WHAT THE SHOPS ARE SHOWING

If you wish to send a little Easter remembrance to a friend who appreciates things artistic, you will find an array of suggestions at the French Shop, (Miss Swope) 208 N. Third street. Delightfully unique are the little coin purses of pierced metals—especially those in antique gold finish. Little vanity cases of "cloisonne" enamel in pastelle shades are exquisitely dainty, while one in silver finish with a brilliant peacock is a smart novelty, selling for just 60c. Charming too are the little old-fashioned pictures at 50c and 75c, while the cretonne covered teatable boxes for bonbons and crackers are both useful and gift-like. A real novelty, not seen elsewhere, is a set of cretonne trays slipped in a cretonne envelope, for the convenience of the traveler.

The Sponsors of the Large Sailor

Of course, Georgette favors the huge sailor, for her lovely hats are always large, but when Leontine and Reboux join all the other Paris designers in launching hats of cartwheel dimensions, their vogue is no longer open to question, and just as fast as the new styles are launched, they are shown in the French Room at Astrich's, Fourth and Market street. Never has the sailor hat been so varied in hue, texture and trimming. Those for sport wear, with applique crocheted work, bead embroideries and stenciling are especially smart, while the huge capelines for dress wear, with ribbon, flowers, ostrich or gaura effects are stunning.

Why Coffee Is Good

The manner in which the coffee beans are treated after leaving the trees, determine to a great extent the ultimate flavor and quality and it is because the coffee sold by Studebaker's Second street at the crossing of State, is so carefully treated, that it is so delicious when it comes to your table. They offer several brands selling for from 25c to 40c a pound. The coffee beans are passed through rollers to remove the dried pulp and then freed from all impurities by winnowing. It thus retains all its strength and flavor without the impurities, and the special Studebaker blend, which sells for 32c a pound is so superior in quality, even to more expensive grades, that it is a universal favorite.

"Aristocratic" Footwear

The word aristocratic is a much abused term, but to denote real superiority of the unostentatious kind, it is justly applicable to the new pump of black glazed kid, shown by the Walk-Over Boot Shop, 228 Market street. It is perfectly plain in design, its distinction lying in its smart, wonderfully graceful lines, its well-shaped last, its perfect workmanship and beautiful quality. The Louis XVI heel gives just the right finish to this chic pump which sells for just $4.00. Other attractive models range in price from $3.50 up.

For Years of Wear

A good stove will withstand years and years of hard wear and tear, and give satisfaction all of that time, and yet it costs no more to buy a good stove in the beginning than to invest in a poor one which quickly wears out. The Himes Hardware Store, 10 N. Market square sells the Penn Esther ranges at most reasonable rates, and these stoves are so excellently constructed, and the materials used in them are of so high a grade that their durability is wonderful. They are fitted with patented Victor non-lifting brick and non-disturbing water front, and are finished with lift-off nickel trimmings, or in plain steel if preferred.

A Spring Tonic

Have you Spring fever? Are you listless and tired when you get up in the morning, or subject to colds, which hang on and leave you with aches in your bones? You probably need a good strengthening Spring tonic, and the Gorgas Drug Store, 16 N. Third street have just the thing to build you up and give your system the tonic it needs at this time. They offer a special tonic, composed of iron, strychnine and quinine, which is excellent, and is highly recommended by them. However, competent and experienced clerks will help you to select just what medicine is best for your need, and the reliability of all medicines offered by Gorgas' is unquestionable.

NOTICE

Having secured the stock and fixtures of the Joseph D. Brenner Jewelry Store, No. 1 N. Third street, sold yesterday by the Trustee in Bankruptcy, the same will be put on sale by us within the next few days at remarkably low prices. Due notice will be given of the date and time of the sale.

Watch daily papers for the announcement.

ELECT OFFICERS FOR CIVIC CLUB

Judge Kunkel Commended For His Recent Decision on Fleming Property

A busy year's work was yesterday afternoon outlined at the annual meeting of the Civic Club of Harrisburg in the John Y. Boyd Hall of the Y. W. C. A. Officers were elected for the year 1916-17. Mrs. William Henderson was re-elected president; the three vice-presidents in order, Mrs. John W. Reilly, Mrs. James L. Chamberlin, and Mrs. H. Lindley Hofsford; secretary, Mrs. Harvey F. Smith; corresponding secretary, Miss Eleanor Shunk; treasurer, Mrs. Edward F. Dunlap; directors, Miss Fannie Eby and Miss Mary Jennings.

