STREET LIGHTS FOR HIGHSPIRE

Ten Years of Agitation Will Come to Head Tuesday; Plan Is Favored

After ten years of agitation and effort on the part of leading citizens, the borough of Highspire will obtain lighted streets within the next few months. This, at least, is the prediction of a prominent councilman.

A call has been issued for a special meeting of the "borough fathers" next Tuesday evening when the plans for lighting the borough streets with electricity will be considered. It is likely that about forty lamps will be installed at the various street intersections, if the plans are adopted, and that the lamps will be of the same type now used in Steelton.

During the past ten years increasing sentiment favoring lighted streets has caused the borough council to make several attempts to resolve the question. A municipally-owned plant was considered and turned down. Later a plan similar to the one in operation at Royalton, where a distributing station is owned by the borough and current is supplied by the York Haven Power Co., was discussed and finally an offer was made by the Harrisburg Light and Power Company and it is likely that this company, which lights the streets of Steelton, will be given the contract to light Highspire's streets.

"Only the Wicked Shall Suffer"

This is the edict which Mona and Mary, two attractive young women, have set forth in their campaign against unscrupulous and unprincipled men. They have sworn to avenge the wrongs of their sex by completely turning the tables and retaliating in their own way by preying upon the human leeches and society parasites, which neither the judgment of law nor public opinion seems adequate to reach.

When mere man thinks himself so extremely fascinating that he is absolutely irresistible, he had better, prepare for a sudden and most inevitable fall.

"Served them just right" is the unanimous verdict regarding the subjects selected by Mona and Mary in this most unique campaign.

You may not always approve of their methods but you will certainly be satisfied with the results in the campaign these two girls have planned and put into execution.

In a battle of wits a woman will win out nine times out of ten as against the common enemy, perfidious man.

The adventures of these two remarkable girls form the subject of a wonderful series of stories entitled "The Social Pirates." Each week's story is separate and complete in itself. If you miss one you can start in again with the next, but after you have read the first you will not want to miss any. The plots for these stories have been conceived by that most capable of dramatists, George Bronson Howard, and the stories have been novelized by the well known novelist, Hugh C. Weir. The works of the above playwright and author are known to every reader and theater-goer in the United States.

Read this remarkable series of stories, each one complete in itself, which will appear in this paper, and see the big KALEM PHOTOPLAYS of "THE SOCIAL PIRATES" at your FAVORITE MOVING PICTURE THEATER.
