A SHORT SPIN AND A SWEET ONE TO HAGERSTOWN AND THEY'RE WED

MR. AND MRS. JOHN F. GREENAWALT

John F. Greenawalt Elopes by Auto With Miss Wert Marie Moyer—Just Sweet Sixteen—Who Was His "Girl" Ever Since Anybody at Lucknow Can Remember

There really were no parental tears shed—they've been sweaters ever since she wore pigtails down her back and he wrote "I Love You" on his slate back in the little red schoolhouse by the road and everybody rather expected they'd do it some time—but of course at Lucknow is talking about it to-day.

At Chambersburg John got a bit nervous, quite naturally, and asked a policeman how far it was to Hagerstown. "It's 28 miles and there are eight mountains to climb," chuckled the policeman, and then he showed by the twinkle in his eye that he knew something was up.

Twenty-Fifth Congress of D. A. R. Under Way

Washington, D. C., April 17.—Delegates from throughout the country were in attendance at the opening session here to-day of the twenty-fifth continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Activities of the congress will take up the entire week.

Addresses of welcome by President Wilson and Mrs. William Cumming Story, of New York, president general, were the outstanding events on today's program.

A feature of the congress will be a discussion of national preparedness, Wednesday evening having been set apart for the purpose. The subject will be discussed by Hudson Maxim and other noted authorities. During the meeting, the "spirit of patriotism" impersonated by Miss Katharine Eggleston, will ask questions on preparedness. Motion pictures on "America Unprepared" will also be presented.

Although no high officers of the society are to be elected at this year's session a contest is said to be developing for the position of corresponding secretary general.

Miss Elizabeth Dill, a student at Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, will return home Wednesday to spend the Easter recess with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Dill.

HE HAD QUALIFIED [From the Christian Herald.] A stranger in an Indiana village thought he might improve the time by attending service in the local church. At the conclusion of a lengthy talk, the minister announced that he should like to meet the Board. The stranger, in company with several other persons, proceeded to walk to the front of the church. The pastor, thinking there must be some misunderstanding, said to him: "I believe, sir, you are mistaken. This is just to a meeting of the Board." "Well," replied the visitor, "I have joined your talk for more than an hour and I know more about the board than I have been, I should like to know who it is."

Pennsylvania Dutch in Mrs. Martin's New Story

Helen Reimensnyder Martin, a local writer, has written no more profound and penetrating study of "Pennsylvania Dutch" customs and characters than appears in "Her Husband's Part" (The Century Company, New York). The quaintness, the "nearness" and the diversity of this curiously isolated section of life stand out by contrast with the typically Southern mannerisms of Margaret, the heroine, "herself" the title holder of the plot of the story is not to be called a hero. How can one justly so describe a man who is as parsimonious as he is rich, cultured and interesting? He is a Harvard graduate and a pastor to boot, into his household comes the daughter of the Southland, with its boundless, its cheerfulness. She is a true daughter of the South. The changes and contrasts from her own home life to that of the Reitzel ménage, with its literally miser master and his two dominating sisters, one iron, grim, unloving and unlovable, the other silly, with the romantic fancies of 16 running riot through her 45-year-old heart, afford Mrs. Martin capital situations, rich in opportunities for comedy and satire. But it is all good-natured and has a serious implication underlying the fun. By indirection, too, there is a bit of social preachment on the legal rights and the privileges of the wife in domestic economy.

Fifth St. Choir to Sing Stainer's "Crucifixion"

The choir of Fifth Street Methodist Episcopal Church will render the "Crucifixion," by Sir John Stainer, on Good Friday evening, April 21, at 8 o'clock. The "crucifixion" is a meditation on the sacred passion of the Holy Redeemer, reciting the scenes which occurred at Gethsemane and Calvary. The soloists are George Sutton, baritone, and Thompson Martin, tenor. Other special parts will be sung by Elias Wagner, bass, and Percy McGinnis, bass. The quartet will be Harvey Wagner, Mrs. Frank Smiley, Miss Emma Stoner and Percy McGinnis. Miss Violet Cassel is organist and Thompson Martin, director. The choir is composed of the following: Soprano, Mrs. Frank Smiley, Miss Eleanor Shoaff, Miss Ruth Dougherty, Miss Nellie Foulke, Miss Jane Roth, Miss Hazel Seibert, Mrs. E. R. Simonetti, Miss Katharine Jamison, Miss Elba Romberger and Miss Helen Youum; alto, Miss Emma Stoner, Miss Maudeline Shoaff, Miss Susie Spahr, Mrs. John Beam, Mrs. Wesley Weaver and Miss Margaret Shoaff; tenor, Harvey Wagner, Frank McGinnis, Miss Nellie Foulke, Miss Victor Gibbons and Ralph Selmyer; bass, Percy McGinnis, Robert Bratton, Elias Wagner, Clare Gully, Leroy Yost and Stanley Lingle. Miss Laura Green, 159 South Nineteenth street, and Miss Katherine Van Camp, 1533 North Fifth street, spent yesterday in Duncannon and Newport.

YOU CAN HAVE PINK CHEEKS

What causes the color to fade from pink cheeks and red lips? In a word it is thin blood. When the tinting color in cheeks and lips is accompanied by a loss of brightness in the eyes and an increasing heaviness in the step, the cause is to be sought in the state of the blood. A hundred causes may contribute to the condition of thin blood that is known as anemia. Overwork, lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient rest and sleep, improper diet, these are a few of them. The important thing is to restore the blood to normal, to build it up so that the color will return to cheeks and lips. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the great blood builder and invigorator. They begin at once to increase the red corpuscles in the blood and the new blood carries strength and health to every part of the body. Appetite increases, digestion becomes more perfect, energy and ambition return. A booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. If you mention this paper, your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 60 cents per box, six boxes $2.50.