The plans of the club, as outlined in the report of Miss Rachel Pollock of the municipal department, contemplate a strong fight against the smoke nuisance, a repetition of the crusade of last year against the active fly, the recommendation of the purchase of an ambulance by the city, and an appeal to the city for some sort of a curfew arrangement whereby the children shall be sent to their homes by the blowing of a whistle by 9 o'clock in the winter and 9:30 in the summer.

The reports included that of the president, which the Telegraph printed yesterday in part, the report of the outdoor department by Mrs. Martha Buehler; the report of Mrs. Harry G. Keffer, of the educational department, which purchased a piano at the Rummage Sale and arranged for it in the Lochiel Open-Air School, the charges for moving and tuning of which will be borne by Mrs. Henry McCormick; the report of Mrs. Anna A. McDonald of the State Library, who urged careful attention to the wants of aliens in the city, and the request of Miss Fannie Eby, chairman of the membership committee, who urged the acquisition of new members.

A letter from Miss Myra Lloyd Dock was read in which she congratulated the club on the recent decision of President Judge Kunkel, by which the Fleming home becomes the property of the club. Mrs. Chamberlin announced the conference for the Central District of the Pennsylvania Federation of Clubs at Wellboro on May 11 and Mrs. Henderson announced that the social meeting would be held at the Colonial Country Club on May 11, on which occasion Mrs. McCormick will talk on the subject, "Know Your City, Its Good Points and Its Weak Ones." Mrs. Mabel Cronise Jones gave a short talk on current civic events and there was much favorable discussion following the resolution introduced by Mrs. John W. Reilly endorsing the Telegraph's plan to make Harrisburg a "flower city" by placing window boxes on public buildings and private houses throughout the city.

Miss Minerva Saunders was a recent Philadelphia visitor.

Mrs. Grover C. Holzman of Lebanon is the guest of Mrs. Henry C. Harlan of York on her return from Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson C. Packer of Wilkensburg, Pa., will spend the week-end with the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. George E. Hawes of 127 West State street.

Miss E. P. Miller, James H. Stewart, John W. W. Reynolds, Jr., W. Spry Hurlock, Jr., John Senesman, Paul Orth, Thomas S. Hargest, David R. Shotwell, students at Princeton University returned to-day to spend their Easter holiday vacation at their homes.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Dodge and daughter, Jean, of the Erie Avenue apartments, are occupying their new home in Camp Hill.

Mrs. George Watson of North street has returned after a visit to Philadelphia.

Miss Sara B. McConkey, of 209 South Front street and Miss Mary Berghaus, of 109 South Front street, are spending some time in New York city.

William Geering and sister, Miss Ruth Geering, spent the week-end with Theodore Murray of 113 Market street.

Miss Grace Neely has returned to her home at York Springs after visiting friends at 206 Walnut street.

Miss Mary Walden Hawes, of 127 West State street, will leave Thursday to spend the week-end with Miss Henrietta Sebring of Bellefonte.

BIG RUMMAGE SALE DINNER TONIGHT RECEIPTS $4,200

Idea Originated With Mrs. Henry McCormick Who Passes Credit Along

The receipts of the Harrisburg Hospital rummage sale are steadily growing. The money is coming in for goods bought last week and to-day it looks as though the total may surpass $4,200.

It became known to-day that the idea of the rummage sale originated with Mrs. Henry McCormick, who as president of the Woman's Aid Society of the hospital thought that such a sale could be made profitable to the hospital. She urged the society to take up the plan about four years ago and constantly since, but it was not until this year that the ladies got behind it and made it a success.

Mrs. McCormick thought that at least $500 could be raised in this way and nobody was more astounded than she when it was found that the receipts of the first day's sale amounted to over $1,000.

The following members of the Chamber and national council in honor of Edward F. Trefz, field secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America, at the Harrisburg Club at 7 o'clock to-night by the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce.

Charles W. Burnett, a director of the Chamber and national council in the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America, will act as toastmaster. The following officers and directors of the Chamber will be present: J. William Bowman, president; W. M. Ogelsby, first vice-president; E. L. McCollin, secretary, and the following directors: Henderson Gilbert, George S. Shreiner, William B. McCaleb, George W. Reilly, David E. Tracy, Andrew S. Patterson and A. Carson Stamm.

