The Business Woman by Beatrice Fairfax

By Beatrice Fairfax.

The business world is a brand new place for a woman and she has not quite adjusted herself to it as yet. She is an alien creature in the world of men and she has to steer a careful course between the cliff of being over-masculine and the precipice of being over-feminine!

The two biggest "don'ts" for the business woman are rather contradictory affairs. But they can easily be reconciled by steering a neat and efficient middle course. First let us define our don'ts and then we can easily figure out that middle course.

Don't, as you value your own womanhood, permit yourself to become a hard, aggressive, pushing person who carries business methods into social life. You don't have to be any of these things in business in order to succeed.

Hard aggressiveness is alien to all the normal characteristics of a real woman's nature. Woman in business is still woman. She thinks and acts and works with the attributes of a nature that is not male or masculine in any of its normal qualities.

The cleverest and most successful business woman I know is the very successful mother of three wonderful children. On Sundays and half holidays she finds her greatest joy in sewing on frilly feminine things and in concocting dainty feminine dishes.

On week days she is an efficient, dignified, far-sighted business woman. But she is not hard, nor strident, nor masculine. And as a very great compliment she took a man's surprised ejaculation: "You talk just like a woman!" Her reply showed her sane, normal sense of proportion. "Why shouldn't I—I AM A WOMAN."

There is the first great don't. When you go to business don't forget that you ARE a woman.

And the next great don't lies at the opposite extreme of the scale. Don't force upon all the men with whom you deal the "consciousness that you are—feminine," "the female of the species."

In other words, you have to think and feel and act and do according to your natural feminine equipment, but you do not have to force on men the consciousness that you are a sex creature.

Your mental equipment is feminine. And in the business world you are dealing with that feminine mental equipment. But the feminine emotional equipment has no place in the world of business.

DON'T TRADE ON YOUR SEX.

Don't expect to get out of hard jobs because you are the "weaker vessel." Don't expect to be flirited with or catered to because you are feminine. Don't trade on your charm. It has no place in the world of business.

Don't try to be the emotional complement of men in the business world.

These are the primary don'ts for women in business.

RINGS ON HIS TROUSERS

"Small brass rings can be bought for three cents a dozen at any notion counter, and when sewed on the inside of boys' trousers save many a torn buttonhole, that being what most boys use for a hanger." — May Woman's Home Companion.

JITNEY CASES ABSORB INTEREST

Public Service Commission Facing Hard Work During Next Three Months

BIGGEST CASE ENDED

State Armory Board Will Meet in Scranton Wednesday; Capitol Hill Notes

With the Philadelphia Electric Company's rate case, the biggest of the kind ever considered, the State Public Service Commission will now take up the disposal of the jitney certificate cases, involving a dozen or more nice questions under the public service company act.

Thus far the protests against issuance of certificates have come from trolley companies or railroads, which contended that existing routes were paralleled, but the jitney operators have asserted that this is not always the case and that they cannot be classed with street railways. In Wilkes-Barre the street railway company has filed protests against the issuance of certificates to every applicant and will make a final fight at the hearing to be held in the Luzerne county courthouse on Tuesday. It has also filed complaints against a number of companies for operating without certificates and that will open another phase.

It is estimated that the Philadelphia electric case, if not disposed of this week, would have dragged along for a couple of years, as an appeal would have been taken.

Arrests Because of Dogs.—Several arrests of owners of dogs which had been allowed to chase deer in State preserves have been reported here. The game wardens followed up the dogs in some instances and tracked them to their homes. Several of the deer which were pursued by the dogs were newly arrived.

Observed Holiday.—Except in a few departments, where business was pressing, Capitol Hill to-day generally observed Good Friday. The departments closed to-day until Monday.

Contract Let.—In the second bidding for contract for an armory for Company I, Sixth Regiment, National Guard, H. L. Brown, of Philadelphia, was awarded the contract for $39,900. The structure is to be of stone and brick with a large drillroom, auditorium and kitchen. The contract calls for its completion six months from date. The previous bids were regarded too high.

Leary Dropped.—At Chester yesterday Mayor McDowell dismissed William J. Leary and Robert Watson as sealers of weights and measures. He has not intimated who he will appoint to succeed them. Ex-Mayor Ward named Watson as highway commissioner and Leary as sealer. The commission form of government abolished Watson's office, so Ward appointed Watson to succeed Leary. Leary fought the case, the court sustaining him, ruling that he could not be removed for political reasons and that no charges had been brought against him. The court also said that the Mayor could appoint more than one sealer. Both men have been serving nearly two years. All of the men in the case are well known on the "Hill," as Leary was a deputy factory inspector.

Plan to Plant.—Arrangements are being made at the Capitol gardening force headquarters for planting a number of additional trees in the park. The work will likely be done next week.

Held Examination.—The Board in charge of examination of candidates for inspectors for elevator and boiler inspection work held a test here yesterday for men who did not live in cities where the department has headquarters.

