"So I'm To Tell You These Easter Blouses Are Harrisburg's Loveliest! Really!"

THE writer was called to "get some dope" (all ad. men use slang) on new Easter Blouses in a pile that looked as big as a house.

And out of all that bewildering profusion of blouses and colors and frills I was supposed to "do my best."

"Why I can't begin to put these into words." "But you must!" the manager exclaimed. "Just say something that will tell the people how stylish and pretty and new they are!"

—Which I am doing! But if you were only here to see them, you'd appreciate fully their superb beauty and elegance and why I failed to describe them.

You'll want to see them to-morrow, if you're planning to be smartly dressed on Easter.

The new ones are mostly Georgettes and Will o' the Wisp—a new cousin of Georgette.
