard the story as more probable than some of the versions which have come out of Mexico. In previous cases soldiers entered towns for the purpose of buying supplies and were received in a friendly manner, and if they had gone into Parral for that purpose it was probable, officers said, that they went unarmed.

AMERICANS ATTACKED SECOND TIME AT PARRAL

for its original destination beyond the town.

President Wilson is not yet ready to withdraw the American punitive expedition from Mexico, and the American forces are going ahead with the sole object of capturing Villa and dispersing his band. While no official announcement was made respecting the attitude of the Administration toward the suggestion from the Carranza de facto government that the troops should be withdrawn, the strongest intimation was given in high official quarters that the Pershing expedition will remain in Mexico until its object has been accomplished.

El Paso, Tex., April 15.—Fear for the safety of Americans and other foreigners in Parral in which city the little cavalry force of 140 men, under Major Frank Tompkins, was attacked last Wednesday, was expressed here to-day.

Some of the Americans known to be in that section of Mexico are G. C. Smith and W. C. Palmer, of the Parral and Durango Railway; Leslie Webb and B. C. Robinson, of the El Rayo Mining Company, and a Miss Dunning, a Methodist missionary. Another woman missionary, understood to be associated with Miss Dunning, is also reported to be in Parral. There are several French and German subjects in that vicinity.

The Mexican censorship over the land lines leading into Parral is strict and the military authorities are sending all information in code. Representatives of mining companies with large plants in and about Parral are making frantic efforts to obtain information regarding their plants, for there are persistent reports that following the attack on the American cavalry last Wednesday mobs vented their vengeance on American property. Admission was made to-day by an official of the Alvarado Mining Company that the mob had made a destructive attack on its mill.

The story of the Parral affair is yet to be told, while uncertainty envelops the further march southward of Major Tompkins' forces who are now believed to have passed over the Durango-Chihuahua line.

Economic Conditions More Menacing to Restoration of Order Than Political

El Paso, Tex., April 15.—Economic conditions in Mexico are more menacing to the hopes of a restoration of order and the avoidance of serious friction between that country and the United States than any political conditions, according to an American who returned here to-day from a tour which embraced most of the territory north of Mexico City.

This man, who is identified with large American interests in Mexico brought reports of the destruction by mobs of the American plants and warehouses in several places.

"These outbreaks," he said, "are in my judgment far more economic than political. The condition of the masses of the people throughout Northern Mexico is terrible. Magnificent farm lands capable of raising almost any crop in the world, have been lying untilled for five years. The peons live, or rather exist in misery. Plain starvation faces thousands of them.

"Ignorant and Superstitious. The trouble is that they have been sedulously taught by agitators to believe that all their woes are due to the foreigners. They have never seen a poor, ill-nourished American and the traditional envy of the poor or the well-to-do has grown in their case to a man. They are, of course, extremely ignorant and superstitious and the anti-Carranza factions who are many if divided, consistently tell them that Carranza is in the pay of the Americans who are going to seize all Mexico and take what little they have left away from them."

The alarm along the border caused by request of General Carranza for the withdrawal of the American troops, had far from subsided to-day. El Paso is filled with refugees who have interests in Mexico ranging from fortunes to crops. Those refugees are said generally to favor intervention and have been greatly exercised by reports that President Wilson contemplated withdrawal of the expeditionary forces. Stories of the looting and destruction of American property in Mexico and of hostility toward Americans by Mexicans are the staple topic of conversation in this city and lose nothing in the telling.

Carranza Gives Pledge That Honor of Mexico Will Be Kept Inviolable

Mexico City, April 15.—The city was brilliantly illuminated last night in honor of the arrival in the Mexican Capital earlier in the day of General Carranza. All public buildings were outlined with electric lights and large crowds paraded through the streets. General Carranza met his ministers in a conference at the National Palace in the evening and two hours later he appeared on the balcony of the palace under the liberty bell and addressed the throng which waited in the square below. General Obregon, minister of war, stood at General Carranza's side while he spoke.

General Carranza assured his hearers that the sovereignty, honor and dignity of Mexico would be guarded inviolate and exhorted them to work patriotically for reconstruction, the first important steps of which they were about to witness. His remarks were frequently applauded.