Attended Meeting.—Captain J. B. Kemper, of the United States army, attended the conference of the Fourth regiment officers at Reading yesterday and addressed them upon target practice.

To Meet Wednesday.—The State Armory Board will meet Wednesday at Scranton.

Kephart Leaves.—Chief Clerk H. M. Kephart, of the Senate, who is candidate for State Treasurer, left yesterday for his home in Connellsville. He appears to be very confident.

Home From Washington.—Adjutant General Thomas Stewart has returned from Washington where he conferred with War department officials.

A MEETING WITH CARRANZA

"It was so dark within that at first we could see nothing. Over the two windows, blinds were drawn. On one side was a bed, still unmade, and on the other a small table covered with papers, upon which stood a tray containing the remains of breakfast. A tin bucket full of ice with two or three bottles of wine stood in a corner. As our eyes became accustomed to the light, we saw the gigantic, khaki-clad figure of Don Venustiano Carranza sitting in a big chair. There was something strange in the way he sat there, with his hands on the arms of the chair, as if he had been placed in it and told not to move. He did not seem to be thinking, nor to have been working—you couldn't imagine him at that table. You got the impression of a vast, inert body—a statue.

The rose to meet us—a towering figure, seven feet tall it seemed. I noticed with a kind of shock that in that dark room he wore smoked glasses."—The First Chief of Mexico, National Magazine for April.

JAPS OBJECT TO EXCLUSION BILL

since the California anti-alien land law negotiations went into an indefinite stage three years ago this Spring. Administration officials are not unmindful of anti-Asiatic sentiment in Congress particularly among members from the Pacific coast States and there constant endeavor has been to allay it.

Never Replied to Note

The United States never has replied to Japan's last note on the California land law.

The last that was said on the subject was said by former Secretary Bryan to Ambassador Chinda when the negotiations got into the stage of apparent deadlock, and the ambassador on taking his departure from a conference at Secretary Bryan's office inquired if he were to transmit the last word of the United States to his government.

To that Secretary Bryan replied: "There never can be a last word between friends."

One portion of the bill was understood to draw the resentment of Japanese government is the inclusion, by inference at least, of Japanese in the excluded class with Hindus, although the same paragraphs of the bill excepts from the exclusion such as are covered in "existing agreements."

This phrase refers to the Root-Takahira agreement.

The exclusion provision as it passed the House read:

"Hindus and persons who cannot become citizens of the United States by naturalization, unless otherwise provided for by existing agreements as to passports, or by existing treaties, conventions, or agreements that may hereafter be entered into."

The Senate committee amended the provision to dissociate the mention of "Hindus and persons" and made it read this way:

"Persons who cannot become eligible under existing laws, to become citizens of the United States by naturalization, unless otherwise provided for by existing agreement as to passports, or by existing treaties, conventions, or agreements that may hereafter be entered into; Hindus."

Explain "Hindus and"

The Senate committee, reporting the bill for passage made this explanation of the change:

"The words 'Hindus and' had been inserted undoubtedly because some courts have held that Hindus can become eligible to become citizens by naturalization, so that the said large class of Oriental aliens originally included to be covered by the provisions excluding those who cannot become so eligible might possibly be held not to be included in the law.

"It will be observed that the phrase attached to these provisions to show that they have neither the Japanese nor the Chinese in mind has been proved and made absolutely inclusive."

Two Memorandums

After to-day's cabinet meeting it became known that two memorandums have been presented to the State Department. The first referred to similar representations made a year ago when the immigration bill was pending and the second brought up some new points.

The question will be taken up by President Wilson with Senate and House leaders and it is expected that an agreement probably will be reached which will avoid difficulty. The question has already been discussed tentatively. Administration leaders say they expect no real difficulty.

RUN-DOWN WOMEN

We Have a Remedy That Will Cost You Nothing If It Does Not Help You

Harrisburg women will please realize that we mean just what we say in the above heading. Letters like the following prove the efficiency of Vinol in such cases:—

"For the benefit of the other tired women, I want to say that I keep house for seven in my family. I became run-down, all played out, I did not seem to have any life in me and looked badly. I read so much about Vinol I decided to try it and I must say it helped me in every way. It built me up so I felt like a new woman, and my friends said they could see a great change in me." Mrs. John M. Waldron, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

We recommend Vinol to our customers as the greatest strength creator we know—due to the extractive medicinal elements of fresh cod livers, without oil, combined with peptonate of iron and beef peptone, all dissolved in a pure medicinal wine.

George A. Gorges, Druggist; Kennedy's Medicine Store, 321 Market street; C. F. Kramer, Third and Broad streets; Kitzmiller's Pharmacy, 1325 Derry street, Harrisburg, Pa.

P. S.—In your own town, wherever you live, there is a Vinol Drug Store. Look for the sign.—Advertisement.