The following members of the Chamber and guests have also accepted invitations to be present: E. J. Stackpole, Fred Tritle, Ed. Herman, Donald McCormick, D. Bailey Brandt, J. P. Starkey, Dr. A. E. Brown, William B. Bennethum, Jr., W. Grant Raitel, Henry McCormick, Jr., Spencer C. Gilbert, Walter H. Gaither, Ed. Schell, Harry H. Baker, Allan Donaldson, Ezra Hershey, John F. Sweeney, Paul G. Smith, George E. S. Lewis, John C. Motter, J. H. Douthick, Flavel L. Wright, A. S. Gerberich, Middleton, Pa.; S. S. Pomeroy, William H. Ball, R. M. H. Wharton, Francis J. Hall, Charles E. Covert, E. E. Feldman, William Donaldson and Edward Bailey.

SURPRISE PARTY

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hurley, 621 Camp street, last evening. The evening was spent in playing games, music and singing. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Bell and son, wife; Mrs. Forsythe and mother; Mr. and Mrs. E. Carrigan, Mrs. D. Bender and son, David; John Orris and Ella Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. W. Schuler, Mr. Lance, Joe Enders, Les Enders, David Berrier, Silas C. Fetterhoff, James Furman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hurley and daughters, Hazel and Bessie Hurley.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Charles LeRoy Mack was eight years old yesterday and last evening his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Mack, 448 Boyd street, entertained in his honor. Spring flowers and ferns formed the decorations and dinner was served to sixteen guests.

COMING TO HARRISBURG

Dr. George P. Mains Retires as Publishing Agent; Will Reside Here

In the current number of the Christian Advocate an editorial application of Dr. George P. Mains, whose retirement as publishing agent of the Methodist Church has just been announced. He will come to Harrisburg with his family, who was Miss Mary Calder, both of whom will be warmly welcomed.

Among other pleasant things about Dr. Mains, the Advocate, which expresses the sincerest regret with which the announced retirement was received, says:

"Distant be the day when The Christian Advocate need review the career of a man of his true and loyal officer. But no day could be more fitting than this to express in his living presence the sense of gratitude which the Church may well feel for what he has done and what he is. Loyalty to Methodism was an inborn virtue. Honesty of intellect and character was taught at the knee of his stern and reverent father, who has just been summoned home at the age of ninety-four. In his youth he served with the colors in the war for the preservation of the Union, and when the Civil War broke out he deepened his love for serious studies. In the pastorate his vigor and practical sense soon brought him heavy responsibilities. In general, he was a man of high character, of high integrity, and of high ability to build it. If the launching of a great hospital project, the first in all Methodism, demanded an exceptional director of its execution, Dr. George Mains was drafted to be its first superintendent. So he was prepared to step naturally into the vacant publishing agency, being elected by the general conference of 1896 and continued by repeated re-elections to the present time. In a fourfold cord like that of the publishing agency it is not easy to single out one strand and say that it contributed to the tensile strength of the whole cable. But certain it is that his rugged honesty, the essential fairness of his mind, the vigor of his opinions, his power of expression and the dignity and charm of his personality are qualities not to be neglected in accounting for the success of a business whose net profits from all sources for the New York house alone, since he became associated with it, have aggregated $3,281,350.80. In that time the dividends from the New York house to the annual conference have amounted to $1,274,262, and in addition to this many thousands of dollars have been set apart from the profits to meet other requisitions of the Church. During the same period Dr. Mains has been treasurer of the episcopal fund, which has received and disbursed $2,469,605.28.

"One of Dr. Mains' reasons for his retirement will be that he will afford leisure which he covets for enjoying the still air of delightful studies.

"Personally, and as the representative of the Church, we extend to Dr. Mains the warmest wishes for his hearty assurance of gratefulness and good will, and wish for him a long and happy continuance in usefulness."

Mrs. J. Odlin Herr and two children, of Philadelphia, are guests of the former's parents, Dr. and Mrs. John H. Fager, 1234 North Sixth street.

Mrs. Sara De Carleton, 1324 North Second street, will celebrate informally her eightieth birthday to-day. She will be the recipient of cards, flowers and notes of congratulation.

Mrs. and Mrs. Joshua W. Sharpe, of Chambersburg, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Fleming, 104 South street.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gordon Drane, of Harrisburg, have gone to Philadelphia, to spend the week.

Mrs. Walter P. Maguire, 5 South Front street, and Mrs. Henderson Gilbert, 1600 North Second street, are home after a trip to New York.

Carefully Treat Children's Colds

Neglect of children's colds often lays the foundation of serious lung trouble. On the other hand, it is harmful to continually dose delicate little stomachs with internal medicines or to keep the children always indoors.

Plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and a good application of Vicks' VapoRub Salve over the throat and chest at the first sign of trouble, will keep the little chaps free from colds without injuring their digestions. 25c, 50c, or $1.00.
